The Creation of a Professional Learning Community for School Leaders

Amalia Humada- Ludeke,2013-09-03 The unwavering culture of continuous improvement efforts to bring about school change has irrevocably changed the role expectations for the school leader The school leader in the 21st century is increasingly perceived as an instructional leader expected to implement whole school reform models that can shape teacher practice and influence student outcomes The significant changes in role expectations for school leaders present considerable challenges to an educational system that was not designed to incorporate these conceptualizations In light of the increased acceptance of changed leadership expectations the elements that are needed for developing supporting and sustaining instructional leaders who can lead systemic change efforts are frequently not present are fragmented or are observed at various developmental stages throughout the PK 20 pipeline This book is centered on the learning and changed behaviors of school leaders who engaged in a sustained job embedded professional learning community facilitated through a university district partnership The learning from the findings suggested that job embedded learning with their peers can be instrumental for these principals to build the capacity to lead systemic change efforts The findings further suggested that creating conditions for new understanding to occur and sustained opportunities to apply new learning in context to their role entailed a collaborative effort by a partnership involving two separate institutions with different priorities The author makes a case for the educational pipeline to prioritize the support and understanding of complex systemic change efforts and innovations as they are linked to school improvement Positive School Leadership Joseph F. Murphy, Karen Seashore Louis, 2018 This landmark book translates positive and asset based understandings of organizations to develop a powerful model of school leadership that is grounded in both existing research and the complexities of life in schools The authors both senior scholars in educational leadership apply insights from positive psychology to the role and function of educational leaders The Positive School Leadership PSL model draws on the strengths of relationships among staff and the broader school community to communicate and instill shared values and a common mission This book builds a compelling case for creating a more inclusive less mechanistic approach to leadership Designed to engage both the hearts and minds of readers the text is organized around reflective questioning of educational practice and current assumptions about the purposes and goals of leadership in schools This integrated theory of leadership is compelling useable and grounded in research an essential and inspiring read Michelle D Young University Council for Educational Administration Murphy and Louis offer a hopeful vision of leadership for those facing the enormous challenges of school improvement Daniel L Duke University of Virginia Let the renewal of leadership and organizations begin and let it be guided by this fine body of work Alan J Daly University of California San Diego In a world of education reforms that have fallen short of expectations Murphy and Louis make a strong case that positive leadership can create the foundation for sustainable change Philip Hallinger Mahidol University
