Road To Impressionism Josephine Bowes:

The Road to Impressionism Howard Coutts, Bowes Museum, 2002 "Sculptors and Design Reform in France, 1848 to 1895" Claire Jones, 2017-07-05 Challenging distinctions between fine and decorative art this book begins with a critique of the Rodin scholarship to establish how the selective study of his oeuvre has limited our understanding of French nineteenth century sculpture The book's central argument is that we need to include the decorative in the study of sculpture in order to present a more accurate and comprehensive account of the practice and profession of sculpture in this period Drawing on new archival sources sculptors and objects this is the first sustained study of how and why French sculptors collaborated with state and private luxury goods manufacturers between 1848 and 1895 Organised chronologically the book identifies three historically situated frameworks through which sculptors attempted to validate themselves and their work in relation to industry industrial art decorative art and objet d'art Detailed readings are offered of sculptors who operated within and outside the Salon including Simon Carrier Belleuse and Rodin and of diverse objects and materials from Sevres vases to pewter plates by Desbois and furniture by Barbedienne and Carabin By contesting the false separation of art from industry Claire Jones's study restores the importance of the sculptor manufacturer relationship and of the decorative to the history of sculpture Henry James and the Art of Impressions John Scholar, 2020-05-21 Henry James criticized the impressionism that was revolutionizing French painting and fiction He satirized the British aesthetic movement whose keystone was impressionist criticism So why time and again in important parts of his literary work did James use the word impression Henry James and the Art of Impressions argues that James tried to wrest the impression from the impressionists and to recast it in his own art of the novel Interdisciplinary in its range philosophical and literary in its focus the book shows the place of James's work within the wider cultural history of impressionism It draws on painting philosophy psychology literature and critical theory to examine James's art criticism early literary criticism travel writing reflections on his own fiction and the three great novels of his major phase The Ambassadors The Wings of the Dove and The Golden Bowl It shows how the language of impressions enables James to represent the most intense moments of consciousness of his characters It argues that the Jamesian impression is best understood as a family of related ideas bound together by James's attempt to reconcile the novel's value as a mimetic form with its value as a transformative creative activity The Burlington Magazine, 2004 Museums Journal Elijah Howarth, F.
