Pollution Control In East Asia Lebons From Newly Industrializing Economies:

Pollution Control in East Asia Michael T. Rock, 2010-09-30 Why do some economies seem to excel at effective pollution management while others miss the mark when responding to deteriorating urban environments These studies of pollution management in East Asia s newly industrialized economies NIEs include successful government responses in Singapore and Taiwan qualified results in China and Indonesia and much more limited success in Thailand and Malaysia In each example Michael Rock considers the starting point of the economy as it began its path toward industrialization in the post World War II period He discusses the relevant historical and political context the pressures placed on the political system from domestic and international sources and the influence of ongoing trends in East Asia for democratization and economic liberalization Rock s text makes it clear that each economy found unique innovative ways to link environmental protection to its own political and economic institutions Thus while public pressure from both home and abroad gave strong impetus to successful programs in Taiwan the development of policy in Singapore involved limited public review and a centralized government led process The result of Rock s scholarship is a book that provides important lessons without being reductionist The book offers insights to apply to pollution management in a diverse range of developing nations but avoids attempts for precise prescriptions or universally appealing normative answers A copublication of Resources for the Future and the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies ISEAS Yearbook of International Organizations, 1988-89 Union of International Associations Staff, 1988-07 Book Review Index Dana Ferguson, 2001 Industrial Pollution and Non-governmental Organizations in the Newly Industrializing Countries of Asia Gordon Taylor Smith, 1997 Asia's Clean Revolution David Angel, Michal Rock, 2017-09-20 The world s environmental future will be determined in significant part by what happens in the rapidly industrialising and urban economies of Asia The sheer scale of urban population and industrial growth in Asia from Indonesia to China and the energy and materials intensive character of the development process constitutes a dark shadow over the region s and indeed the world s environment And yet this challenge is also an opportunity Precisely because so much of the urban industrial investment within developing Asia has yet to take place the opportunity exists to shape a different development future one that is far less energy materials and waste intensive Asia s Clean Revolution examines the prospects for and pathways to such a new trajectory The book lays out a path breaking vision of how developing economies might go beyond environmental regulation and put in place an array of policies and institutions that could integrate environmental industrial and technological goals These findings provide important input for negotiators considering climate change on a global scale The book approaches the challenge of growth and environment in Asia in a novel way by identifying six major transformational dynamics under way in the world today and assessing whether these can be harnessed to the goal of improved environmental performance of industry With a set of specially commissioned chapters from the leading authorities in North America and Asia this ground breaking book is the first to present concrete policy solutions to the looming crisis driven by large scale urban industrial growth in developing Asia Development of Environmental Policy in Japan and Asian Countries T. Terao,K. Otsuka,2016-01-13 By examining the issues of environmental policy formation and implementation linked to economic development and reviewing the Japanese experiences and the examples of other Asian countries this book reveals factors of dynamism between environmental policy and social change in a domestic regional and global context

Leapfrogging Development in Emerging Asia Peter Ho,2008 This book examines the opportunities and constraints of environmental leapfrogging in Asia by zooming in on several country cases China Vietnam Singapore and Taiwan The world has witnessed the profound transformation of China Vietnam Taiwan and Singapore from impoverished developing regions into strong and internationally competitive economies However it has become obvious that their rapid development has come at a price Contrary to their economic successes these Asian economies have been much less successful in terms of ecological sustainability and environmental protection Mega cities such as Shanghai Beijing and Ho Chi Minh City suffer from increased air pollution traffic congestion and a boom in the generation of solid waste The rapid industrialisation poses a dual challenge to the state Doing it right the first time by installing clean technologies developing the institutional capacity and the appropriate governance style to enforce environmental regulations could lead to leapfrogging the development process and building industrial economies that are both competitive and more sustainable than economies with an older industrial base

Greening Industrialization in Asian Transitional Economies A. P. J. Mol,Joost C. L. van Buuren,2003-01-01 Studying transition economies is one of the most challenging tasks faced by those who wish to understand the political social and economic changes that the world has undergone since the end of the Cold War Greening Industrialization in Asian Transitional Economies is a collection of essays which examine environmental performance and the transition to market economies particularly in China and Vietnam A comprehensive assessment of the state of industrial environmental management this informative volume looks at the movement for cleaner production from many perspectives analyzing its historical roots its political influences its implementation and its economic and technological feasibility Readers of these excellent essays will be left with an in depth understanding of both the necessity for environmental improvements in rapidly industrializing economies and the difficulties and challenges which this goal entails An ambitious and important project Greening Industrialization in Asian Transitional Economies provides a wide ranging analysis of a vital topic The Economics of Pollution Control in the Asia Pacific Robert O. Mendelsohn,Daigee Shaw,1996-12-05 A number of experts apply economics to the analysis of pollution control in the rapidly industrialising nations of Asia Pacific and conclude that Western criteria have to be modified if used to facilitate such analysis Environmental Technology and Trade Valérie Chambers,1999 The dissertation analyzes and merges two fundamental goals of developing countries and more specifically of Asian Newly Industrializing Economies to wit the pursuit of sustainable development and competitiveness in the international economy East Asian Experience in Environmental Governance: Response in a Rapidly Developing Region Zafar

Adeel,2003 This publication examines the existing systems for environmental governance in East Asian countries a region which has seen considerable growth in its economy industrial base and population in the last two decades It contains cases studies from China Japan Korea Malaysia and Thailand and focuses on three sectors pesticide management water quality and resources management and air pollution management This selection is intended to provide a diverse mix of political and historical backgrounds in order to give a representative view of governance mechanisms in highly industrialised industrialising and developing economies Informal Regulation of Industrial Pollution in Developing Countries Sheoli Pargal,David Wheeler,1995 Environment Pollution Control ,2010 Environmental Cooperation in Northeast Asia Esook Yoon,2001 Environmental Politics in East Asia Mary Alice Haddad,2023-12-21 Once viewed as an environmental hazard to the planet East Asia is now at the forefront of pro environmental policymaking The region s progress has been both remarkable and surprising given the pro business orientation of its political systems and their ideological diversity Through a focus on three environmental policy areas exhibiting different levels of success this Element shows how governments in China Japan South Korea and Taiwan have been able to craft pro environmental policy by working in collaboration with business and societal interests The evolution of the region s eco developmental states has resulted in exceptional progress in the areas of green technology and green finance mixed outcomes in pollution management and negligible improvement in addressing environmental justice As the planet seeks guidance in addressing our collective climate crisis East Asia offers both hope and caution for how we can craft pro environmental policies in diverse political contexts Informal Regulation of Industrial Pollution in Developing Countries David Wheeler,2016 The pollution intensity o The Economics of Industrial Pollution Control David Wheeler,1992 Industrial Environmental Management in Asia-Pacific ,1994 Special Issue: Impacts of Air Pollution on Regional Economies in East Asia Kyung-Min Nam,Heeyeun Yoon,2019 Regional programme for pollution control in the tanning industry in south-east Asia Anton Gantar,Danijel Vrhovšek,Maja Zupančič Justin,1999
