Buying In Rob Walker,2010-01-05 Brands are dead Advertising no longer works Consumers are in control Or so we re told In Buying In Rob Walker argues that this accepted wisdom misses a much more important cultural shift including a practice he calls murketing in which people create brands of their own and participate in unprecedented ways in marketing campaigns for their favorites Yes rather than becoming immune to them we are rapidly embracing brands Profiling Timberland American Apparel Pabst Blue Ribbon Red Bull iPod and Livestrong among others Walker demonstrates the ways in which buyers adopt products not just as consumer choices but as conscious expressions of their identities Part marketing primer part work of cultural anthropology Buying In reveals why now more than ever we are what we buy and vice versa

Computers are the foundation of the information age but communication technology is the foundation of the foundation Without the theories and practical applications of theory brought to us by the pioneers of communication the computer age would perhaps have remained in the back office hidden away as infrastructure like electricity or running water critical to modern life but not as transforming as the combination of communications and computing The information age exploded once machines were endowed with the ability to talk among themselves The Signal connects everything to everything else in both communication and in the metaphorical sense as the link between and among people Features Identifies the key ideas underlying modern communications technology and documents the contributions of its inventors Explores the signal in communication and also in the metaphorical sense as the link between and among people Leads the reader through a journey from ancient number systems to Voyager II to radio and MP3s to quantum cryptography Includes coverage of Signals from Hell including memes and fake news on the Internet Looks to the future of communication with emergent 5G
