1861 William Lee Braden rode off to join his brother Jacob in Harrisburg to fight not for the Confederacy but rather to defend the state of Texas from invasion and occupation Braden left behind him his wife Martha Jane Pierce Braden and his six year old son Pierce Jonathan Braden Certainly one of the things Wil Braden as well as the others from Jack County who had joined the army had overlooked was that the warlike Kiowas and Comanches would seize the opportunity to wage a series of raids against the undefended ranches and farms they had left behind Unlike many of the men who went off to war Wil would return to Texas four years later with scars he tried to keep hidden and no desire to talk about his war experience Black Fox
