Scars Of The Spirit The Struggle Against Inauthenticity:

Scars of the Spirit Geoffrey Hartman, 2015-11-17 In this fascinating collection of essays noted cultural critic Geoffrey Hartman raises the essential question of where we can find the real or authentic in today's world and how this affects the way we can understand our human predicament Hartman explores such issues as the fantasy of total and perfect information available on the Internet the biographical excesses of tell all daytime talk shows and how we can understand what is true in biographical and testimonial writing And what he asks is the ethical point of all this personal testimony What has it really taught us Underlying the entire book is a question of how the Holocaust has shaped the possibilities for truth and for the writing of an authentic life story in today's world and how we can approach the world in a meaningful way Hartman produces a meditation on how an appreciation of the aesthetic qualities of art and writing may help us to answer these questions of meaning

Call It English Hana Wirth-Nesher, 2009-02-14 Call It English identifies the distinctive voice of Jewish American literature by recovering the multilingual Jewish culture that Jews brought to the United States in their creative encounter with English In transnational readings of works from the late nineteenth century to the present by both immigrant and postimmigrant generations Hana Wirth Nesher traces the evolution of Yiddish and Hebrew in modern Jewish American prose writing through dialect and accent cross cultural translations and bilingual wordplay Call It English tells a story of preoccupation with pronunciation diction translation the figurality of Hebrew letters and the linguistic dimension of home and exile in a culture constituted of sacred secular familial and ancestral languages Through readings of works by Abraham Cahan Mary Antin Henry Roth Delmore Schwartz Bernard Malamud Saul Bellow Cynthia Ozick Grace Paley Philip Roth Aryeh Lev Stollman and other writers it demonstrates how inventive literary strategies are sites of loss and gain evasion and invention The first part of the book examines immigrant writing that enacts the drama of acquiring and relinquishing language in an America marked by language debates local color writing and nativism The second part addresses multilingual writing by native born authors in response to Jewish America's postwar social transformation and to the Holocaust A profound and eloquently written exploration of bilingual aesthetics and cross cultural translation Call It English resounds also with pertinence to other minority and ethnic literatures in the United States

Gulag Literature and the Literature of Nazi Camps Leona Toker, 2019-08-28 A literary scholar examines survival narratives from Russian and German concentration camps shedding new light on testimony in the face of evil In this illuminating study Leona Toker demonstrates how Holocaust literature and Gulag literature provide contexts for each other especially how the prominent features of one shed light on the veiled features and methods of the other Toker's analysis concentrates on the narrative qualities of the works as well as how each text documents the writer's experience in a form where fictionalized narrative can double as historical testimony Toker also views these texts against the background of historical information about the Soviet and the Nazi regimes of repression Writers at the center of this work include Varlam Shalamov Primo Levi Elie Wiesel and Ka Tzetnik and others including

Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn Evgeniya Ginzburg and Jorge Sempr n illuminate the discussion Toker also provides context for references to potentially obscure historical events and shows how they form new meaning in the text

White Scholars/African American Texts Lisa A. Long, 2005 Funny painful and disturbing by turns this absolutely necessary volume powerfully engages readers in passionate debates about the place of the non African American teacher of African American literature Maureen Reddy coeditor of Race in the College Classroom Pedagogy and Politics What makes someone an authority What makes one person's knowledge more credible than another's In the ongoing debates over racial authenticity some attest that we can know each other's experiences simply because we are all human while others assume a more skeptical stance insisting that racial differences create unbridgeable gaps in knowledge Bringing new perspectives to these perennial questions the essays in this collection explore the many difficulties created by the fact that white scholars greatly outnumber black scholars in the study and teaching of African American literature Contributors including some of the most prominent theorists in the field as well as younger scholars examine who is speaking what is being spoken and what is not and why framing African American literature in terms of an exclusive black white racial divide is problematic and limiting In highlighting the whiteness of some African Americanists the collection does not imply that the teaching or understanding of black literature by white scholars is definitively impossible Indeed such work is not only possible but imperative Instead the essays aim to open a much needed public conversation about the real and pressing challenges that white scholars face in this type of work as well as the implications of how these challenges are met

