Handbook of Autobiography / Autofiction Martina

Wagner-Egelhaaf, 2019-01-29 Autobiographical writings have been a major cultural genre from antiquity to the present time. General questions of the literary as e.g. the relation between literature and reality, truth and fiction, the dependency of author, narrator and figure or issues of individual and cultural styles etc. can be studied preeminently in the autobiographical genre. Yet the tradition of life writing has in the course of literary history developed manifold types and forms. Especially in the globalized age where the media and other technological cultural factors contribute to a rapid transformation of lifestyles, autobiographical writing has maintained even enhanced its popularity and importance. By conceiving autobiography in a wide sense that includes memoirs, diaries, self-portraits and autofiction as well as media transformations of the genre, this three-volume handbook offers a comprehensive survey of theoretical approaches, systematic aspects and historical developments in an international and interdisciplinary perspective. While autobiography is usually considered to be a European tradition, special emphasis is placed on the modes of self-representation in non-Western cultures and on inter- and transcultural perspectives of the genre. The individual contributions are closely interconnected by a system of cross-references. The handbook addresses scholars of cultural and literary studies, students as well as non-academic readers. French

Women Mystics Confront the Modern World

Marie-Florine Bruneau, 1998-01-29 Women Mystics Confront the Modern World situates the female mystical tradition within the context of the epistemological shift which affected religious sentiments and the perception of the self at the dawn of the modern world. Anchored in a comprehensive knowledge of the religious history of seventeenth-century France, this book offers a vivid account of the fascinating lives and work of two exceptional women: Marie de l'Incarnation (1599-1672) and Madame Guyon (1648-1717), who continue a literary and spiritual tradition that had begun in the thirteenth century. Yet because they were at a crucial point in the history of Western mysticism when this movement was at once at its apogee and in the first stages of decline, their writings show indications of a changing mentality. These transformations shed light on the social significance of female mysticism in the Western tradition. The opportunities the two women seized or shunned highlight their maneuvering for validation and autonomy. But their choices also highlight many contradictions, compromises and limits imposed upon their self-expression. At the confluence of French and American scholarship on mysticism, this work joins these two schools of thought by introducing gender as a viable category of inquiry into the one and by tempering the overly optimistic interpretation of female mysticism of the other. The Apprenticeship of Beatrice Webb Deborah Epstein

Nord, 1985-06-18 Annual Supplement to the Catalogue of the Library of Parliament in Alphabetical and Subject Order Canada. Library of Parliament, 1923 Postcolonial Francophone Autobiographies Edgard Sankara, 2011-08-03

Bringing a comparative perspective to the study of autobiography, Edgard Sankara considers a cross-section of postcolonial francophone writing from Africa and the Caribbean in order to examine and compare for the first time their transnational reception Sankara not only compares the ways in which a wide selection of autobiographies were received locally as well as in France but also juxtaposes reception by the colonized and the colonizer to show how different meanings were assigned to the works after publication Sankara's geographical and cultural coverage of Africa and its diaspora is rich with separate chapters devoted to the autobiographies of Hamp t B Valentin Mudimb Kesso Barry Patrick Chamoiseau Rapha l Confiant and Maryse Cond The author combines close reading reception study and postcolonial theory to present an insightful survey of the literary connections among these autobiographers as well as a useful point of departure for further exploration of the genre itself of the role of reception studies in postcolonial criticism and of the stance that postcolonial francophone writers choose to take regarding their communities of origin Modern Language Initiative The Literary Year-book ,1905

The Reader's Digest of Books Helen Rex Keller,1917 John Lewis Mallet, an autobiographical retrospect of the first twenty-five years of his life John Lewis Mallet,1890 Charlie Chaplin Adolphe Nysenholc,2014-07-24 No detailed description available for Charlie Chaplin Women Taking Risks in Contemporary Autobiographical Narratives Kenneth Reeds,Anna Rocca,2013-10-03 Women Taking Risks in Contemporary Autobiographical Narratives explores the nature and effects of risk in self narrative representations of life events and is an early step towards confronting the dearth of analysis on this subject The collection focuses on risk taking as one of women's articulations of authorial agency displayed in literary testimonial photographic travel and film documentary forms of autobiographical expression in French Among many themes the book fosters discussion on matters of courage strength resilience freedom self fulfillment political engagement compassion faith and the envisioning of unconventional alliances that follow a woman's stepping out of her comfort zone The fourteen essays included in this collection discuss works of women authors from North Africa Sub Saharan Africa France and the Caribbean They exemplify a variety of self narratives that blur unified conceptualizations of both identity and national belonging They address questions about women writers attitudes towards risk and their willingness to change the status quo They also explore the many personal and public forms in which agency manifests through risk taking engagements the ways in which women challenge the conventional wisdom about feminine reserve and aversion to danger the multiplicity of seen and unforeseen consequences of risk taking the all too frequent lack of recognition of female courage the overcoming of obstacles by taking risks and frequently the amelioration of women's lives Addressing both the broader context of the study of risk and the more specific areas of female expression and autobiography in Francophone cultures this collection is attractive to a diverse audience with the potential to cross disciplines and inform a wide body of research A number of the essays deal with issues born in postcolonial circumstances This examination of the elucidation of marginalized voices should prove enlightening to an array of scholars researching specific ethnic sexual gender and general subjects related to identity In making inroads towards expanding the well developed area of risk studies into the humanities this collection makes an important contribution that has the potential to promote a variety of cross disciplinary research including examinations of the psychology and sociology behind chauvinism personal expression and formative experiences

