River for My Sidewalk Gilean Douglas, 1953 Beyond the City Limits R.W. Sandwell, 1998-12-01 Historians have not usually identified British Columbia as a rural province B C historiography has been dominated by mining logging and fishing and theorized within the context of large scale laissez faire capitalism and economic individualism Silences in the historical record have exacerbated this situation and lent tacit support to the dominance of resource based capitalism as the shaping force in B C history The essays in Beyond the City Limits all published here for the first time decisively break this silence and challenge traditional readings of B C history In this wide ranging collection R W Sandwell draws together a distinguished group of contributors who bring expertise methodologies and theoretical perspectives taken from social and political history environmental studies cultural geography and anthropology They discuss such diverse topics as Aboriginal White settler relations on Vancouver Island pimping and violence in northern BC and the triumph of the coddling moth over Okanagan orchardists to show that a narrow emphasis on resource extraction capitalist labour relations and urban society is simply not broad enough to adequately describe those who populated the province s history By challenging the dominant urban based and overwhelmingly capitalist interpretation of the province s history the provocative essays in Beyond the City Limits expand our understanding of what rural was and what it meant in the history of British Columbia My River Home Marcus Eriksen, 2008-10-01 During the course of the war in Iraq many veterans have become increasingly disillusioned and increasingly vocal Many began seeing the war as damaging for the country and especially for the men and women fighting overseas In My River Home Marcus Eriksen a veteran of the Gulf War charts his personal shift from proud Marine to self destructive veteran to engaged activist protesting the injustices of the Iraq War with Veterans for Peace Eriksen made sense of this transition only after a fascinating adventure traveling through the heart of America down the entire length of the great Mississippi River on a homemade raft Supreme Court Appellate Division 2nd Dept.
