Maria Mälksoo,2009-10-26 This book weaves together perspectives drawn from critical international relations anthropology and social theory in order to understand the Polish and Baltic post Cold War politics of becoming European Approaching the study of Europe s eastern enlargement through a post colonial critique author Maria Mälksoo makes a convincing case for a rethinking of European identity Drawing on the theorist Edward Said she contends that studies of the European Union are marked by a prevailing Orientalism rarely asking who has traditionally been able to define European identity and whether this identity should be presented as an historical process rather than a static category The central argument of this book is that the historical experience of being framed as simultaneously in Europe and yet not quite in Europe informs the current self understandings and security imaginaries of Poland and the Baltic States Exploring this existential condition of liminal

Europeaness among foreign and security policy making elites the book considers its effects on key security policy issues including relations with Western Europe Russia and the United States Supported by solid empirical analyses this book provides an innovative and interdisciplinary approach to the post Cold War predicament of Poland and the Baltic States It will be of interest to students and scholars of International Relations European Studies Social and Political Theory and Anthropology

Rethinking Civilizational Analysis Said Amir Arjomand, Edward A Tiryakian, 2004-06-09 At last a volume on civilization that truly reflects the complexity of multiple civilizations The wealth of contributions Arjomand and Tiryakian have assembled demonstrates the value of an old concept for understanding the awful dilemmas confronting human kind in the global age Its thoroughgoing renewal here establishes this book as the essential benchmark for future scholars of civilization Martin Albrow Founding Editor of International Sociology and author of The Global Age winner of the European Amalfi Prize 1997 In our tension filled world many are heralding and others fearing a clash of civilizations The contributors to this volume provides a healthy and persuasive argument about why this clash need not and certainly should not take place They do so moreover not by rejecting the concept of civilization but by developing a less primordial homogenous and essentialist concept of it An important collection that provides illumination in this sometimes frighteningly dark time Jeffrey Alexander Professor and Chair of Sociology at Yale University The concept of civilization may well replace the notions of globalization and identity as the core component in the vocabulary of 21st century sociology The authors contribute a great deal to the clarification of fashionable controversies around the clash of civilizations and multiculturalism They go a long way toward purging the concept of civilization of its ideological overtones and they succeed admirably in turning it into powerful analytic tool of an emerging field of macrosociology known already as civilizational analysis Piotr Szotompa President International Sociological Association Although the concept of civilization has deep roots in the social sciences there is an urgent need to re think it for contemporary times This book points to an exhaustion in using the nation state and world system as the basic macro units of social analysis because they do not get to grips with the soft power variable of cultural factors involved in global aspects of development Also globalization requires us to reconsider the link between civilization and a fixed or given territory This book focuses upon the dynamic aspect of civilizations Among the topics covered are Civilizational analysis and social theory Global civilization and local cultures Civilizational forms Rationalization and Civilization Civilizations as zones of prestige Historical and comparative dimensions of civilization The clash of civilizations
