Maurice Maeterlinck's Blue Bird Brian Wildsmith, 1994 The Blue Bird Maurice Maeterlinck, 1911 In the opening scene the two children gleefully describe the beautiful decorations and rich desserts that they see in the house of a wealthy family nearby When Berylune says that it is wrong for the rich not to share their cakes with Tytyl and Mytyl the boy corrects her It is enough that he gets to watch others happiness their joy does not create envy in him The theme is emphasized again when the children meet the Luxuries particularly the biggest one of all the Luxury of Being Rich When Tytyl turns the diamond the hall is bathed with a dazzling brightness and the Luxuries run wildly in search of a dark corner where they may hide their ugliness from the ethereal light At the end of the play Tytyl shows what he has learned about happiness He looks out the window at the forest and remarks how beautiful it is The inside of the house looks much lovelier to him than it did before Also he creates great happiness for another by giving his pet bird which seems much bluer than before to the sick child The Blue Bird Maurice Maeterlinck,2015-12-31 THE WOODCUTTER S COTTAGE Once upon a time a woodcutter and his wife lived in their cottage on the edge of a large and ancient forest They had two dear little children who met with a most wonderful adventure But before telling you all about it I must describe the children to you and let you know something of their character for if they had not been so sweet and brave and plucky the curious story which you are about to hear would never have happened at all Tytyl that was our hero s name was ten years old and Mytyl his little sister was only six Tytyl was a fine tall little fellow stout and well set up with curly black hair which was often in a tangle for he was fond of a romp He was a great favorite because of his smiling and good tempered face and the bright look in his eyes but best of all he had the ways of a bold and fearless little man which showed the noble qualities of his heart When early in the morning he trotted along the forest road by the side of his daddy Tyl the woodcutter for all his shabby clothes he looked so proud and gallant that every beautiful thing on the earth and in the sky seemed to lie in wait for him to smile upon him as he passed His little sister was very different but looked ever so sweet and pretty in her long frock which Mummy Tyl kept neatly patched for her She was as fair as her brother was dark and her large timid eyes were blue as the forget me nots in the fields Anything was enough to frighten her and she would cry at the least thing but her little child soul already held the highest womanly qualities she was loving and gentle and so fondly devoted to her brother that rather than abandon him she did not hesitate to undertake a long and dangerous journey in his company What happened and how our little hero and heroine went off into the world one night in search of happiness that is the subject of my story The Blue Bird Maurice Maeterlinck,2022-10-27 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant The Blue Bird for Children Maurice Maeterlinck,G LeBlanc Mme Maeterlinck,2020-01-17 Maurice Maeterlinck called The Belgian Shakespeare received the 1911 Nobel Prize for Literature The Blue Bird will forever live among Maeterlinck s greatest works and will linger long in the memory of all His wife Georgette Leblanc has rendered this pieces in story form for children under the title The Blue Bird for children This book is about the wonderful adventures of Mytyl and her brother Tytyl in search of The Blue Bird of Happiness in which endeavor they are abetted by a good fairy Berylune This really is a wonderful story Not just for children adults will love it too Excerpt Once upon a time a woodcutter and his wife lived in their cottage on the edge of a large and ancient forest They had two dear little children who met with a most wonderful adventure But before telling you all about it I must describe the children to you and let you know something of their character for if they had not been so
