H. van Rhee, 2005 European co operation has resulted in many new and challenging opportunities for legal scholars who since the so called codification period have become used to operating in a purely national context This applies also to scholars in the field of civil procedure who for a considerable period of time have resisted leaving the purely national domain These scholars have devoted a great deal of attention to the question whether or not harmonisation of civil procedural law is a feasible option and if so in what manner harmonisation should be achieved The contributors to this book seek to further the harmonisation debate by exploring some of the main trends in the development of civil procedural law during the last two centuries in several European countries Germany Austria Switzerland France England and Wales The Netherlands and Belgium Two of the central issues that are addressed by the contributors are the extent to which the various procedural models have influenced each other and the extent to which common traditions in civil procedural law may be distinguished in Europe Each general chapter in this book is supplemented by three chapters devoted to specific procedural topics Conciliation Party Interrogation as Evidence and the Role of the Judge In addition extensive bibliographical references are included      Access to Justice J. pertaining to conduct of the action itself such as becoming a class member notice requirements settlement judgments and costs and fees The book is written to have practical utility for a wide range of legal practitioners and professionals such as academics and students of comparative civil procedure and multi party litigation litigation lawyers who may use the reference materials cited to the benefit of their own class action clients and those charged with law reform who look to adopt the most workable and avoid the unworkable features in class action models elsewhere Justice In The 21st Century Russell Fox,2012-10-02 Hon Russell Fox argues that the existing common law procedural system is not equal to the demands of the coming century Beginning with a thoroughly researched analysis of the large scale dissatisfaction with and disaffection from the present day courts this book proposes means for approaching Justice in the Twenty First Century This book is essential reading for all lawyers judges politicians and citizens interested in the question of remedying the significant problems plaguing the current system for the provision of justice in Australia England and the United States Foreword provided by the Rt Hon Lord Irvine of Lairg the Lord Chancellor of Great Britain Rendre Et Gérer la Justice Au 21e Siècle Marco Fabri,P. English Civil Justice after the Woolf and Jackson Reforms John Sorabji, 2014-06-26 John Sorabji examines the theoretical underpinnings of the Woolf and Jackson reforms to the English and Welsh civil justice system. He discusses how the Woolf reforms attempted and failed to effect a revolutionary change to the theory of justice that informed how the system operated. It elucidates the nature of those reforms which through introducing proportionality via an explicit overriding objective into the Civil Procedure Rules downgraded the court's historic commitment to achieving substantive justice or justice on the merits. In doing so, Woolf's new theory is compared with one developed by Bentham while also exploring why a similarly fundamental reform carried out in the 1870s succeeded where Woolf's failed. It finally proposes an approach that could be taken by the courts following implementation of the Jackson reforms to ensure that they succeed in their aim of reducing litigation cost through properly implementing Woolf's new theory of justice.

Restorative Justice & Responsive Regulation John Braithwaite, 2002 Braithwaite's argument against punitive justice systems and for restorative justice systems establishes that there are good theoretical and empirical grounds for anticipating that well designed restorative justice processes will restore victims, offenders and communities better than existing criminal justice practices. Counterintuitively, he also shows that a restorative justice system may deter, incapacitate and rehabilitate more effectively than a punitive system. This is particularly true when the restorative justice system is embedded in a responsive regulatory framework that opts for deterrence only after restoration repeatedly fails and incapacitation only after escalated deterrence fails. Braithwaite's empirical research demonstrates that active deterrence under the dynamic regulatory pyramid that is a hallmark of the restorative justice system he supports is far more effective than the passive deterrence that is notable in the stricter sentencing grid of current criminal justice systems.

Mediation Law and Civil Practice Tony Allen, 2019-01-18 Mediation Law and Civil Practice examines the position of mediation within the civil justice system in England and Wales. It explains and challenges current thinking about mediation, identifying ways for the government and judiciary to improve the delivery of justice through greater trust in the process. It traces the evolution of the relationship between the courts and mediation, discussing all the significant judgments relating to mediation over the last 25 years as well as exploring the key concepts at the heart of mediation and all the latest developments. Mediation Law and Civil Practice also challenges the status quo by casting doubt on some decisions and generates alternative thinking around current legal and practice concepts. As well as updating all case law, the second edition also discusses the attitudes generated by the Jackson Review and also the Briggs reforms proposed in the Chancery Modernisation Review and his Court Structure Review. It discusses AB v CD in which a mediator has now given evidence in an English court and Global and related cases on varying whole agreement clauses, enlarges the discussion of protocols which have been modified and remain inconsistent in their treatment of ADR, analyses the EU Consumer Directive, sets out the reforms to CPR Part 36, Mediators, mediation providers,
