Rivers of Fortune Bill Caldwell,1983 Rivers and the Power of Ancient Rome Brian Campbell,2012-08-15 Figuring in myth religion law the military commerce and transportation rivers were at the heart of Rome s increasing exploitation of the environment of the Mediterranean world In Rivers and the Power of Ancient Rome Brian Campbell explores the role and influence of rivers and their surrounding landscape on the society and culture of the Roman Empire Examining artistic representations of rivers related architecture and the work of ancient geographers and topographers as well as writers who describe rivers Campbell reveals how Romans defined the geographical areas they conquered and how geography and natural surroundings related to their society and activities In addition he illuminates the prominence and value of rivers in the control and expansion of the Roman Empire through the legal regulation of riverine activities the exploitation of rivers in military tactics and the use of rivers as routes of communication and movement Campbell shows how a technological understanding of and even mastery over the forces of the river helped Rome rise to its central place in the ancient world

Geography of Newfoundland James Patrick Howley,1876 Having worked on the Newfoundland Geological Survey Howley saw the need for an up to date textbook on the geography of Newfoundland This book was the result of Howley s efforts and became a standard text that was used for many years in schools on the island Martianus Capella in the Late Middle Ages and Renaissance Katie Reid,2023-10-09 In this book Katie Reid argues that the fifth century author Martianus Capella was a significant influence in the late Middle Ages and Renaissance His poetic encyclopaedia The Marriage of Philology and Mercury was a source for writing on the liberal arts allegory and classical mythology from 1300 to 1650 In fact writers of this period had much more in common with Martianus Capella than they did with older ancients like Homer and Virgil As such we must reshape our understanding of late medieval and Renaissance encounters with the classical world by exploring their roots in Late Antiquity Annual Report Newfoundland. Office for Subject Cataloging Policy,2013 Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress. Cataloging Policy and Support Office,2009 Downward Mobility Katherine Binhammer,2020-04-28 How do the stories we tell about money shape our economies Beginning in the late eighteenth century as constant growth became the economic norm throughout Europe fictional stories involving money were overwhelmingly about loss Novel after novel tells the tale of bankruptcy and financial failure of people losing everything and ending up in debtor s prison of inheritances lost and daughters left orphaned and poor In Downward Mobility Katherine Binhammer argues that these stories of ruin are not simple tales about the losers of capitalism but narratives that help manage speculation of capital s inevitable collapse Bringing together contemporary critical finance studies with eighteenth century literary history Binhammer demonstrates the centrality of the myth of downward mobility to the cultural history of capitalism and to the emergence of the novel in Britain Deftly weaving economic history and formal analysis Binhammer reveals how capitalism requires the novel s complex techniques to render infinite economic growth imaginable She also explains why the novel s signature formal developments owe their narrative dynamics to the contradictions within capital s form Combining new archival research on the history of debt with original readings of sentimental novels including Frances Burney s Cecilia and Camilla Sarah Fielding s David Simple and Oliver Goldsmith s The Vicar of Wakefield Downward Mobility registers the value of literary narrative in interpreting the complex sequences behind financial capitalism especially the belief in infinite growth that has led to current environmental crises An audacious epilogue arms humanists with the argument that in order to save the planet from unsustainable growth we need to read more novels
