Self Incrimination In Jewish Law:

Self-incrimination in Jewish Law Aaron Kirschenbaum, 1970 November 1963 Influence of Jewish Law in Some American Constitutional Amendments Roberto Aron, 2012 stateMEnt is the second book of the collection Dream in blue In this book the author guides you through a tumultuous period of her life where she mourns cries faces reality faces herself and faces hope You will definitely find a little bit of yourself somewhere during your reading journey As this compilation contains some level of eroticism it may not be suitable for young readers The voyage in a world of dreams continues

Faith and Law Robert F. Cochran, 2008 The relationship between religion and the law is a hot button topic in America with the courts Congress journalists and others engaging in animated debates on what influence if any the former should have on the latter Many of these discussions are dominated by the legal perspective which views religion as a threat to the law it is rare to hear how various religions in America view American law even though most religions have distinct views on law In Faith and Law legal scholars from sixteen different religious traditions contend that religious discourse has an important function in the making practice and adjudication of American law not least because our laws rest upon a framework of religious values The book includes faiths that have traditionally had an impact on American law as well as new immigrant faiths that are likely to have a growing influence Each contributor describes how his or her tradition views law and addresses one legal issue from that perspective Topics include abortion gay rights euthanasia immigrant rights and blasphemy and free speech The Jewish Law Annual Volume 19 Berachyahu Lifshitz, Hanina Ben-Menahem, 2013-07-04 Volume 19 of The Jewish Law Annual is a festschrift in honor of Professor Neil S Hecht It contains thirteen articles ten in English and three in Hebrew Several articles are jurisprudential in nature focusing on analysis of halakhic institutions and concepts Elisha Ancselovits discusses the concept of the prosbul asking whether it is correct to construe it as a legal fiction as several scholars have asserted He takes issue with this characterization of the prosbul and with other scholarly readings of Tannaitic law in general The concepts of dignity and shame are addressed in two very different articles one by Nahum Rakover and the other by Hanina Ben Menahem The former discusses halakhic sources pertaining to the dignity inherent in human existence and the importance of nurturing it The latter presents a fascinating survey of actual legal practices that contravened this halakhic norm Attestations of these practices are adduced not only from halakhic and semi halakhic documents but also from literary historical and ethnographic sources Three articles tackle topical issues of considerable contemporary interest Bernard S Jackson comments on legal issues relating to the concept of conversion arising from the story of the biblical heroine Ruth and compares that concept to the notion of conversion invoked by a recent English court decision on eligibility for admission to denominational schools An article by Dov I Frimer explores the much agonized over question of halakhic remedies for the wife whose husband refuses to grant her a get bill of divorce precluding her remarriage Frimer s focus is the feasibility of inducing the husband to grant the get through monetary pressure specifically by awarding the chained wife compensatory tort damages Tort remedies are also discussed in the third topical article by Ronnie Warburg on negligent misrepresentation by investment advisors Two papers focus on theory of law Shai Wozner explores the decision rules conduct rules dichotomy in the Jewish law context clarifying how analysis of which category a given law falls under enhances our understanding of the law's intent Daniel Sinclair explores the doctrine of normative transparency in the writings of Maimonides the Hatam Sofer and R Abraham Isaac Kook demonstrating that although transparency was universally endorsed as an ideal some rabbinical authorities were willing to forego transparency where maintenance of the halakhic system itself was imperiled An article by Alfredo M Rabello reviews the primary and secondary literature on end of life issues and contextualizes the much discussed talmudic passage bAvoda Zara 18a And an article by Chaim Saiman offers a critical survey of the main approaches to conceptualizing and teaching Jewish law in American universities it also makes suggestions for new and perhaps more illuminating pedagogic direction In the Hebrew section an intriguing article by Berachyahu Lifshitz presents a comparison of Persian and talmudic law on the status of promises and the role of the divine in their enforcement Yuval Sinai discusses the halakhic law of evidence particularly the well known two witnesses requirement and departures from it The volume closes with a historical article by Elimelech Westreich on the official rabbinical court in nineteenth century Jerusalem It focuses on the rabbinical figures who served on the court the communities for whom it adjudicated and its role in the broader geopolitical and sociocultural context
