audiences to envision the war through the eyes of Algerian characters on screen and other films bring memories from various groups together in thoughtful articulations that represent the complexity of the situation Donadey takes this analysis a step further to analyze what types of gendered representations emerge in these films given the important participation of Algerian women in the revolutionary war Scholars of Francophone studies film women s studies and history will find this book particularly useful

C. P. Snow and the Struggle of Modernity John de la Mothe, 2013-09-06 The condition of modernity springs from that tension between science and the humanities that had its roots in the Enlightenment but reached its full flowering with the rise of twentieth century technology It manifests itself most notably in the crisis of individuality that is generated by the nexus of science literature and politics one that challenges each of us to find a way of balancing our personal identities between our public and private selves in an otherwise estranging world This challenge which can only be expressed as the struggle of modernity perhaps finds no better expression than in C P Snow In his career as novelist scientist and civil servant C P Snow 1905-1980 attempted to bridge the disparate worlds of modern science and the humanities While Snow is often regarded as a late Victorian liberal who has little to say about the modernist period in which he lived and wrote de la Mothe challenges this judgment reassessing Snow's place in twentieth century thought He argues that Snow s life and writings most notably his Strangers and Brothers sequence of novels and his provocative thesis in The Two Cultures and the Scientific Revolution reflect a persistent struggle with the nature of modernity They manifest Snow s belief that science and technology were at the center of modern life
