Hunt,2010-01-20 The history of American education is replete with educational reform and to a lesser extent educational dissent Consider the present you have various forms of privatization school choice the No Child Left Behind act home schooling value added accountability alternative teacher preparation programs on line instruction etc This range of activity is not exceptional For instance consider the past progressive education open education the junior high school the middle school Life Adjustment education career education vocational education the comprehensive high school school to work year round schooling behavioral objectives proficiency exams high stakes testing whole language learning packages and self paced instruction modular scheduling site based management all presented as the way to reform American schools at least in part Then you have the reformers themselves such as John Dewey George Counts Herbert Kohl John Holt Charles Silberman Admiral Hyman Rickover James Bryant Conant all the way back to Horace Mann himself Dissenters and dissenting movements while not as numerous and certainly not as well known in educational circles count the various faith based schools and individuals such as Archbishop Hughes of New York Clearly this is an area rich in ideas rife with controversy and vital in its outcome for individuals and the nation as a whole And yet strangely enough there exists no major encyclopedia bringing the varied strands together in one place as a ready reference for scholars teachers school administrators and students studying to enter the educational profession This two volume work is intended to be that authoritative resource Key themes and topics include biographies of reformers and dissenters theoretical and ideological perspectives key programs and legislation judicial verdicts impacting educational change in America the politics and processes of educational reform and policy making dissent and resistance to reform technology s impact on educational reform A Reader s Guide in the front matter groups entries around such themes to help readers find related entries more easily Social Education in Asia David L. Grossman,Joe Tin-Yau Lo,2007-10-01 This book aims to fill this gap in the scholarship on social education by drawing on the research findings and or experiences from scholars in eight East and Southeast Asian societies In this regard the editors of this book hope that it will be a significant addition to the literature and will shed light on how the social education curricula are constructed and implemented across these societies in response to both internal and external forces At the same time this book is not a comprehensive survey of social education in the region Rather it is a selective set of case studies examining contested and compelling issues in the debates about social education in eight diverse societies in East and Southeast Asia The book will be intellectually stimulating and inspiring not only to the social educators and comparativists who can see more about social science education from non western perspectives but also to curriculum developers policy makers social educators and front line teachers who can enrich their professional experiences through learning from other countries regions

Apple, 2016-04-20 As Asian education systems increasingly take on a stronger presence on the global educational landscape of special interest is an understanding of the ways in which many of these states direct their schools towards higher achievement What is missing however are accounts that take seriously the particular construction of the strong developmental state witnessed across many Asian societies and that seek to understand the politics and possibilities of curriculum change vis a vis precisely the dominance of such a state By engaging in analyses based on some of the best current social and cultural theories and by illuminating the interactions among various state and non state pedagogic agents the chapters in this volume account for the complex post colonial historical and cultural consciousnesses that many Asian states and societies experience At a time when much of the educational politics in Asia remains in a state of transition and as many of these states seek out through the curriculum new forms of social control and novel bases of political legitimacy such a volume offers enduring insights into the real if not also always relative autonomy that schools and communities maintain in countering the hegemonic presence of strong states
