describing the divided self and explaining the relationship between good and evil of the double ganger Schmidt rather focuses on the Second Self and its multiple denotation as the Second Selves make their appearances either as instinct shadowlike figures coming alive in the form of pictures or reversed as mirror images Schmid The Fear of the Other These aforementioned double ganger motifs are literary represented in a plethora of English narrations in both English Romanticism and in early 20th Century literature in the Gothic tradition As social and personal identity crises were augmentative during the Romantic epoch the literary double serves to express an epoch s fear of the collapse of social values therefore authors used the double motif in literature in order to illustrate the issue of the fragmentability of the human soul 36 While split personality was a feature of the prototype of a double ganger in the Gothic genre the Second Self mostly contains aspects of the demonic the monstrous and is bound into a context of moral ambiguity ebda These features demonstrate the Second Self as a diabolical alter ego who always appears as a self divided villain marked by the uncanny and the evil
