Man-Machine-Environment System Engineering Shengzhao Long, Balbir S. Dhillon, 2020-09-28 This book presents selected papers introducing readers to the key research topics and latest development trends in the theory and application of MMESE. The advanced integrated research topic man-machine-environment system engineering (MMESE) was first established in China by Professor Shengzhao Long in 1981 with direct support from one of the greatest modern Chinese scientists Xuesen Qian. In a letter to Shengzhao Long from October 22nd 1993 Xuesen Qian wrote: "You have created a very important modern science and technology in China. MMESE primarily focuses on the relationship between man, machine, and environment, studying the optimum combination of man-machine-environment systems where man refers to people in the workplace (e.g., operators, decision makers), machine is the general name for any object controlled by man including tools, machinery, computers, systems, and technologies, and environment describes the specific working conditions under which man and machine interact (e.g., temperature, noise, vibration, and hazardous gases). The three goals of optimizing such systems are ensuring safety, efficiency, and economy. Presenting interdisciplinary studies on the concepts and methods in physiology, psychology, system engineering, computer science, environmental science, management, education, and other related disciplines, this book is a valuable resource for all researchers and professionals whose work involves MMESE subjects."

Jagdpant vs 17-pdr Achilles Frank Baldwin,2025-06-19 This is the story of the 17 pdr Achilles and the Jagdpant two formidable tracked anti tank guns that clashed in North West Europe during 1944 45 Both mounting their country s most effective anti tank ordnance on a tracked chassis the 17 pdr Achilles and the Jagdpant were arguably the best self propelled anti tank guns used by the British Canadian and German forces that fought in North West Europe during 1944 45 Featuring specially commissioned artwork and carefully chosen photographs this is the story of the two types development combat use and legacy in the closing stages of World War II in North West Europe Based upon the mobile lightly armoured M10 design originally developed for the US Army the Achilles had its main armament the 17 pounder QF anti tank gun mounted in a fully revolving turret Conversely the low profile heavily armoured Jagdpant had its formidable 8 8cm PaK 43 cannon mounted in a fixed casemate Both crewed by artillerymen rather than tankers the Achilles and the Jagdpant were anti tank guns not tanks or assault guns their main purpose was to knock out enemy tanks not to engage infantry or lead an assault or pursuit Sometimes they faced each other notably in the Reichswald fighting of February 1945 Fully illustrated this work tells the story of their development and tactical use as well as what happened when these two very different designs met in combat

Red Army Auxiliary Armoured Vehicles, 1930-1945 Alexey Tarasov,2021-07-07 During the 1930s in the Soviet Union a remarkable range of auxiliary armoured vehicles were produced for the Red Army which have rarely had the attention they deserve and Alexey Tarasov s photographic history is the ideal guide to them These innovative designs demonstrate the diversity and innovation of the Soviet arms industry Among them were armoured flails ambulances bridge layers flame throwers and amphibious cars which prefigure similar designs made by western engineers during the Second World War As this selection of rare photographs shows Soviet designers were in many ways ahead of their time and it was short sighted internal policy and the shortcomings of Soviet industry which led to the cancellation or postponement of many of these promising projects As a result when faced with Operation Barbarossa in 1941 the Red Army lacked the auxiliary armour that would have helped to stem the German advance Alexey Tarasov s in depth research and the rare photographs he has assembled give a fascinating insight into a little known aspect of the history of Soviet armoured vehicles