Animal Poetics and Literary Thinking Ratul Nandi, 2024-11-25 Animal Poetics and Literary Thinking explores and reorients our approach to animal thinking through the intersection between literary fiction continental philosophy and theory This book situates animals and animality as neither a corporeal entity nor a conceptual essence but as a scintillating impossibility that concurrently encourages and overturns our grasping impulse to know animals from their perspectives This framework corresponds with the milieu of literature as poesis which is uniquely connected to a refusal to know By exploring the writings of J M Coetzee Franz Kafka Mary Shelley and Kazuo Ishiguro this volume encounters a template of animal thinking that seeks to uncover the singularity of animals through a sustained exploration of what remains radically unknowable about animality the vestiges of which have their presence in the world of literary fiction

The City Since 9/11 Keith Wilhite, 2016-03-04 Charting the intersection of aesthetic representation and the material conditions of urban space The City Since 9 11 posits that the contemporary metropolis provides a significant context for reassessing theoretical concerns related to narrative identity home and personal precarity In the years since the September 11 attacks writers and filmmakers have explored urban spaces as contested sites shaped by the prevailing discourses of neoliberalism homeland security and the war on terror but also haunted by an absence in the landscape that registers loss and prefigures future menace In works of literature film and television the city emerges as a paradoxical space of permanence and vulnerability and a convergence point for anxieties about globalization structural inequality and apocalyptic violence Building on previous scholarship addressing trauma and the spectacle of terror the contributors also draw upon works of philosophy urban studies and postmodern geography to theorize how literary and visual representations expose the persistent conflicts that arise as cities rebuild in the shadow of past ruins Their essays advance new lines of argument that clarify art s role in contemporary debates about spatial practices gentrification cosmopolitanism memory and history nostalgia the uncanny and the abject postmodern virtuality the politics of realism and the economic and social life of cities The book offers fresh readings of familiar post 9 11 novels such as Jonathan Safran Foer s Extremely Loud & Incredibly Close but it also considers works by Teju Cole Joseph O Neill Silver Krieger Colum McCann Ronald Sukenick Jonathan Lethem Thomas Pynchon Colson Whitehead Paul Auster William Gibson Amitav Ghosh and Katherine Boo In addition The City Since 9 11 includes essays on the films Children of Men Hugo and the adaptation of Extremely Loud & Incredibly Close chapters on the television series The Bridge The Killing and The Wire and an analysis of Michael Arad s Reflecting Absence and the 9 11 Memorial

Christos Tsiolkas and the Fiction of Critique Andrew McCann, 2015-06-15 This is the first theoretically informed study of Tsiolkas s work It follows the arc of his controversial career and explores the tensions between political radicality transgressive sexuality and his more recent commercial success

The Oxford Handbook of Oral History Donald A. Ritchie, 2012-10-01 In the past sixty years oral history has moved from the periphery to the mainstream of academic studies and is now employed as a research tool by historians anthropologists sociologists medical therapists documentary film makers and educators at all levels The Oxford Handbook of Oral History brings together forty authors on five continents to address the evolution of oral history the impact of digital technology the most recent methodological and archival issues and the application of oral history to both scholarly research and public presentations The volume is addressed to seasoned practitioners as well as to newcomers offering diverse perspectives on the current state of the field and its likely future developments Some of its chapters survey large areas of oral history research and examine how they developed others offer case studies that deal with specific projects issues and applications of oral history From the Holocaust the South African Truth and Reconciliation Commissions the Falklands War in Argentina the Velvet Revolution in Eastern Europe to memories of September 11 2001 and of Hurricane Katrina the creative and essential efforts of oral historians worldwide are examined and explained in this multipurpose handbook

Tiny Surrealism Roger Rothman, 2012-12-01 New light on both Dal s well known and little studied works and his work as a response to modernism through a focus on Dal s identification with the small and the marginal

Hannah Arendt and the Limits of Total Domination Michal Aharony, 2015-03-05 Responding to the increasingly influential role of Hannah Arendt s political philosophy in recent years Hannah Arendt and the Limits of Total Domination The Holocaust Plurality and Resistance critically engages with Arendt s understanding of totalitarianism According to Arendt the main goal of totalitarianism was total domination namely the virtual eradication of human legality morality individuality and plurality This attempt in her view was most fully realized in the concentration camps which served as the major laboratories for the regime While Arendt focused on the perpetrators logic and drive Michal Aharony examines the perspectives and experiences of the victims and their ability to resist such an experiment The first book length study to juxtapose Arendt s concept of total domination with actual testimonies of Holocaust survivors this book calls for methodological pluralism and the integration of the voices and narratives of the actors in the construction of political concepts and theoretical systems To achieve this Aharony engages with both well known and non canonical intellectuals and writers who survived Auschwitz and Buchenwald concentration camps Additionally she analyzes the oral testimonies of survivors who are largely unknown drawing from interviews conducted in Israel and in the U S as well as from videotaped interviews from archives around the world Revealing various manifestations of unarmed resistance in the camps this study demonstrates the persistence of morality and free agency even under the most extreme and de humanizing conditions while cautiously suggesting that absolute domination is never as absolute as it claims or wishes to be Scholars of political philosophy political science history and Holocaust studies will find this an original and compelling book

