Robert Fulton Jim Whiting,2020-02-10 From the time he was young Robert Fulton liked to work with his hands For a while he thought he wanted to be an artist but it was hard to make a living as a painter Fulton turned to inventing things including a very early version of the submarine He is most famous for building the first practical steamboat Others had tried and failed but his North River Steam Boat was successful It sailed regularly between New York City and Albany the capital of New York The success of the North River Steam Boat inspired Fulton to build other steamboats improving commerce for the nation and the world

busy winding up everything and will leave London about the 23rd inst for Falmouth from whence I shall sail in the packet the first week in October and be with you I hope in November perhaps about the 14th my birthday so you must have a roast goose ready The packet being well manned and provided will be more commodious and safe for an autumn passage and I think there will be little or no risk at least I prefer taking all the risk there is to idling here a winter But although there is not much risk yet accidents may happen and that the produce of my studies and experience may not be lost to my country I have made out a complete set of drawings and descriptions of my whole system of submarine attack Robert Fulton's Experiments in Submarine Gunnery Robert Fulton, Robert Fulton Submarine Manuscripts (photostats) Robert Fulton, 1806 Photostats made in 1921 of a collection of manuscripts mostly dated 1806 written by Robert Fulton in response to inquiries regarding his recently invented submarine and its effectiveness under various warfare scenarios etc

Robert Fulton, 1810 Robert Fulton and the Submarine, by Wm Barclay Parsons Wm Barclay Parsons, 1922 Robert Fulton and the Submarine - Publishing People Series William Barclay Parsons, 2020-10-26 I am now busy winding up everything and will leave London about the 23rd inst for Falmouth from whence I shall sail in the packet the first week in October and be with you I hope in November perhaps about the 14th my birthday so you must have a roast goose ready The packet being well manned and provided will be more commodious and safe for an autumn passage and I think there will be little or no risk at least I prefer taking all the risk there is to idling here a winter But although there is not much risk yet accidents may happen and that the produce of my studies and experience may not be lost to my country I have made out a complete set of drawings and descriptions of my whole system of submarine attack These with my will I shall put in a tin cylinder sealed and leave them in the care of General Lyman not to be opened unless I am lost Should such an event happen I have left you the means to publish these works with engravings in a handsome manner and to which you will add your own ideas showing how the liberty of the seas may be gained by such means Thus Robert Fulton wrote to Joel Barlow who had been his close friend and faithful guide since his arrival in Paris in 1797 The letter of which the above is but an extract is dated London September 1806 and was written as the context shows on the eve of his final departure from England after a residence abroad of nearly twenty years General Lyman to whom he referred had been appointed American Consul in London in 1805 in which capacity he served until he died in 1811 Joel Barlow was in his day a person of considerable importance Born in 1754 in Connecticut educated at Dartmouth and Yale he first studied theology and then law Though he practised these professions in turn for a short time he retired from both to devote himself to literature In 1788 he went to London and Paris to market some lands in Ohio an unfortunate undertaking While in Europe he became interested in liberal politics even to the extent of standing as a candidate for election to the French Convention of 1793 After having acquired a competence in commerce and after a short but highly creditable service as American Consul at Algiers he returned to Paris and resumed his literary life his principal production being a poem entitled The Columbiad In 1805 he returned to America remaining there until 1811 when he was appointed American Commissioner to Emperor Napoleon He joined the latter at Vilna in 1812 during the Russian campaign and as the result of exposure to inclement conditions on the disastrous retreat from Moscow in the same year died in Poland on Christmas eve Barlow was enough older than Fulton to be accepted not only as a friend but as a counsellor while his character experience and views on world questions appealed to the enthusiastic younger American in whom there was curiously blended a high development of an artistic temperament and scientific genius and who was in thorough sympathy with the extreme liberal movement of the period that Barlow to some extent approved
