and a finalist for the Orion Book Award Are there any genuinely wild places left in Britain and Ireland That is the question that Robert Macfarlane poses to himself as he embarks on a series of breathtaking journeys through some of the archipelago's most remarkable landscapes He climbs walks and swims by day and spends his nights sleeping on cliff tops and in ancient meadows and wildwoods With elegance and passion he entwines history memory and landscape in a bewitching evocation of wildness and its vital importance

On Roads Joe Moran,2010-12-09 In this history of roads and what they have meant to the people who have driven them one of Britain's favourite cultural historians reveals how a relatively simple road system turned into a maze like pattern of roundabouts flyovers and spaghetti junctions Using a unique blend of travel writing anthropology history and social observation he explores how Britain's roads have their roots in unexpected places from Napoleon's role in the numbering system to the surprising origin of sat nav Full of quirky nuggets of history such as the day trips organised to see the construction of the M1 and the 2.5m Mills and Boons used to build the M6 Toll Road On Roads also celebrates innovators whose work we take for granted such as the designers of the road sign system On subjects ranging from speed limits to driving on the left and the non places where we stop to the unwritten laws of traffic jams these hidden stories have never been told together until now

Environmental External Costs of Transport Peter Bickel,Rainer Friedrich,2013-03-09 Transport is very important for the economy and our welfare However transport also causes a lot of problems including air pollution Such problems should be taken into account when making decisions A prerequisite for doing so is that the impacts are known quantitatively measured and allocated to the different activities in transport Furthermore they should be transformed into monetary units to be used as a basis for cost benefit analyses or as an aid for setting taxes and charges that reflect the external costs This book describes a methodology for calculating impacts of transport activities and external costs caused by air pollution and presents numerous applications of this methodology for different transport technologies locations and policy case studies The approach has been developed and results have been calculated within the research project ExternE Core Transport financed to a large extent by the European Commission Directorate General Research We would like to thank especially Pierre Vallette and Pekka Jarviletho from the EC for their advice and support A considerable number of experts with expertise in the different disciplines of this highly interdisciplinary work contributed to this book The editors would like to thank the authors see list on p XV for their contributions it is especially remarkable that the authors helped to make this book an integrated whole instead of a number of independent contributions
