Companion to Modern Poetry in English Jeremy Noel-Tod, Ian Hamilton, 2013-05-23 This impressive volume provides over 1 700 biographical entries on poets writing in English from 1910 to the present day including T S Eliot Dylan Thomas and Carol Ann Duffy Authoritative and accessible it is a must have for students of English and creative writing as well as for anyone with an interest in poetry      Why Write Poetry? Jeannine Johnson, 2007 Poets have long been defending poetry in prose and essays by Sidney Shelley and others are a familiar and important part of the Anglo American literary tradition This book identifies and examines a related genre the verse defense of poetry which shares the same impulse that has led to the composition of prose essays namely the desire to protect poetry from its detractors and to promote its value as a vital human endeavor In the last century or so this impulse to engage questions of poetry s value in poems has become increasingly widespread and it has dominated the careers of at least five poets H D Wallace Stevens W H Auden Adrienne Rich and Geoffrey Hill Though these poets espouse very different aesthetic principles they like many of their contemporaries have repeatedly turned to apology in their verse At first glance this seems an odd gesture given that the readers and writers of poetry are those who least need convincing of poetry's worthiness. But questioning poetry in verse is a form of lyric introspection that is productive and well suited for a modern poet characterized as one of indifference. Defense helps these authors make a claim for poetry's cultural relevance as well as for its private profit. Jeannine Johnson is a Preceptor in Expository Writing at Harvard University.

Who's Who in Twentieth Century World Poetry Alan Parker, Mark Willhardt, 2005-12-05. Publicity Title. Foreword by Andrew Motion. Poet Laureate. 900 entries by 75 international contributors, all experts in their field. Covers both canonical and lesser-known contemporary poets. Very broad range of coverage, taking in poets from all over the world. The only book of its kind to look at non-English language poets in such detail.

The Art of Restraint Richard Hoffpauir, 1991. Richard Hoffpauir argues that the works of the best poets have found ways of not capitulating to contemporary reality and outlines the terms of the debate by setting the weaknesses of Yeats against the strengths of Hardy. Subsequent chapters discuss the nature poetry of Edward Thomas, the war poetry of Graves, Blunden, and Gurney, the love poetry of Bridges, Lawrence, and Graves, and the political and social verse of Rickword, Deryush, Betjeman, and Larkin.

The Veiled Mirror and the Woman Poet Elizabeth Caroline Dodd, 1992. In The Veiled Mirror and the Woman Poet, Elizabeth Dodd explores the lives and work of four women poets of the twentieth century: H.D., Louise Bogan, Elizabeth Bishop, and Louise Glück. Dodd argues that sexist and male-dominated cultural forces in their personal and professional lives challenged these women to find a unique mode of expression in their poetry, a practice Dodd defines as personal classicism. Dodd uses the term personal classicism to examine modern and contemporary poetry that appears torn between two major modes of poetic sensibility: the Romantic and the Classical. While the four poets she addresses exhibit a poetic sensibility that is primarily Romantic, valuing Wordsworth's spontaneous overflow of powerful feelings, adopting a natural spoken tone, and relying on personal subject matter, they have nonetheless employed masking and controlling strategies that are more nearly Classical. Combining feminist theory and biographical studies with close readings of individual poems, Dodd moves historically from H.D., one of the best-known Imagists, through the Confessional movement to the major contemporary poet Louise Glück. In the final chapter, Dodd brings us to the present, where she finds women writers still struggling with the recent Confessional legacy of such highly anthologized poets as Anne Sexton and Sylvia Plath. The Veiled Mirror and the Woman Poet combines thoughtful consideration of both formal and theoretical issues in a graceful prose that reaffirms poetry as an art vitally connected to life. It will be of significant interest to students of modern and contemporary poetry as well as to those concerned with women's studies.

Who's who in Twentieth-century World Poetry Mark Willhardt, Alan Michael Parker, 2002. Technomodern Poetics Todd F.

Tietchen,2018-10-01 After the second World War the term technology came to signify both the anxieties of possible annihilation in a rapidly changing world and the exhilaration of accelerating cultural change Technomodern Poetics examines how some of the most well known writers of the era described the tensions between technical literary and media cultures at the dawn of the Digital Age Poets and writers such as Allen Ginsberg Charles Olson Jack Kerouac and Frank O Hara among others anthologized in Donald Allen s iconic The New American Poetry 1945 1960 provided a canon of work that has proven increasingly relevant to our technological present Elaborating on the theories of contemporaneous technologists such as Norbert Wiener Claude Shannon J C R Licklider and a host of noteworthy others these artists express the anxieties and avant garde impulses they wrestled with as they came to terms with a complex array of issues raised by the dawning of the nuclear age computer based automation and the expansive reach of electronic media As author Todd Tietchen reveals even as these writers were generating novel forms and concerns they often continued to question whether such technological changes were inherently progressive or destructive With an undeniable timeliness Tietchen s book is sure to appeal to courses in modern English literature and American studies as well as among fans of Beat writers and early Cold War culture

Poetry, Poets, Readers Peter Robinson,2002 Poetry Poets Readers is a defence of poetry against the protective moves which claim that poets never lie because they never affirm or that their poems exist in a separate world These much re iterated manoeuvres for safe guarding poetry by banishing it from an active role in life can paradoxically go hand in hand with a poet s yearning for the authority of a legislator Through detailed considerations of poetry by Shakespeare Keats Yeats Auden Elizabeth Bishop and Paul Muldoon along with sustained meditations on question forms in poems the role of fact in fictions the nature of literary value speech acts and performative utterances issued by poets the book sets out a fresh model for relationships between poetry poets and readers one which allows the historical fact of poems having made things happen to be itself happening Peter Robinson himself an award winning poet explores what we do by imagining when we read or write poems In describing how poetry poets and readers make things happen the poet offers us an invitation and implies a promise Taking up the one we find out how to keep the other
