Rivers Running Free Stories Of Adventurous Women:

Rivers Running Free Judith Niemi, Barb Wieser, 1987 This collection of women's memoirs of canoeing experiences comes as a welcome alternative to the many outdoors books that seem geared to men. Despite the differences in time and setting from 1905 to the 1980s from Mexico to the Hudson Bay many of the contributions share a common theme that of women shedding societal roles and surviving by their wits and strength. Many of the accounts are compelling but some are couched in New Age jargon that blunts their impact. I feel my center reach out to meet tap mingle with give to that water energy. The editorializing could be more literate and the book's chummy tone seems more appropriate to a community newsletter. Still this collection is sure to give much needed inspiration to readers who have felt that the wilderness couldn't be enjoyed by the weaker sex. Pub desc

Woman's Way Through Unknown Labrador Mina Benson Hubbard, Sherrill E Grace, 2004-05-19 In 1903 Hubbard's husband Leonidas starved to death on his cartographic and ethnographic expedition to Labrador. Hubbard decided to complete her husband's work becoming a skilled explorer and cartographer in her own right. She set out in July 1905 and with the help of George Elson a Métis guide who had been employed by her husband on the original trip and three other guides completed her expedition in record time with significant results including completing the first accurate map of the Labrador river system thus correcting the earlier map that had led to her husband's death. Her original photographs and the map are reproduced in this volume

Every Trail Has a Story Bob Henderson, 2005-03-07 LIMITED TIME OFFER Canada is packed with intriguing places for travel where heritage and landscape interact to create stories that fire our imagination. Scattered across the land are incredible tales of human life over the centuries. From the Majorville rock formation dated as being older than Stonehenge through the systems of walking trails developed by pre-contact Native Peoples and the fur trade routes to the more recent grand stories of the Chilkoot Gold Rush of 1897 Bob Henderson the traveller captures our living history in its relationship to the land best expressed through the Norwegian quote nature is the true home of culture. The diversity of fascinating content includes the ancient James Bay landmark the Wonderful Stone the mountain treks of naturalist Mary Schaffer Warren the west coast observations of George Vancouver practices such as dog sledding warm winter camping and canoeing that allow for heritage insights the trails of Dundas Ontario the exploits of missionary Gabriel Sagard the recluse Louis Gamache of Anticosti Island the abandoned gravesites along the coast of Newfoundland to name but a few. As historian Michael Bliss once said We have to find a way to make history smell again. Author Bob Henderson brings the fragrance of the past into the present and invites us to imagine and participate. Like an enthused hummingbird too eager to land Bob Henderson leads a wide ranging tour of the vast garden of Canadian history and landscape. Once entrusted with the scent of intrigue we are invited to follow these stories and trails deeper make them speak and inform our own travels and impressions. Here are stepping stones and touchstones paths toward richer engagements via a storied and fabulous past. Alexandra a log cabin set back in the woods had caught my eye