HEAR Danilo Mandic,Caterina Nirta,Andrea Pavoni,Andreas Philippopoulos-Mihalopoulos,2023-02-14 Hearing is an intricate modality of sensory perception It is continuously enfolded in the surroundings in which it takes place While passive in its disposition hearing is integral to the movement and fluctuations of one s environment At all times hearing remains open in active but attuned to the present and continuously immersed in the murmur of its background A delicate perception that is always situated but fundamentally overarching and extended into the open Hearing is an immanent modality of being in and with the world Beyond the capacity of sensory perception hearing is also the ultimate juridical act a sense making activity that adjudicates and informs the spatio temporal acoustics of justice This penultimate volume of Law and the Senses gathers contributions from across different disciplines working on the relationship between law and hearing the human vocalisations and non human echolocations the spatial and temporal conditions in which hearing takes place as well as the forms of order and control that listening entails Through notions and practices of improvisation and noise attunement and audibility sonic spatiality and urban sonicity they explore challenge and expand the structural and sensorial qualities of law Moreover they recognise how hearing directs us to perceiving and understanding the intrinsic acoustic sphere of simultaneous relations which challenge and break the normative distinctions that law informs and maintains In an attempt to hear the ambiguous indefinable and unembodied nature of hearing as well as its objects sound and silence this volume approaches hearing as both an ontological and epistemological device to think with and about law

What Good Are the Arts? John Carey,2010 Do the arts make us better people Why should high art be thought higher than low In the first part of this spirited polemic Carey returns startling answers to these and related questions In the second part he makes a provocative case for the superiority of literature to all other arts

Law, Antisemitism and the Holocaust David Seymour,2007-11-28 Using the work of a range of key thinkers including Marx

Agamben Nietzsche Sartre Adorno and Horkheimer Arendt and Lyotard this book examines the connections between legal rights as an expression of modern political emancipation and the emergence and development of the social phenomenon of antisemitism Addressing amongst others the topic of the Holocaust and its impact upon critical forms of thought and public life this volume discusses the relationship between law and antisemitism The Holocaust and Historical Methodology Dan Stone, 2012-08-01 In the last two decades our empirical knowledge of the Holocaust has been vastly expanded Yet this empirical blossoming has not been accompanied by much theoretical reflection on the historiography This volume argues that reflection on the historical process of re constructing the past is as important for understanding the Holocaust and by extension any past event as is archival research It aims to go beyond the dominant paradigm of political history and describe the emergence of methods now being used to reconstruct the past in the context of Holocaust historiography

Transcultural English Studies Frank Schulze-Engler, Sissy Helff, 2009 What is most strikingly new about the transcultural is its sudden ubiquity Following in the wake of previous concepts in cultural and literary studies such as creolization hybridity and syncretism and signalling a family relationship to terms such as transnationality translocality and transmigration transcultural terminology has unobtrusively but powerfully edged its way into contemporary theoretical and critical discourse The four sections of this volume denote major areas where transcultural questions and problematics have come to the fore theories of culture and literature that have sought to account for the complexity of culture in a world increasingly characterized by globalization transnationalization and interdependence realities of individual and collective life worlds shaped by the ubiquity of phenomena and experiences relating to transnational connections and the blurring of cultural boundaries fictions in literature and other media that explore these realities negotiate the fuzzy edges of ethnic or national cultures and participate in the creation of transnational public spheres as well as transcultural imaginations and memories and finally pedagogy and didactics where earlier models of teaching other cultures are faced with the challenge of coming to terms with cultural complexity both in what is being taught and in the people it is taught to and where target cultures have become elusive The idea of locating culture and literature exclusively in the context of ethnicities or nations is rapidly losing plausibility throughout an English speaking world that has long since been multi rather than monolingual Exploring the prospects and contours of Transcultural English Studies thus reflects a set of common challenges and predicaments that in recent years have increasingly moved centre stage not only in the New Literatures in English but also in British and American studies Memories of Mass Repression Selma Leydesdorff, 2017-07-05 Memories of Mass Repression presents the results of researchers working with the voices of witnesses Its stories include the witnesses victims and survivors it also reflects the subjective experience of the study of such narratives The work contributes to the development of the field of oral history where the creation of the narrative is considered an interaction between the text of the narrator and the listener The contributors are particularly interested in ways in which memory is created and molded The interactions of different even conflicting memories of other individuals and society as a whole are considered In writing the history of genocide emotional memory and objective research are interwoven and inseparable It is as much the historian's task to decipher witness account as it is to interpret traditional written sources These sometimes antagonistic narratives of memory fashioned and mobilized within public and private arenas together with the ensuing conflicts paradoxes and contradictions that they unleash are all part of efforts to come to terms with what happened Mining memory is the only way in which we can hope to arrive at a truer and less biased historical account of events Memory is at some level selective Most believers in political movements turned out to be the opposite of what they promised When given a proper forum stories that are in opposition to dominant memories or in conflict with our own memories can effectively battle collective forgetting This volume offers the reader a vision of the subjective side of history without falsifying the objective reality of human survival

