The Christian remembrancer; or, The Churchman's Biblical, ecclesiastical & literary miscellany, 1830

The Reforming Treatises of Martin Luther Martin Luther, 2018-04-02. Address to the Christian Nobility of the German Nation is the first of the three tracts written by Martin Luther in 1520. In this work, he defined for the first time the signature doctrines of the priesthood of all believers and the two kingdoms. After the church made a strong attempt at drawing distinct lines on saying who had authority in the spiritual sphere and its matters, this division of Christians into spheres motivated Luther to write on the three walls the Romanists created to protect themselves from reform. Prelude on the Babylonian Captivity of the Church is a theological treatise, the second of the three major tracts from 1520. In this work, Luther examines the seven sacraments of the Catholic Church in the light of his interpretation of the Bible. With regard to the Eucharist, he advocates restoring the cup to the laity, dismisses the Catholic doctrine of Transubstantiation, but affirms the real presence of the body and blood of Christ in the Eucharist and rejects the teaching that the Mass is a sacrifice offered to God. A Treatise on Christian Liberty is the third of Luther's major reforming treatises of 1520. It developed the concept that as fully forgiven children of God, Christians are no longer compelled to keep God's law; however, they freely and willingly serve God and their neighbors. Luther also further develops the concept of justification by faith. In the treatise, Luther stated: A Christian is a perfectly free lord of all, subject to none. A Christian is a perfectly dutiful servant of all, subject to all.

Perpetually Reforming: A Theology of Church Reform and Renewal John P. Bradbury, 2013-07-18. One of the slogans of the reformation was ecclesia reformata semper reformanda; the reformed church always reforming. Churches throughout the western world are currently engaged in reform and renewal programmes through internal structural reforms as well as movements such as emerging church. This book presents a challenging theology of church reform and renewal that offers a contemporary understanding of this historic slogan. Taking an interdisciplinary approach, Bradbury discerns processes and practices which are perpetually reforming and renewing the identity of the church. It examines doctrinal and confessional conceptions of the church, re-examines texts concerned with covenantal renewal, and explores Jewish-Christian dialogue as an example of renewal. A constructive theology is offered utilizing the categories of collective memory and mimetic practice. This upholds fundamental Christian identity whilst driving the process of reform and renewal under God in the context of a three-way relationship between God, the church, and the world.
