Continental Crosscurrents J. B. Bullen,2005-08-25 Continental Crosscurrents is a series of case studies reflecting British attitudes to continental art during the nineteenth and the early twentieth centuries It stresses the way in which the British went to the continent in their search for origins or their pursuit of sources of purity and originality This cult of the primitive took many forms it involved a reassessment of medieval German and Italian art and offered new ways of interpreting Venetian painting it opened up new readings of architectural history and the discovery of the Romanesque it generated a debate about the value of returning to religious subjects in art and it raised the question of the relationship between modern art and Byzantine art in the early twentieth century J B Bullen s original study presents some exciting findings Few critics have noticed how much in advance of his time was Coleridge s passion for medieval art Ruskin s debt in the Stones of Venice to Victor Hugo s Notre Dame de Paris has hardly been noted and Browning s involvement with the debate on the morality of Christian art is explored more extensively than previously Three chapters are devoted to the role of British criticism in identifying the Romanesque style in architecture and differentiating it from the Gothic. They trace the concept as it arose in criticism at the beginning of the nineteenth century, its employment in the remarkable buildings of Edmund Sharpe and Sara Losh, and the way in which it reached a climax in Waterhouse's enigmatic choice of Romanesque for the Natural History Museum in London. The collection concludes with two continental episodes from the history of modernism. One is the explosive British reaction to the primitivism of Gauguin; the other involves the identifying of one of the characters in D. H. Lawrence's novel Women in Love. Curious evidence suggests that the malevolent figure of Loerke was based on a German sculptor whom Lawrence met in Italy before the First World War.

Reason and Imagination Learned Hand, 2013-01-17. Reason and Imagination: The Selected Correspondence of Learned Hand provides readers with an intimate look into the life and mind of Judge Learned Hand, an icon in American Law. This new book brings to light previously unpublished letters and gives readers insight into Hand's thoughts on American jurisprudence and policy. This new collection includes a preface by Ronald Dworkin. Ernest Hemingway on Writing Larry W.

Phillips, 2002-07-25. A collection of reflections on writing and the nature of the writer from one of the greatest American writers of the 20th century. Throughout Hemingway's career as a writer, he maintained that it was bad luck to talk about writing; that it takes off whatever butterflies have on their wings and the arrangement of hawk's feathers if you show it or talk about it. Despite this belief, by the end of his life, he had done just what he intended not to do. In his novels and stories, in letters to editors, friends, fellow artists, and critics, in interviews, and in commissioned articles on the subject, Hemingway wrote often about writing. And he wrote as well and as incisively about the subject as any writer who ever lived. This book contains Hemingway's reflections on the nature of the writer and on elements of the writer's life, including specific and helpful advice to writers on the craft of writing, work habits, and discipline. The Hemingway personality comes through in general wisdom, wit, humor, and insight, and in his insistence on the integrity of the writer and of the profession itself. From the Preface by Larry W. Phillips. Philosophy, Humor, and the Human Condition Lydia Amir, 2019-12-19. This book presents an original worldview, Homo risibilis, wherein self-referential humor is proposed as the path leading from a tragic view of life to a liberating embrace of human ridicule. Humor is presented as a conceptual tool for holding together contradictions and managing the unresolvable conflict of the human condition till Homo risibilis resolves the inherent tension without epistemological cost. This original approach to the human condition allows us to effectively address life's ambiguities without losing sight of its tragic overtones and brings along far-ranging personal and social benefits. By defining the problem that other philosophies and many religions attempt to solve in terms we can all relate to, Homo risibilis enables an understanding of the Other that surpasses mere tolerance. Its egalitarian vision roots an ethic of compassion without requiring metaphysical or religious assumptions and liberates the individual for action on others' behalf. It offers a new model of rationality which effectively handles and eventually resolves the tension between oneself, others, and the world at large. Amir's view of the human condition transcends the field of philosophy of humor An original worldview that fits the requirements of traditional philosophy Homo risibilis is especially apt to answer contemporary concerns It embodies the minimal consensus we need in order to live together and the active role philosophy should responsibly play in a global world Here developed for the first time in a complete way the Homo risibilis worldview is not only liberating in nature but also illuminates the shortcomings of other philosophies in their attempts to secure harmony in a disharmonious world for a disharmonious human being A.

Mary F. Robinson Patricia Rigg, 2021-09-15 Born in England in 1857 Agnes Mary Frances Robinson contributed to cultural and literary currents from nineteenth century Victorianism to twentieth century modernism she was equally at home in London and Paris and prolific in both English and French Yet Robinson remains an enigma on many levels This literary biography integrates Robinson's unorthodox life with her development as a writer across genres Best known for her poetry Robinson was also a respected biographer history writer travel writer and contributor of reviews and articles to the Times Literary Supplement for nearly forty years She had a romantic friendship with the writer Vernon Lee and two happy and celibate marriages Her salons in London and Paris were attended by major literary and artistic figures and she counted amongst her friends Robert Browning Oscar Wilde John Addington Symonds Gaston Paris Ernest Renan and Maurice Barrès Reflecting a decade of research in international archives and family papers A Mary F Robinson reveals the extraordinary woman behind the popular writer and critically acclaimed poet Approaches to the Study of Attic Vases Philippe Rouet, 2001 This book concerns the history of the interpretation of Attic painted vases and is based on a comparative study of the works of Edmond Pottier 1855-1934 the founder and organizer of the Corpus Vasorum Antiquorum and John Beazley 1885-1970 who carried out the majority of vase attributions The comparison between the two men involves an examination of two intellectual traditions which run through the history of the study of pottery The first of these accentuates the documentary value of vases and the need to ensure their global publication while the second views vases as objets d'art and endeavours to trace the development of artistic forms by constructing a history of vase painters In reality these approaches are not directly conflicting but represent two poles around which the discipline of pottery scholarship is organized By showing how both interpretations have gained support in the more recent past this work aims to provide a better understanding of the issues involved in the study of pottery today
