Church Building and Society in the Later Middle Ages Gabriel Byng, 2017-12-14 The construction of a church was undoubtedly one of the most demanding events to take place in the life of a medieval parish It required a huge outlay of time money and labour and often a new organisational structure to oversee design and management Who took control and who provided the financing was deeply shaped by local patterns in wealth authority and institutional development from small villages with little formal government to settlements with highly unequal populations This all took place during a period of great economic and social change as communities managed the impact of the Black Death the end of serfdom and the slump of the mid fifteenth century This original and authoritative study provides an account of how economic change local politics and architecture combined in late medieval England It will be of interest to researchers of medieval socio economic and art history

A Prospering Society John Hare, 2011-09 Based on a case study of a particular countryside and town in southern England namely the county of Wiltshire and the city of Salisbury this record seeks to explore the changing nature of English society during the period from 1380 to 1520 It examines the influence of landscape and population on the agriculture of Wiltshire the regional patterns of arable and pastoral farming and the growing contrast between the large scale mixed farming of the chalklands and the family farms of the claylands Discussing how economic growth generated problems of its own this study is the first to fully investigate Wiltshire s agriculture history during the late Middle Ages a period recognized as one of considerable change

Border Liberties and Loyalties Matthew L. Holford, 2010-03-31 This book examines the organisation of power and society in north east England over two crucial centuries in the emergence of the English state England is usually regarded as medieval Europe's most centralised kingdom yet the North East was dominated by liberties largely self governing jurisdictions that greatly restricted the English crown's direct authority in the region These local polities receive here their first comprehensive discussion and their histories are crucial for understanding questions of state formation in frontier zones regional distinctiveness and local and national loyalties The analysis focuses on liberties as both governmental entities and sources of socio political and cultural identification It also connects the development of liberties and their communities with a rich variety of forces including the influence of the kings of Scots as lords of Tynedale and the impact of protracted Anglo Scottish warfare from 1296 Why did liberties enjoy such long term relevance as governance structures How far and why did the English monarchy respect their autonomous rights and status By what means and how successfully were liberty identities created sharpened and sustained In addressing such issues this ground breaking study extends beyond regional history to make significant contributions to the ongoing mainstream debates about state society identity and community

The Medieval Clothier John S. Lee, 2018 A clear and accessibly written guide to the medieval cloth making trade in England Cloth making became England's leading industry in the late Middle Ages clothiers co ordinated its different stages in some cases carrying out the processes themselves and found markets for their finished cloth selling to merchants drapers and other traders While many clothiers were of only modest status or jacks of all trades a handful of individuals amassed huge fortunes through the trade becoming the multi millionaires of their day This book offers the first recent survey of this hugely important and significant trade and its practitioners examining the whole range of clothiers across different areas of England and exploring their impact within the industry and in their wider communities Alongside the mechanics of the trade it considers clothiers as entrepreneurs and early capitalists employing workers and even establishing early factories it also looks at their family backgrounds and their roles as patrons of church rebuilding and charitable activities It is completed with extracts from clothiers wills and a gazetteer of places to visit making the book invaluable to academics students and local historians alike

Fighting Essex Soldier Christopher Thornton, Jennifer Ward, Neil Wiffen, 2017-06-01 The wars of the fourteenth century English kings with France and Scotland resulted in a dramatic increase in the number of men involved in warfare on land and sea This book draws upon new research to identify and analyze these soldiers at all social levels in the specific context of the county of Essex New approaches to the history of the later Middle Ages allow important evidence of military service to be correlated with the rich documentary material stemming from landholding taxation administration and other aspects of economic and social life Significant comparisons can then be made increased demands for taxation and for shipping from maritime communities for example cast light on the impact of war upon the Home Front The uprising of 1381 is considered as the consequence of the intensive militarization of the south and southeast coast of England and the consequent cost to taxpayers In a series of related chapters which add up to a wide reaching survey leading researchers explore key aspects of military social and economic history in fourteenth century Essex From the raising of forces to serve the king through a study of aristocratic lawlessness which may have been linked to violent experiences on the battlefield to new ways of analysing data to give insights into men recruited as archers and mariners and a consideration of military aspects of the Peasants Revolt this is a rewarding examination of medieval fighting men which affords much new insight into Essex history

Medieval Single Women Cordelia Beattie,2007-09-13 The single woman is a troubling and disruptive category Does it denote all unmarried women therefore creating a group which every female was part of at some stage in her life Or were the categories maiden and widow so culturally significant in late medieval England that single woman was a residual category for women seen as anomalous Was the category single man used in an equivalent way and if not why This study offers a way into the complex process of social classification in late medieval England All societies use classifications in order to understand and impose order In this book Cordelia Beattie views classification as a political act an act of power those classifying must make choices about which divisions are most important or about who falls into which category and such choices have repercussions Defining how a group or an individual should be labelled means variables such as social status gender or age are prioritized Rather than isolate gender as a variable this book examines how it relates to other social cleavages Using a variety of approaches from social and cultural history to gender history and medieval studies its original methodology offers an innovative approach to a range of historical texts from pastoral manuals to tax returns and guild registers

Charters and Customals of Shaftesbury Abbey, 1089-1216 N. E. Stacy,2006-05-11 This is a critical edition of six twelfth century surveys of the vast estates of Glastonbury Abbey five of which are printed for the first time They deal with both the monastic household and the Abbot s lordship as tenant in chief They throw much light on the changing methods by which he exploited the resources of his demesne manors and provide evidence of how the services and holdings of the peasantry were affected by a rising population The introduction explains the contemporary context of surveys documents which are of fundamental importance for the economic social and monastic history of twelfth century England
