Through the School Year Elma Ehrlich Levinger, 1925 Adult offender education programs John Phillips Conrad, 1981 Behind Bars Tim Mulherin, 1994 Reading Prisoners Jodi Schorb, 2014-10-30

Shining new light on early American prison literature from its origins in last words dying warnings and gallows literature to its later works of autobiography expos and imaginative literature Reading Prisoners weaves together insights about the rise of the early American penitentiary the history of early American literacy instruction and the transformation of crime writing in the long eighteenth century Looking first at colonial America an era often said to devalue jailhouse literacy Jodi Schorb reveals that in fact this era launched the literate prisoner into public prominence Criminal confessions published between 1700 and 1740 she shows were crucial literacy events that sparked widespread public fascination with the reading habits of the condemned consistent with the evangelical revivalism that culminated in the first Great Awakening By century s end narratives by condemned criminals helped an audience of new writers navigate the perils and promises of expanded literacy Schorb takes us off the scaffold and inside the private world of the first penitentiaries such as Philadelphia s Walnut Street Prison and New York s Newgate Auburn and Sing Sing She unveils the long and contentious struggle over the value of prisoner education that ultimately led to sporadic efforts to supply prisoners with books and education Indeed a new philosophy emerged one that argued that prisoners were best served by silence and hard labor not by reading and writing a stance that a new generation of convict authors vociferously protested The staggering rise of mass incarceration in America since the 1970s has brought the issue of prisoner rehabilitation once again to the fore Reading Prisoners offers vital background to the ongoing crucial debates over the benefits of prisoner education

Getting There Cynthia Lee A. Pemberton, Rima Karami Akkary, Donna M. Beegle, Eileen Casey White, Wangeci M. Gatimu, 2012-10-13

This book chronicles the lived experience educational journeys of women who found themselves moving forward together pursuing doctoral degrees in Educational Leadership Grounded in the realities of women s lives these inspirational first person narratives have the potential to raise awareness regarding women s socialization expectations and the role interpersonal and community connections play in the lived female experience This book provides a potential resource for those considering how relationships and support groups impact life s journey and their importance in overcoming barriers to educational attainment and success In her book Flux Peggy Orenstein encourages women to share their experiences and talk across lines of age and circumstance p 292 This book does that bringing into focus the complicated and convoluted knotty thorny messy realities of women s lives Seeing clearly the forest and the trees the grass the shrubs and dirt the fully fleshed out realities we as educators can more fully and accurately see and appreciate the conflicting competing chaos that characterizes and often monopolizes women s lives and from there establish a foundation of understanding from which to begin retooling higher education to better meet the life and learning needs of all our students In the end Orenstein says there is no single path to a textured satisfying life nor should there be p 293 and indeed as this book reveals there is not Despite geographical and generational differences these women s independent and intersecting lives created and even today supports and sustains their ongoing connection empowerment and achievements and as such not only leaves a legacy for others but a blueprint of and for hope Educating Incarcerated Youth Lynette Tannis, 2014-11-21 This book explores the perceptions and role of juvenile justice educators Through researching the support structures of educational facilities and analysing the positive features of these learning environments Tannis evaluates how best to educate incarcerated young people and prepare them for their transition back into society
