Self Taught Gardener:

Self-Taught Gardener Sydney Eddison,1998 The next best thing to knowing all about gardening is having a friend who is an expert on the subject and horticulturalist Sydney Eddison is just that friend In a neighborly over the fence manner that will appeal to novices and practiced gardeners alike she offers experienced personal advice on every aspect of gardening But this guide is more than just a technical handbook for Eddison s true gift is her overwhelming love of gardening a love she communicates in an innovative format that reflects the way a gardener gradually builds skills and ambitions Teaching you how to tap into your own instinctive sense of design color and form how to avoid common mistakes and how to learn from others Eddison offers a wealth of practical tips on helping plants flourish while providing invaluable lists of sturdy versatile and beautiful plants that will anchor your garden for years to come Intimate and amiable The Self Taught Gardener will encourage you to plunge right into planning and planting and to find within yourself the potential for creating the garden you ve always wanted

The Victorian Gardener Caroline Ikin,2014-02-10 Over the course of the nineteenth century gardening came to be considered a respectable profession providing a means to an education a good chance of advancement and decent working conditions The hierarchy of the garden staff became just as regimented as that of domestic servants and progression was attained by hard work self improvement and ambition Training courses and apprenticeships prepared young gardeners for their trade and horticulture became recognised as a skilled profession with the head gardener commanding a position of influence and respect and women overcoming social barriers to join their peers on equal terms This book explores the gardening profession within the complexities of Victorian society and the advances in science and technology that pushed the gardener further into the limelight

The Gardener's Magazine, and Register of Rural & Domestic Improvement,1828 The Gardener's Magazine and Register of Rural and Domestic Improvement,1829 The Gardener's Magazine and Register of Rural & Domestic Improvement John Claudius Loudon,1835 Gardener's Monthly and Horticultural Advertiser,1886 The Gardener's Monthly and Horticulturist Thomas Meehan,1885 Personality Presenters Frances Bonner,2016-05-06 Television presenters are key to the sociability of the medium speaking directly to viewers as intermediaries between audiences and those who are interviewed perform or compete on screen As targets of both great affection and derision from viewers and the subjects of radio internet magazine and newspaper coverage many have careers that have lasted almost as long as post war television itself Nevertheless as a profession television presenting has received little scholarly attention Personality Presenters explores the role of the television presenter analysing the distinct skills possessed by different categories of host and the expectations and difficulties that exist with regard to the promotion of the various films books consumer and cultural products with which they are associated The close involvement of presenters with the content that they present is examined while the impact of the presenters own celebrity on the tasks that they perform is scrutinised With a focus on non fiction entertainment shows such as game shows lifestyle and reality shows chat daytime and talk shows this book explores issues of consumer culture advertising and celebrity as well as the connection of presenters with ethical issues Offering detailed case studies of internationally recognised presenters as well comparisons between national presenters from the UK and Australia Personality Presenters provides a rich discussion of television presenters as significant conduits in the movement of ideas As such it will appeal to sociologists as well as those working in the fields of popular culture cultural and media studies and cultural theory The Gardener's Monthly and Horticultural Advertiser,1865 The Cottage Gardener George W.
