

FRANK A. DE LA ROSA

BEYOND FORGETTING

Childhood memories of the author during the WWII in the Philippines

Having lived during and after the Second World War, Frank experienced the terrors of the war and the devastations that shortly followed. It was a challenging period to the world, more so to the eye of a four-year-old child. In this book, discover how the biggest war of history affected the life of an innocent child and how the challenges made him see and appreciate the simplest things in life. This book contains the unrecorded history of WWII as it happened to the typical families of a small town on a remote island in the Philippines. From surviving the war, overcoming the poverty of the time, and completing his education with flying colors, join Frank in his unusual yet exciting journey during and after WWII. Through his experience, see how positivity, camaraderie, and resourcefulness can transform even the most challenging situations into victory and success!

Sc Beyond Forget:

Beyond the Great Forgetting Patrick Gruener, 2022-08-29 Drawing on a selection of carefully curated autobiographical and fictional portrayals of the dementia experience this book gives voice to some of the most pressing ethical issues that commonly arise in the context of a dementing disorder and calls attention to various forms of narrative resistance in contemporary American literature on early onset Alzheimer's disease AD Based on the premise that the current public discourse on AD is largely dominated by an anxiety and fear promoting conception of the illness this multilayered inquiry strives to look beyond the widespread horrors of forgetting and loss in AD and in doing so attempts to give a better more accurate and more balanced impression of what it means to be living with such a diagnosis

Beyond Measure Isaac Slater, 2020-02-13 Bernard continually returns to the classical idea that the quality of desire shapes theological imagination By attending to the multiple ways he develops and applies this insight Beyond Measure uncovers a new depth of organic unity to the literary philosophical and theological strands densely interwoven through his writings Bernard's apparent iconoclasm with respect to art affectivity and the humanity of Jesus is revealed as an alternative mystical aesthetic congruent with his program for monastic reform The central movement of Cistercian spirituality from the carnal to the spiritual is shown not to elide but to recapitulate the carnal in higher spiritual expression Further this approach provides fresh understanding of the ways in which Bernard is at once last of the fathers and first of the moderns In particular a careful reading of works by Julia Kristeva and Jean Luc Marion on Bernard reveals both the enduring brightness and vitality of his writing and the relevance of his work for people today

Beyond Loss Lars-Christer Hydén, Hilde Lindemann, Jens Brockmeier, 2014 Coming to terms with dementia is one of the great challenges of our time This volume of new interdisciplinary essays by internationally established scholars offers new ways of understanding and dealing with it It explores views of dementia that go beyond the idea of loss and rather envisions it as multilayered transformation and change of personhood and identity and as development that mostly is socially shared with others The studies collected here identify new empirical theoretical and methodological areas that will be crucial to future research and clinical practice concerned with age related dementia Three general themes are singled out as of particular importance and interest persons and personhood identity and agency and the social and the communal

Private sector action provides one of the most promising opportunities to reduce the risks of climate change buying time while governments move slowly or even oppose climate mitigation Starting with the insight that much of the resistance to climate mitigation is grounded in concern about the role of government this books draws on law policy social science and climate science to demonstrate how private initiatives are already bypassing government inaction in the US and around the globe It makes a persuasive case that private governance can reduce global carbon emissions by a billion tons per year over the next decade Combining an examination of the growth of private climate initiatives over the last decade a theory of why private actors are motivated to reduce emissions and a review of viable next steps this book speaks to scholars business and advocacy group managers philanthropists policymakers and anyone interested in climate change Lists and Catalogues in Ancient Literature and Beyond Rebecca Laemmle, Cédric Scheidegger Laemmle, Katharina Wesselmann, 2021-02-22 Lists and catalogues have been en vogue in philosophy cultural media and literary studies for more than a decade These explorations of enumerative modes however have not yet had the impact on classical scholarship that they deserve While they routinely take a limited set of ancient models as their starting point there is no comparably comprehensive study that focuses on antiquity conversely studies on lists and catalogues in Classics remain largely limited to individual texts and with some notable exceptions offer little in terms of explicit theorising The present volume is an attempt to close this gap and foster the dialogue between the recent theoretical re appraisal of enumerative modes and scholarship on ancient cultures The 16 contributions to the volume juxtapose literary forms of enumeration with an abundance of ancient non sub or para literary practices of listing and cataloguing In their different approaches to this vast and heterogenous corpus they offer a sense of the hermeneutic epistemic and methodological challenges with which the study of enumeration is faced and elucidate how pragmatics materiality performativity and aesthetics are mediated in lists and catalogues Religious and Intellectual

 Beate Dignas, R. R. Smith, 2012-03-15 Historical and Religious Memory in the Ancient World examines how religious and historical memory was fashioned distorted preserved or erased in ancient societies and what wide ranging effects these actions had on the historical process The volume is interested in how memory intersects with and shapes religious traditions and cultural identities Its twelve case studies explore different aspects of the memory layers that make up ancient history social religious cultural and looks at how these layers are represented and refracted in different contexts of the written and material remains of antiquity The process has its beginnings in the dim pasts of ancient communities and continues in the later Greek and Roman periods where our most articulate ancient evidence lies It is a process that continues in a different way in contemporary scholarship which draws on selected evidence and a variety of contrasting representations The three parts of the book vary the lens through which the impact of religious and cultural memory can be grasped Part I looks at the commemoration of religious tradition in the context of cultural interaction Greek Roman Jewish and Christian Part II focuses on how religious identities are defined and how homogenous looking cultures engage in elaborate selective dialogue with their own past In Part III contested versions of the past are interpreted in studies of Roman historiography and of religiously motivated behaviour in late antique Asia Minor This interdisciplinary book highlights and celebrates the work of Simon Price an important thinker and pioneer in this kind of wider historical research in ancient cultures and religions New Horizons in International Commercial Arbitration and Beyond A.
