Politics Of Trade In Safavid Iran:

The Politics of Trade in Safavid Iran Rudolph P. Matthee, 1999-12-09 Using a wide range of archival and written sources Rudi Matthee considers the economic social and political networks established between Iran its neighbours and the world at large through the prism of the late Safavid silk trade In so doing he demonstrates how silk a resource crucial to state revenue and the only commodity to span Iran s entire economic activity was integral to aspects of late Safavid society including its approach to commerce export routes and importantly to the political and economic problems which contributed to its collapse in the early 1700s In a challenge to traditional scholarship the author argues that despite the introduction of a maritime western dominated channel Iran s traditional land based silk export continued to expand right up to the end of the seventeenth century The book makes a major theoretical contribution to the debates on the social and economic history of the pre modern world

The Indian Diaspora in Central Asia and Its Trade, 1550-1900 Scott Cameron Levi, 2002-01-01 Based on original research in the archives of Uzbekistan this book surveys the early modern commercial relations between India and Central Asia and examines the emergence economic function social organization and decline of an Indian merchant diaspora This diaspora consisted of tens of thousands of Indian merchant moneylenders living in communities dispersed across Central Asia Afghanistan Iran the Caucasus and much of Russia The book illustrates how these diaspora merchants utilized their position as agents of heavily capitalized caste based Indian family firms to finance transregional trade and complex systems of rural credit and industrial production It concludes with an analysis of the Russian colonial administration s policies toward the Indian merchants and explains how these policies brought about the decline of the diaspora in Central Asia

Isfahan and its Palaces Sussan Babaie, 2008-07-14 Winner of the Houshang Pourshariati Iranian Studies Book Award 2009 This beautifully illustrated history of Safavid Isfahan 1501 1722 explores the architectural and urban forms and networks of socio cultural action that reflected a distinctly early modern and Perso Shi i practice of kingship An immense building campaign initiated in 1590 91 at the millennial threshold of the Islamic calendar 1000 A H transformed Isfahan from a provincial medieval and largely Sunni city into an urban centered representation of the first Imami Shi i empire in the history of Islam The historical process of Shi ification of Safavid Iran and the deployment of the arts in situating the shifts in the politico religious agenda of the imperial household informs Sussan Babaie s study of palatial architecture and urban environments of Isfahan and the earlier capitals of Tabriz and Qazvin Babaie argues that since the Safavid claim presumed the inheritance both of the charisma of the Shi i Imams and of the aura of royal splendor integral to ancient Persian notions of kingship a ceremonial regime was gradually devised in which access and proximity to the shah assumed the contours of an institutionalized form of feasting Talar palaces a new typology in Islamic palatial designs and the urban spatial articulation of access and proximity are the architectural anchors of this argument Cast in the comparative light of urban spaces and palace complexes elsewhere and earlier in the Timurid Ottoman and Mughal realms as

The Thousand and One Borders of Iran Fariba Adelkhah, 2015-09-16 A country marked by controversy Iran's social cultural and political dynamics are too often reduced to a few misleading clichés Islamism is widely considered to shape all social relations in Iranian society and while Iranian society is indeed Islamic this term's multiple meanings in everyday life and practices go far beyond the naïve and monolithic idea we are used to The Thousand and One Borders of Iran analyses travel as a social practice exploring how diasporas margins and so called peripheries are central in the construction of a national identity and thus revealing the complexities of Iranian history and society Written by a leading anthropologist it draws upon fieldwork carried out in Iran and Iranian migrant communities across Dubai Tokyo and Los Angeles from 1998 to 2015 While casting new perspectives on the place of transnational relations in an increasingly globalized world this work also sheds new light on the evolution of Iranian society countering the explanation furnished by nationalist ideology that has been reproduced by the Islamic Republic itself Its unique approach to the analysis of Iranian society through the theme of travel and borders considers the links and even the quarrels between the centre of Iranian society and the periphery and the foreign elements that have contributed to society's development Travel is key to these interactions and following the travels of merchants and workers students or the faithful elected officials and experts or exiles and refugees this book offers an anthropological study of travel that re thinks Iranian history and national identity This book would be of interest to students and scholars of Iranian Studies Middle Eastern Studies and Anthropology From the Indian Ocean to the Mediterranean Sebouh David Aslanian, 2011-05-04 Sebouh David Aslanian draws upon an unrivaled body of original documentation collected in seven languages from twenty five archives to reconstruct in great detail the logic and working of a global commercial network He poses a series of fundamental questions concerning the Julfan network and critically assesses both the received literature and the very documentation on which he grounds his revisionist study making this a valuable contribution to comparative economic history Edward Alpers author of East Africa and the Indian Ocean From the Indian Ocean to the Mediterranean is without question an exceptionally interesting well researched and original study The work is the product of lengthy and determined exploratory archival research whose global reach reflects the far flung trading network of Aslanian's subject Compared to previous work on the Julfa Armenians or the trade of the Safavid Empire in general it is on an altogether higher level of theoretical sophistication Edmund Herzig editor of Iran and the World in the Safavid Age Free Trade and Free Ports in the Mediterranean Giulia Delogu, Koen Stapelbroek, Antonio Trampus, 2024-07-12 How did free trade emerge in early modern times How did the Mediterranean as a specific region with its own historical characteristics produce a culture in which the free port appeared What was the relation between the type of free trade created in early modern Italy and the development of global trade and commercial competition between states for hegemony in the eighteenth century And how did the position of the free port originally a Mediterranean invention develop over the course of time The contributions to this volume address these questions and explain the institutional genealogy of the free port Free Trade and Free Ports in the Mediterranean analyses the atypical history and conditions of the Mediterranean region in contradistinction with other regions as an explanation for how and why free ports arose there This volume engages with the diffusion of free ports from a Mediterranean to a global phenomenon whilst staying focused on how this diffusion was experienced in the Mediterranean itself The contributions to this volume bring together the traditional issues of religious openness and tolerance in physically separated areas and the role of consuls and governors via fiscal techniques architectural and administrative aspects with questions about geopolitical balance and primacy The book will be of interest to scholars in a wide range of historical sub disciplines early modern Mediterranean global economic political and institutional just to mention a few and to students wishing to perfect their knowledge of the Mediterranean and its global interconnections and of the origins of free trade

The Merchants of Siberia Erika L. Monahan, 2016-04-01 In The Merchants of Siberia Erika Monahan reconsiders commerce in early modern Russia by reconstructing the trading world of Siberia and the careers of merchants who traded there She follows the histories of three merchant families from various social ranks who conducted trade in Siberia for well over a century These include the Filat evs who were among Russia's most illustrious merchant elite the Shababins Muslim immigrants who mastered local and long distance trade while balancing private endeavors with service to the Russian state and the Noritsyns traders of more modest status who worked sometimes for themselves sometimes for bigger merchants and participated in the emerging Russia China trade Monahan demonstrates that trade was a key component of how the Muscovite state sought to assert its authority in the Siberian periphery The state's recognition of the benefits of commerce meant that Russian state and empire building in Siberia were characterized by accommodation in this diverse borderland instrumentality trumped ideology and the Orthodox state welcomed Central Asian merchants of Islamic faith This reconsideration of Siberian trade invites us to rethink Russia's place in the early modern world The burgeoning market at Lake Yamysh an inner Eurasian trading post along the Irtysh River illuminates a vibrant seventeenth century Eurasian caravan trade even as Europe Asia maritime trade increased By contextualizing merchants and places of Siberian trade in the increasingly connected economies of the early modern period Monahan argues that commercially speaking Russia was not the outlier that most twentieth century characterizations portrayed
