Road Past Altamont:

The Road Past Altamont Gabrielle Roy, 1993-01-01 First published in French in 1966 The Road Past Altamont pierces to the heart of a child's world creating a delicate yet substantial network of impressions emotions and relationships In her writing Gabrielle Roy allowed nothing extraneous or false to stand according to the translator Joyce Marshall The literary style of Roy whose fiction reflects her childhood on the Canadian prairie has often been compared to that of Willa Cather The Road Past Altamont takes a sensitive French Canadian girl Christine from childhood innocence to maturity Four connected stories reveal profound moments during her early years in the vastness of Manitoba Christine's testament to Grandmother's creative power her great adventure with an old gentleman at Lake Winnipeg and her clandestine one with a crude family of movers her journey through time and space with aging Maman all these characters and events convey Gabrielle Roy's preoccupation with childhood and old age the passage of time and mystery of change and the artist's relation to the world

La Route D'Altamont. The Road Past Altamont ... Translated from the French by Joyce Marshall Gabrielle Roy, Joyce MARSHALL, 1966 In Translation Gabrielle Roy, Joyce Marshall, 2005-01-01 Gabrielle Roy was one of the most prominent Canadian authors of the twentieth century Joyce Marshall an excellent writer herself was one of Roy's English translators The two shared a deep and long lasting friendship based on a shared interest in language and writing In Translation offers a critical examination of the more than two hundred letters exchanged by Roy and Marshall between 1959 and 1980 In their letters Roy and Marshall exchange news about their general health and well being their friends and family their surroundings their travels and other writers as well as their dealings with critics editors and publishers They recount comical incidents and strange encounters in their lives and reflect on human nature current events and from time to time their writing Of particular interest to the two women were the problems they encountered during the translation process Many passages in the letters concern the ways in which the nuances of language can be shaped through translation Editor Jane Everett has arranged the letters here in chronological order and has added critical notes to fill in the historical and literary gaps as well as to identify various editorial problems Shedding light on the process of writing and translating In Translation is an invaluable addition to the study of Canadian writing and to the literature on these two important figures