After Uniqueness Erika Balsom, 2017-03-21 Images have never been as freely circulated as they are today They have also never been so tightly controlled As with the birth of photography digital reproduction has created new possibilities for the duplication and consumption of images offering greater dissemination and access But digital reproduction has also stoked new anxieties concerning authenticity and ownership From this contemporary vantage point After Uniqueness traces the ambivalence of reproducibility through the intersecting histories of experimental cinema and the moving image in art examining how artists filmmakers and theorists have found in the copy a utopian promise or a dangerous inauthenticity or both at once From the sale of film in limited editions on the art market to the downloading of bootlegs from the singularity of live cinema to video art broadcast on television Erika Balsom investigates how the reproducibility of the moving image has been embraced rejected and negotiated by major figures including Stan Brakhage Leo Castelli and Gregory Markopoulos Through a comparative analysis of selected distribution models and key case studies she demonstrates how the question of image circulation is central to the history of film and video art After Uniqueness shows that distribution channels are more than neutral pathways they determine how we encounter interpret and write the history of the moving image as an art form

A Companion to Henry James Greg W. Zacharias, 2014-02-10 Written by some of the world's most distinguished Henry James scholars this innovative collection of essays provides the most up to date scholarship on James's writings available today Provides an essential up to date reference to the work and scholarship of Henry James Features the writing of a wide range of James scholars Places James's writings within national contexts American English French and Italian Offers both an overview of contemporary James scholarship and a cutting edge resource for studying important individual topics The Oxford Handbook of Holocaust Studies Peter Hayes, John K. Roth, 2012-11-22 Few scholarly fields have developed in recent decades as rapidly and vigorously as Holocaust Studies At the start of the twenty first century the persecution and murder perpetrated by the Nazi regime have become the subjects of an enormous literature in multiple academic disciplines and a touchstone of public and intellectual discourse in such diverse fields as politics ethics and religion Forward looking and multi disciplinary this handbook draws on the work of an international team of forty seven outstanding scholars The handbook is thematically divided into five broad sections Part One Enablers concentrates on the broad and necessary contextual conditions for the Holocaust Part Two Protagonists concentrates on the principal persons and groups involved in the Holocaust and attempts to disaggregate the conventional interpretive categories of perpetrator victim and bystander It examines the agency of the Nazi leaders and killers and of those involved in resisting and surviving the assault Part Three Settings concentrates on the particular places sites and physical circumstances where the actions of the Holocaust s protagonists and the forms of persecution were literally grounded Part Four Representations engages complex questions about how the Holocaust can and should be grasped and what meaning or lack of meaning might be attributed to events through historical analysis interpretation of texts artistic creation and criticism and philosophical and religious reflection Part Five Aftereffects explores the Holocaust s impact on politics and ethics education and religion national identities and international relations the prospects for genocide prevention and the defense of human rights

After Representation? R. Clifton Spargo, Robert Ehrenreich, 2009-11-11 After Representation explores one of the major issues in Holocaust studies the intersection of memory and ethics in artistic expression particularly within literature As experts in the study of literature and culture the scholars in this collection examine the shifting cultural contexts for Holocaust representation and reveal how writers whether they write as witnesses to the Holocaust or at an imaginative distance from the Nazi genocide articulate the shadowy borderline between fact and fiction between event and expression and between the condition of life endured in atrocity and the hope of a meaningful existence What imaginative literature brings to the study of the Holocaust is an ability to test the limits of language and its conventions After Representation moves beyond the suspicion of representation and explores the changing meaning of the Holocaust for different generations audiences and contexts
