Snowden,Martine Hausberger,1997-03-20 For at least 30 years there have been close parallels between studies of birdsong development and those of the development of human language Both song and language require species specific stimulation at a sensitive period in development and subsequent practice through subsong and plastic song in birds and babbling in infant humans leading to the development of characteristic vocalisations for each species This book illustrates how social interactions during development can shape vocal learning and extend the sensitive period beyond infancy and how social companions can induce flexibility even into adulthood Social companions in a wide range of species including birds and humans but also cetaceans and nonhuman primates play important roles in shaping vocal production as well as the comprehension and appropriate usage of vocal communication This book will be required reading for students and researchers interested in animal and human communication and its development American Illustrated Magazine ,1881

Railroad Brakemen's Journal ,1900 The Domino and the Eighteenth-Century London Masquerade Meghan Kobza,2024-02-15 This Element presents new cultural social and economic perspectives on the eighteenth century London masquerade through an in depth analysis of the classic domino costume Constructing the object biography of the domino through material visual and written sources will bring together various experiences of the masquerade and expand the existing geographical chronological and socio economic scope of the entertainment beyond the masquerade event itself This Element will examine the domino s physical and figurative movements from the masquerade warehouse through eighteenth century fashionable society and into print and visual culture It will draw upon masquerade warehouse records newspapers manuscripts prints and physical objects to establish a comprehensive understanding of the domino and how it reflected contemporary experiences of the real and imagined masquerade Analysing the domino through interdisciplinary methodologies illustrates the impact material and visual sources can have on reshaping existing scholarship
