renowned illustrator Robert Ingpen begins his magical journey through the world of classic children's stories with a mural he worked on for years inspired by the great storybook characters. The original mural is more than 20 feet long but Mr Ingpen knew he had to find a way to turn that work into a book in its own right. This book contains some of his favorite quotations from the stories that inspired him as well as an eye popping fold out centerpiece with a reproduction of the full mural. This book is an eye popping illustrated celebration of the power of imagination. Pictures Telling Stories Sarah Mayor Cox, 2004

Experiencing Environment and Place through Children's Literature Amy Cutter-Mackenzie, Phillip Payne, Alan Reid, 2014-06-11

Recent scholarship on children's literature displays a wide variety of interests in classic and contemporary children's books. While environmental and ecological concerns have led to an interest in ecocriticism as yet there is little on the significance of the ecological imagination and experience to both the authors and readers young and old of these texts. This edited collection brings together a set of original international research based chapters to explore the role of children's literature in learning about environments and places with a focus on how children's literature may inform and enrich our imagination experiences and responses to environmental challenges and injustice. Contributions from Australia Canada USA and UK explore the diverse ways in which children's literature can provide what are arguably some of the first and possibly most formative engagements that some children might have with nature. Chapters examine classic and new storybooks mythic tales and image based and or written texts read at home in school and in the field. Contributors focus on exploring how children's literature mediates
