Pollution Control in a Developing Economy S. B. Akuffo, 1989      Pollution Control in a Developing Economy S. B. Akuffo, 1998 This second revised edition includes new and updated data and information adding weight to the discussions in the first edition while retaining its structure Solutions to perennial flooding problems in Curitiba a Brazilian city and the effect of ground water extraction in the United Kingdom are two new examples cited to show how similar problems in Ghana could be tackled The author experienced in pollution control in Ghana draws out the critical issues requiring consideration and action by governments in developing countries He discusses pollution problems which arise out of normal domestic industrial and agricultural activities associated with everyday living in a developing country Specifically he deals with air and water pollution control and the administration of toxic chemicals      The Economy of Ghana Mozammel Huq, Michael Tribe, 2018-09-12 The book follows a first edition published in 1989 which focused on the severe economic crisis Ghana faced during the late 1970s and the early 1980s In this second edition the authors extend the review up to the mid 2010s covering the entire period since independence with a special focus on shifts in economic policy starting with the adoption of the Economic Recovery Programme in 1983 Huq and Tribe provide systematic coverage of Ghanaian economic development since its independence reviewing the two main modes of development that have been practiced and offer an updated rich data bank By analyzing the wider macroeconomy of Ghana its individual sectors money banking and trade infrastructure and environmental policies and Ghana's poverty welfare and income distribution the authors are able to draw vital lessons from the country's economic development      The Economics of Water and Waste in Three African Capitals Richard C. Porter, Louis Boakye-Yiadom Jr, Albert Mafusire, B. Oupa Tsheko, 2019-05-23 First published in 1997 this volume examines the urban environments of Accra Ghana Harare Zimbabwe and Gaborone Botswana Each was effectively the capital city of a former British colony and hence inherited a concern for public health Each has made a serious and largely successful effort to provide the public goods necessary for the well being of their urban population Each is well above the average for all of Sub Saharan Africa SSA in these respects However the GDP per capita varies significantly between these three countries Differences in standard of living are similarly evident The authors focus intensively on public policies that determine who gets what how they get it and what price they pay      Irrigated Urban Vegetable Production in Ghana: Characteristics, Benefits and Risk Mitigation Pay Drechsel, Bernard Keraita, 2014-09-17      Environmental Infrastructure Management J.J. Boland, M.E. Bell, Eugene Z. Stakhiv, 2013-06-29 Environmental issues continue to burden governments and economies throughout the post communist countries of Central and Eastern Europe and the newly independent states of the former Soviet Union Severe environmental degradation is endemic to the region the existing environmental infrastructure is often inadequate significant new investment is perhaps decades away and there is little knowledge of advanced techniques for impact assessment project evaluation and project financing The first two papers of Environmental Infrastructure

Management survey available cost effective technology for solid waste treatment and air pollution control providing guidance for possible incremental additions to existing infrastructure There is also a discussion of transferable pollution credits as an instrument in regulating air quality The discussion of economic incentives also embraces user fees and other pollution control instruments A range of methods is presented for the evaluation and comparison of alternative projects where data are poor or scarce Canadian experience with specific capital budgeting techniques is given comprehensive attention Debt financing strategies are addressed in the context of present day Ukraine Finally an outline is given of a general framework for making decisions about environmental projects including the use of environmental impact assessments

Waste Composting for Urban and Peri-urban Agriculture Pay Drechsel, Dagmar Kunze, 2001 Rapid urbanization has created a major challenge with regard to waste management and environmental protection However the problem can be ameliorated by turning organic waste into compost for use as an agricultural fertilizer in peri urban areas This is especially significant in less developed countries where food security is also a key issue This book addresses these subjects and is based on papers presented at a workshop held in Ghana by the International Board for Soil Research and Management IBSRAM now part of the International Water Management Institute and FAO Special reference is given to Sub Saharan Africa with acknowledgement to experiences from other parts of the world Contributing authors are from several European as well as African countries
