1936-1940

LEFT: One of the early Ju 88s as used by the Luftwaffe in the early days of the war. The aircraft was produced in large numbers and was a versatile machine. It was used for a variety of roles, including fighter, bomber, and reconnaissance. The aircraft was also used for night bombing and was a major threat to the Allies.

August

The early days of August saw little combat activity; the main event to take place was the equipping of 1. Staffel, Erpr. Gr. 210 with fighter-bomber Bf 110 D-0/86. Conversion training to the use of the armed C-0 variant, 2. Staffel suffered the loss of two aircraft on 6 August; one was lost when it was pulled out of its dive too late during dive-bombing practice and crashed with the loss of both crewmen, and the other, on a test flight to check a repaired faulty engine, was abandoned by its crew when engine problems arose once more. In the latter aircraft the Bordfunkler's position was occupied by an engineer from Daimler-Benz to monitor engine performance; he baled out safely. The pilot, Ltfr. Heinrich Schulteis, baled out but hit the frame of the aircraft and was killed.

8 August - Convoy 'Peewit'

Leaving Southampton on 7 August, convoy 'Peewit' was closely monitored by reconnaissance aircraft and was first attacked by German surface boats in the early hours of 8 August. The first attack on the convoy, shortly after 09:00 hours, was met with spirited opposition by defending RAF fighters. A second attack was launched in the early afternoon on the convoy, which had already suffered losses from the morning assault. On this occasion, fighter escort for the bombers was provided by the Bf 110s of I./ZG 1. Once again they tangled with intercepting British fighters, and once again their claims for victories were somewhat optimistic: 13. A feature of their claims was that they were all scored at low-level, between 500 and 1,000 metres. Set against that, 14. Staffel lost one Bf 110 and crew, with a further five returning to France with varying degrees of damage, one of whose pilots succumbed to his wounds.

11 August - central Channel and Thames estuary

Action early on 11 August involved the Bf 109s of 3./Erpr. Gr. 210 shooting down barrage balloons protecting Dover Harbour, and the Bf 110s of that unit then following up and bombing the harbour. All aircraft returned safely to Calais-Marck.

Later in the morning two major raids built up, both featuring Bf 110s, and the RAF reacted in strength to each of them. Heading out of the Cherbourg Peninsula towards the Dorset coast, the Luftwaffe formation was tracked by British radar. Both Gruppen of ZG 2 provided the fighter escort along with Bf 109s of JG 2 and JG 27 for Ju 88s and He 111s drawn from KG 54 and KG 27 respectively. Eight RAF squadrons rose to meet what was the largest raid yet to be sent against England.

Arriving at their holding point, the Bf 110s formed a large defensive circle to draw the RAF fighters away from the incoming bombers. The ruse worked, and soon a heavy dogfight developed between the Spitfires and Hurricanes and the Bf 110s of ZG 2. This was sufficient for the bombers to get through

ABOVE: Piloten Pte. Gerhard (left) of 13./GrGr 1 and Pte. Friedrich Lindemann of 14./GrGr 1. Jentsch was killed in action on 8 August in LI+KDL. Lindemann suffered the same fate in LI+CK on 27 September.

Luftwaffe Fighter Bombers And Destroyers 1:

Zerstörer John J. Vasco, 2006-04 Wheeled armoured vehicles are as old as the motor car itself with early armoured cars first appearing before the start of World War 1 Within 20 years or so these crude early machines had become far more sophisticated powerful well protected and armed with considerable firepower In this fascinating new book accomplished military author Pat Ware tells the complete story of the development of the armoured car from its first blueprints to the significant role it ultimately played both in World Wars Developed for use in reconnaissance command control and communications these vehicles were far superior in speed and manoeuvrability to their tracked counterparts and provided a key supportive tool for the major combatants during World War 2 This book will be invaluable for all military enthusiasts who wish to have the fine detail on these magnificent powerful vehicles as it provides data on every armoured vehicle in use between 1939 and 1945 together with a comprehensive vehicle listing With an authoritative text and a staggering amount of detail and data this impressive work belongs on the shelf of all serious military historians and anyone who wishes to recreate this remarkable machine This new title will complement the author's previous volumes World War Two German Trucks and World War Two Military Vehicles Transport Halftracks building into a comprehensive library on World War 2 military vehicles

Sea Eagles: 1939-41 Chris Goss, 2005 Using a similar format to the very popular Jagwagdwaffe series Sea Eagles offers readers a two volume study into maritime and anti shipping operations as conducted by the Luftwaffe over the English Channel North Sea the Far North and Baltic the Eastern Front and the Mediterranean For the first time these books contain a fascinating and eclectic mix of float planes and multi engined bombers converted to anti shipping duties There are also studies of some of the more interesting weaponry used by German bomber units operating in such a role such as the Rheinstahl PC 1400 X Fritz radio guided bomb and the Henschel 293 rocket driven remotely controlled stand off missile as used against destroyers in the Mediterranean as well as biographies of some of the leading anti shipping aces such as Aufhammer Alongside the photographic content much of which is previously unpublished the book also includes color artworks and first hand reminiscences from Luftwaffe pilots of the era The sea strike and maritime units are amongst the least known of the Luftwaffe's fighter force during World War II this new two volume work sets the record straight providing the aviation and military historian with a comprehensive and detailed study of this often ignored facet of the air war between 1939 and 1945

Germany and the Second World War Horst Boog, Werner Rahn, Reinhard Stumpf, Bernd Wegner, 2001-09-13 This is the sixth volume in the comprehensive and authoritative series Germany and the Second World War It deals with the extension of a European into a global war in the period from 1941 to 1943 It focuses on the politics strategy and operations of the belligerent powers as Germany lost the initiative to the Allies and it represents both in content and in composition the climax and turning points of the war Series description This is the sixth in the magisterial ten volume Germany and the Second World War series The six volumes so far published in German take the story to 1943 and have achieved international acclaim as a major contribution to historical study Under the auspices of the Milit rgeschichtliches Forschungsamt Research Institute for Military History a team of renowned historians has combined a full synthesis of existing material with the latest research to produce what will be the definitive history of the Second World War from the German point of view The comprehensive analysis based on detailed scholarly research is underpinned by a full apparatus of maps diagrams and tables Intensively researched and documented Germany and the Second World War is an undertaking of unparalleled scope and authority It will prove indispensable to all historians of the twentieth century Flypast ,2006 A History of the Mediterranean Air War, 1940-1945 Christopher Shores,Giovanni Massimello,Russell Guest,Frank Olynyk,Winfried Bock,Andy Thomas,2018-11-05 This fourth volume in the comprehensive series fills a gap in the existing narrative of WWII s Mediterranean air war Journal of Military History The fourth volume in this momentous series commences with the attacks on the Italian island fortress of Pantellaria which led to its surrender and occupation achieved almost by air attack alone The account continues with the ultimately successful but at times very hard fought invasions of Sicily and southern Italy as burgeoning Allied air power now with full US involvement increasingly dominated the skies overhead The successive occupations of Sardinia and Corsica are also covered in detail This is essentially the story of the tactical air forces up to the point when Rome was occupied just at the same time as the Normandy landings were occurring in northwest France With regards to the long range tactical role of the Allied heavy bombers only the period from May to October is examined while they remained based in North Africa with the narrative continuing in a future volume This volume also delves into the story of the soldiers air force Frequently overshadowed by more immediate newsworthy events elsewhere the soldiers struggle was often of an equally Homeric nature No future publication on the Mediterranean air war will be credible without use of this series Air Power History German Aircraft Industry and Production, 1933-1945 Ferenc A. Vajda,Peter Dancey,1998 Beskriver den tyske flyindustri i perioden 1933 45 herunder de s rlige forhold under 2 verdenskrig

The Ardennes, 1944-1945 Christer Bergström,2014-12-19 A comprehensive photo filled account of the six week long Battle of the Bulge when panzers slipped through the forest and took the Allies by surprise In December 1944 just as World War II appeared to be winding down Hitler shocked the world with a powerful German counteroffensive that cracked the center of the American front The attack came through the Ardennes the hilly and forested area in eastern Belgium and Luxembourg that the Allies had considered a quiet sector Instead for the second time in the war the Germans used it as a stealthy avenue of approach for their panzers Much of US First Army was overrun and thousands of prisoners were taken as the Germans forged a fifty mile bulge into the Allied front But in one small town Bastogne American paratroopers together with remnants of tank units offered dogged resistance Meanwhile the rest of Eisenhower s broad front strategy came to a halt as Patton from the south and Hodges from the north converged on the enemy incursion Yet it would take an epic six week long winter battle the bloodiest in the history of the US Army before the Germans were finally pushed back Christer

Bergström has interviewed veterans gone through huge amounts of archive material and performed on the spot research in the area. The result is a large amount of previously unpublished material and new findings including reevaluations of tank and personnel casualties and the most accurate picture yet of what really transpired from the perspectives of both sides. With nearly four hundred photos, numerous maps and thirty two superb color profiles of combat vehicles and aircraft, it provides perhaps the most comprehensive look at the battle yet published. The First and The Last Adolf Galland, 2018-11-30. A fearless leader with 104 victories to his name, Galland was a legendary hero in Germany's Luftwaffe. Now he offers an insider's look at the division's triumphs in Poland and France and the last desperate battle to save the Reich. The clearest picture yet of how the Germans lost their war in the air. Time Joint Operational Warfare Milan N. Vego, 2009. Smallholder farmers and pastoralists fulfil an invaluable yet undervalued role in conserving biodiversity. They act as guardians of locally adapted livestock breeds that can make use of even marginal environments under tough climatic conditions and therefore are a crucial resource for food security. But in addition, by sustaining animals on natural vegetation and as part of local ecosystems, these communities also make a significant contribution to the conservation of wild biodiversity and of cultural landscapes. This publication provides a glimpse into the often intricate knowledge systems that pastoralists and smallholder farmers have developed for the management of their breeds in specific production systems and it also describes the multitude of threats and challenges these often marginalized communities have to cope with. Operation Barbarossa: the Complete

Organisational and Statistical Analysis, and Military Simulation Volume IIA Nigel Askey, 2013-11-01. Operation Barbarossa Volume IIA concerns the Wehrmacht. All the significant German weapon systems and combat squads used in the campaign are analysed using the quantitative methodology detailed in Volume I along with the contextual history. An assessment of each weapon system's inherent combat power is provided as well as attributes such as the relative anti-tank, anti-personnel and anti-aircraft values. Volume IIA then focuses on the detailed Kriegstarkenachweisungen (KStN) or TOE for German land units, including those in the West as well as the unit's actual organisation and equipment. All significant units in the German Army, Heer, Waffen-SS, Luftwaffe and security forces are included, ranging from the largest panzer divisions down to small anti-aircraft companies, military police units, Landeschützen battalions and rail road and construction companies. In all cases, the data is presented in detailed tables using the weapon systems and combat squads previously analysed.