Encyclopedia of Life Writing Margaretta Jolly, 2013-12-04 First published in 2001 This is the first substantial reference work in English on the various forms that constitute life writing As this term suggests the Encyclopedia explores not only autobiography and biography proper but also letters diaries memoirs family histories case histories and other ways in which individual lives have been recorded and structured It includes entries on genres and subgenres national and regional traditions from around the world and important auto biographical writers as well as articles on related areas such as oral history anthropology testimonies and the representation of life stories in non verbal art forms Consuming

Autobiographies Claire Boyle, 2017-12-02 Since 1975 French literary writing has been marked by an autobiographical turn which has seen authors increasingly often tap into the vein of what the French term écriture de soi This coincides paradoxically with the death of autobiography as these authors self consciously distance themselves and their writings from conventional autobiography founding a nouvelle autobiographie where the very possibility of autobiographical expression is questioned In the first book length study in English to address this phenomenon Claire Boyle sheds a new light on this hostility toward autobiography through a series of ground breaking studies of estrangement in autobiographical works by major post war authors Nathalie Sarraute Georges Perec Jean Genet and Helene Cixous She identifies autobiography as a site of conflict between writer and reader as authors struggle to assert the unknowableness of their identity in the face of a readership resolutely desiring privileged knowledge Autobiography emerges as a deeply troubling genre for authors with the reader as an antagonistic consumer of the autobiographical self Catalogue de l'histoire de la Grande-Bretagne

Derrida and Autobiography Robert Smith, 1995-06 The work of Jacques Derrida can be seen to reinvent most theories In this book Robert Smith offers both a reading of the philosophy of Derrida and an investigation of current theories of autobiography Smith argues that for Derrida autobiography is not so much subjective self revelation as relation to the other not so much a general condition of thought as a general condition of writing what Derrida calls the autobiography of the writing which mocks any self centred finitude of living and dying In this context and using literary critical philosophical and psychoanalytical sources Smith thinks through Derrida's texts in a new but distinctly Derridean way and finds new perspectives to analyse the work of classical writers including Hegel Nietzsche Kierkegaard Freud and de Man Remember Me to Harlem

Langston Hughes, Carl Van Vechten, 2007-12-18 Langston Hughes is widely remembered as a celebrated star of the Harlem Renaissance a writer whose bluesy lyrical poems and novels still have broad appeal What's less well known about Hughes is that for much of his life he maintained a friendship with Carl Van Vechten a flamboyant white critic writer and photographer whose ardent support of black artists was peerless. Despite their differences Van Vechten was forty four to Hughes twenty two when they met. Hughes and Van Vechten's shared interest in black culture led to a deeply felt if unconventional friendship that would span some forty years. Between them they knew everyone from Zora Neale Hurston to Richard Wright and their letters lovingly and expertly collected here for the first time are filled with gossip about the antics of the great and the forgotten as well as with talk that ranged from race relations to blues lyrics to the nightspots of Harlem which they both loved to prowl. It's a correspondence that as Emily Bernard notes in her introduction provides an unusual record of entertainment politics and culture as seen through the eyes of two fascinating and irreverent men.

Autobiography, historiography, rhetoric, 2023-10-16 Bad Books Amy S. Wyngaard, 2013. Bad Books reconstructs how the eighteenth century French author Nicolas Edme Rétif de la Bretonne and his writings were at the forefront of the development of modern conceptions of sexuality and pornography. Although certain details are well known for example that Rétif's 1769 treatise on prostitution Le Pornographe is the work from which the term pornography is derived or that he was an avid foot and shoe fetishist much of this story has been obscured and even forgotten including how the author actively worked to define the category of obscenity and the modern pornographic genre and how he coined the psychosexual term fetish and played a central role in the formation of theories of sexual fetishism in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. Thus this book is also about literary history and how it is written. It explores how Rétif perceived as a bad author in both senses of the term and his contributions were glossed over or condemned such that the originality of his texts has still not been fully established. Placing Rétif's novels and short stories in dialogue with his autobiographical writings as well as with contemporary and modern critical commentaries the various chapters of the book examine the author's repeated testing of the limits of censorship to define and redefine the boundaries of obscenity his advancement of the modern form and definition of pornography through a focus on intimacy and female pleasure his detailed narrative explorations of foot and shoe fetishisms that were later appropriated by the sexologists and his development of theories of eugenics and reproduction in his utopian science fiction. The history of Rétif's texts and their reception reveals an evolution in the criteria of what is considered to be good or worthy literature a category once defined purely on moral grounds that is increasingly seen in cultural terms. Bad Books corroborates the recent resurgence of interest in the author by showing the import of his texts which not only designate a number of firsts in the histories of sexuality and pornography but which also illuminate some of the defining moments in the history of French literary studies.
