Redesigning The Work Of Human Services:

Redesigning the Work of Human Services John O'Looney, 1996 Redesigning the Work of Human Services explores alternative organizational designs for the delivery of human services designs that emphasize collaborative governance and partnerships among public and private agencies local control and responsibility for results and the use of innovative information planning and community capacity building technologies This book redefines the debate about whether human services should be privatized or not The author suggests that the basic task of human services to enable families to socialize the young is one that can neither be fulfilled effectively by the state nor by private agencies Rather carefully crafted public private partnerships when combined with new accountability mechanisms and the sophisticated use of emerging information technologies are likely to offer more in the way of effective efficient and appropriate human services Because this work is solidly grounded in the literature on both human and business services the author's suggestions for major redesign are comprehensive and intelligently qualified Redesigning the Work of Human Services John O'Looney, Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies Appropriations for 1996 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies, 1995 Organizational Change for the Human Services Thomas Packard, Thomas Roy Packard, 2021 Organizational Change for the Human Services is designed for managers and other leaders in human service organizations HSOs and students in graduate programs in social work nonprofit management public administration and human resource management It covers evidence based principles for planning and implementing organizational change initiatives in areas such as implementing evidence based practices new or improved information systems diversity equity and inclusion initiatives and organizational restructuring Details are provided on many change methods from team building employee surveys use of consultants intrapreneurship and continuous quality improvement to change processes specifically for HSOs such as capacity building implementation science staff initiated organizational change and cutback management

Redesigning the Process for Establishing the Dietary Guidelines for Americans National Academies of Sciences,

Engineering, and Medicine, Health and Medicine Division, Food and Nutrition Board, Committee to Review the Process to Update the Dietary Guidelines for Americans, 2017-12-16 What foods should Americans eat to promote their health and in what amounts What is the scientific evidence that supports specific recommendations for dietary intake to reduce the risk of multifactorial chronic disease These questions are critically important because dietary intake has been recognized to have a role as a key determinant of health As the primary federal source of consistent evidence based information on dietary practices for optimal nutrition the Dietary Guidelines for Americans DGA have the promise to empower Americans to make informed decisions about what and how much they eat to improve health and reduce the risk of chronic disease The adoption and widespread translation of the DGA requires that they be universally viewed as valid evidence based and free of bias and conflicts of interest to the extent possible However this has not routinely been the case A first short report meant to inform the 2020 review cycle explored how the advisory committee selection process can be improved to provide more transparency eliminate bias and include committee members with a range of viewpoints This second and final report recommends changes to the DGA process to reduce and manage sources of bias and conflicts of interest improve timely opportunities for engagement by all interested parties enhance transparency and strengthen the science base of the process

Redesigning Work Lynda Gratton, 2022-05-03 How do we make the most of the greatest global shift in the world of work for a century and radically redesign the way we work forever Professor Lynda Gratton is the global thought leader on the future of work Drawing on thirty years of research into the technological demographic cultural and societal trends that are shaping work and building on what we learned through our experiences of the pandemic Gratton presents her innovative four step framework for redesigning work that will help you Understand your people and what drives performance Reimagine creative new ways to work Model and test these approaches within your organization Act and create to ensure your redesign has lasting benefits Gratton presents real world case studies that show companies grappling with work challenges These include the global bank HSBC which built a multidisciplinary team to understand the employee experience the Japanese technology company Fujitsu which reimaged three kinds of perfect offices and the Australian telecommunications company Telstra which established new roles to coordinate work across the organization Whether you re working in a small team or running a multinational Redesigning Work is the definitive book on how to transform your organization and make hybrid working work for you

Redesigning the US Mental Health Care System Sydney S. Harris, Stephen M. Strakowski, 2024 What is commonly referred to in the U S as the mental health care system is not really a system at all While excellent programs exist in every state in every community across America the system is actually a set of fragmented services provided inequitably by a haphazard array of specialty providers often with inadequate resources and only tenuously connected to health care systems for other health needs Crisis is too often the first point of contact for people experiencing a mental illness while year over year increases in rates of anxiety depression traumatic stress and death from suicide and overdose have led many to characterize the current situation as a pandemic or epidemic of mental illness constituting a national emergency For youth and young adults in late 2021 this emergency was formally recognized by the U S Surgeon General in the first Advisory ever issued regarding the nation s mental health Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies Appropriations for 2005 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies,2004 Achieving Excellence in the Management of Human Service Organizations Peter M. Kettner,2002 This book attempts to create an integrated model for management and administrative practice in the management of human service organizations The book presents a theoretical foundation for human services management and identifies the major roles and responsibilities of the manager administrator To date management books have identified problems in organizational functioning and described how systems should work This book goes beyond description First it identifies themes that serve as guidelines to insure internal consistency within the organization Then it proposes what managers need to do to put their organizations back on track toward excellence The overall emphasis is on how to get employees to perform at their optimum levels to insure organizational efficiency effectiveness quality and productivity For people in Human Services Management and Social Work Administration Management The Future of Human Service Organizational & Management Research Bowen McBeath,Karen Hopkins,2020-09-10 This book provides panoramic overviews of critical human service organizational and management practice challenges as well as new and needed research frontiers The Future of Human Service Organizational and the rise and uncertain effects of new developments in social work public policy and public management and other helping professions The contributors identify how future generations of macro practitioners and scholar researchers can Improve service delivery and program effectiveness Implement evidence based practices and evidence informed practices Promote leadership and social innovation Build linkages across micro meso and macro levels of practice Train organizational leaders and educate practitioners and Advocate for more socially just visions of social welfare and society This edited collection argues that human service organizational and management practice and research are needed to support new discoveries in social welfare social work and related professions This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Human Service Organizations Management Leadership Governance Redesigning Professional Education Doctorates Valerie A. Subcommittee on the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies,1987 Building Cultures and Climates for Effective Human Services Anthony L. Hemmelgarn,Charles

Glisson,2018-07-13 It is widely acknowledged that many healthcare behavioral health and social service organizations provide less than optimal services and that the challenge of improving services depends on successfully changing organizational culture and climate However there are almost no organizational level strategies that have been tested with randomized controlled trials Building Cultures and Climates for Effective Human Services addresses the need for evidence based organizational strategies for improving human service quality and outcomes by uniquely describing the authors own case examples nationwide studies and randomized controlled trials to explain how organizational culture and climate can be assessed and changed The two authors use their decades of research and practice experience in assessing and changing human service organizations to explain how organizations can improve the services they provide using the authors ARC model which effectively removes service barriers and supports the implementation of evidence based practices and other innovations The book also blends case examples with research from nationwide studies regional experiments and randomized controlled trials to explain the ARC model of organizational effectiveness and how it works to improve services It provides a balance between theory empirical research and actual case examples to help researchers organizational consultants administrators and service providers gain a practical understanding of how culture and climate affect services and how they can be improved Furthermore the text describes the three ARC strategies each composed of multiple elements to 1 embed key organizational principles 2 implement core organizational component tools and 3 apply mental models to alter shared reasoning and beliefs that affect success No other organizational level strategies for improving services have been so well documented and tested Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies
