Natural Victims:

Knowing Victims Rebecca Stringer, 2014-06-20 Knowing Victims explores the theme of victimhood in contemporary feminism and politics. It focuses on popular and scholarly constructions of feminism as victim feminism, an ideology of passive victimhood that denies women's agency and provides the first comprehensive analysis of the debate about this ideology which has unfolded among feminists since the 1980s. The book critically examines a movement away from the language of victimhood across a wide array of discourses and the neoliberal replacement of the concept of structural oppression with the concept of personal responsibility. In derogating the notion of victim, neoliberalism promotes a conception of victimization as subjective rather than social, a state of mind rather than a worldly situation. Drawing upon Nietzsche, Lyotard, rape crisis feminism and feminist philosophy, Stringer situates feminist politicizations of rape, interpersonal violence, economic inequality and welfare reform as key sites of resistance to the victim-blaming logic of neoliberalism. She suggests that although recent feminist critiques of victim feminism have critically diagnosed the anti-victim movement, they have not positively defended victim politics. Stringer argues that a conception of the victim as an agentic bearer of knowledge and an understanding of resentment as a generative force for social change provides a potent counter to the negative construction of victimhood characteristic of the neoliberal era. This accessible and insightful analysis of feminism, neoliberalism and the social construction of victimhood will be of great interest to researchers and students in the disciplines of gender and women's studies, psychology, sociology, politics and philosophy.

Reparations for Victims of Genocide, War Crimes and Crimes Against Humanity Carla Ferstman, Mariana Goetz, Alan Stephens, 2009 This book provides detailed analyses of systems that have been established to provide reparations to victims of genocide, crimes against humanity and war crimes and the way in which these systems have worked and are working in practice. Many of these systems are described and assessed for the first time in an academic publication. The publication draws upon a groundbreaking Conference organised by the Clemens Nathan Research Centre (CNRC) and REDRESS at the Peace Palace in The Hague with the support of the Dutch Carnegie Foundation. Both CNRC and REDRESS had become very concerned about the extreme difficulty encountered by most victims of serious international crimes in attempting to access effective and enforceable remedies and reparation for harm suffered. In discussions between the Conference organisers and Judges and officials of the International Criminal Court, it became ever more apparent that there was a great need for frank and open exchanges on the question of effective reparation between the representatives of victims, NGOs and IGOs and other experts. It was clear to all that the many current initiatives of governments and regional and international institutions to afford reparations to victims of genocide, crimes against humanity and war crimes could benefit greatly by taking into full account the wide and varied practice that had been built up over several decades. In particular, the Hague Conference sought to consider in detail the long experience of the Conference on Jewish Material Claims against Germany, the Claims Conference, in respect of Holocaust restitution programmes as well as the practice of truth commissions arbitral proceedings and a variety of national processes to identify common trends best practices and lessons This book thus explores the actions of governments as well as of national and international courts and commissions in applying processing implementing and enforcing a variety of reparations schemes and awards Crucially it considers the entire complex of issues from the perspective of the beneficiaries survivors and their communities and from the perspective of the policy makers and implementers tasked with resolving technical and procedural challenges in bringing to fruition adequate effective and meaningful reparations in the context of mass victimisation

Victims Before the International Criminal Court Christoph Safferling, Gurgun Petrossian, 2021-09-16 The book analyses the difficulties the International Criminal Court faces with the definition of those persons who are eligible for participating in the proceedings Establishing justice for victims is one of the most important aims of the court It therefore created a unique system of victim participation Since its first trial the court struggles to live up to the expectancies its statute has generated The book offers a new approach of how to define victimhood by looking at the different international crimes It seeks to offer guidance for the right to participate in the different stages of the proceedings by looking at the practice in national jurisdictions Lastly the book offers insights into the functioning of the reparation regime at the ICC by virtue of the Trust Fund for Victim and its different mandates The critical analysis of the ICC practice with regard to definition participation and reparation aims at promoting a realistic approach which will avoid the disappointing of expectations and thus help to enhance the acceptance of the ICC

Compensating Catastrophe Victims Véronique Bruggeman, 2010-01-01 This book shows that amelioration of the current compensation solutions for disaster victims is indeed a possibility In a heated yet often poorly informed debate it offers clarity and insights regarding the financial compensation for victims of catastrophes which in addition to raising academic interest are certain to help build a framework for future policymakers and lawmakers faced with shaping compensation programmes for catastrophe victims

The Standing of Victims in the Procedural Design of the International Criminal Court Tatiana Bachvarova, 2017-05-08 This book canvasses the autonomous position of victims before the International Criminal Court It seeks to provide an objective and balanced perspective and neither rejects the idea of victims participation nor seeks to extend it beyond the contours determined by the founders of the ICC The author contributes to the existing debate in academia and in practice by delineating the core most complex and contentious matters ensuing from the role assigned to victims The scrupulously selected issues unveil and blueprint the essential characteristics that delimit the standing of victims as independent actors in the ICC's arena distinct from the parties and other non party participants As an integral part of the ICC's synergy victims converge and interact with its other components Therefore the position and role of victims are contemplated in the context of the Court's procedural mechanism and the mission pursued by the parties and the Chamber The philosophy underpinning the ICC's design and the standing of victims therein also requires analysis from a wider perspective Accordingly the volume draws an in depth parallel with relevant developments and trends greater relevance and is now encompassed in the emerging notion of responsibility to prevent International courts and tribunals contribute to this effort by ending impunity for past crimes Focusing investigations and prosecution on the highest leadership maximises the impact of this contribution The ICC has an additional preventative mandate which is fulfilled by its timely intervention in the form of preliminary examinations Moreover when situations of atrocity crimes are triggered its complementarity regime incentivises states to stop violence and comply with their duties to investigate and prosecute thus strengthening the rule of law at the national level The new role granted to victims by the Rome Statute is key to the ICC s successful fulfilment of these functions This new book of essays which includes the author s unpublished inaugural lecture at Utrecht University examines these issues and places particular emphasis on the additional preventative mandate of the ICC the ICC complementarity regime the new role granted to victims and the prosecution of the highest leadership through the notion of indirect perpetration The work of Professor Olasolo breaks new ground in the academic field of international criminal law as an analysis of the system as a whole I therefore wish to express my congratulations for this work From the Foreword by Luis Moreno Ocampo Prosecutor International Criminal Court The Hague 27 April 2011 Professor Hector Olasolo s compilation provides an enormous source of easy reference to students academia and legal actors in the field of international law A look at the titles compiled in this volume demonstrates the present challenges to international criminal justice From the Preliminary Reflections by Elizabeth Odio Benito Judge and Former Vice President International Criminal Court The Hague May 2011 This collection written by a brilliant and prolific scholar and practitioner of international criminal justice is an insightful and important contribution to the existing literature Each chapter in this collection is copiously footnoted and thoroughly researched making it an important reference tool for scholars and practitioners in the field Additionally and importantly the chapters explore without polemic areas of controversy and dissent and thoughtfully and scrupulously set forth arguments for and against particular doctrinal choices From the Introduction by Leila Nadya Sadat Henry H Oerschelp Professor of Law and Director Whitney R Harris World Law Institute Washington University School of Law Alexis de Tocqueville Distinguished Fulbright Chair Universit de Cergy Pontoise Paris Spring 2011 The Ashgate Research Companion to International Criminal Law Yvonne McDermott, 2016-03-23 International criminal law is at a crucial point in its history and development and the time is right for practitioners academics and students to take stock of the lessons learnt from the past fifteen years as the international community moves towards an increasingly uni polar international criminal legal order with the International Criminal Court ICC at the helm This unique Research Companion takes a critical approach to a wide variety of theoretical practical legal and policy issues surrounding and underpinning the operation of international criminal law as applied by international criminal tribunals The book is divided into four main parts The first part analyses international crimes and modes of liability with a view to identifying areas which have been inconsistently or misguidedly interpreted overlooked to date or are likely to be increasingly significant in future The second part examines international criminal processes and procedures and here the authors discuss issues such as victim participation and the rights of the accused The third part is a discussion of complementarity and sentencing while the final part of the book looks at international criminal justice in context The authors raise issues which are likely to provide the most significant challenges and most promising opportunities for the continuing development of this body of law As international criminal law becomes more established as a distinct discipline it becomes imperative for international criminal scholarship to provide a degree of critical analysis both of individual legal issues and of the international criminal project as a whole This book represents an important collective effort to introduce an element of legal realism or critical legal studies into the academic discourse

PTSD Research Quarterly ,1990 An Age of Crisis Lester G. Crocker,2019-12-01 Originally published in 1959 This book examines the French Enlightenment by analyzing critical thought in eighteenth century France It examines the philosopher's views on evil free will and determinism and human nature This is an interesting group to look at according to Crocker because French Enlightenment thinkers straddled two vastly different time periods

Third Parties in Criminal Proceedings Stefano Ruggeri,Antonella Falcone,Viviana Di Nuzzo,2025-01-01 This book deals with the role and the protection of third parties in criminal proceedings Starting from a comparative law definition of formal parties in criminal proceedings based on seven domestic jurisdictions this research focuses on the increasing impact of criminal investigations and criminal trials on different categories of third parties i.e. those individuals who without being suspected or accused of a criminal offence are involved in criminal investigations and trials The complex features of this topic require a further analysis from another comparative perspective that looks at the protection of victims and third parties at the levels of international and supranational law Particular attention is firstly devoted to the acknowledgment of a set of procedural safeguards to victims and individuals other than formal participants in criminal proceedings by means of the enormous contribution made by international human rights courts with a specific focus on the European Court of Human Rights and the Inter American Court of Human Rights Regarding victims in particular their multifaceted status are also examined from the viewpoint of international criminal justice as well The European scenario moreover allows for further deepening of the role and the procedural guarantees granted to third parties and victims from the viewpoint of EU law in relation to the area of freedom security and justice in which additional human rights challenges emerge in the field of transnational criminal justice Comparison shall at all levels be carried out in the light of the enormous transformations due to the digital transition which has brought about unbelievable changes in every area of mankind's life including criminal justice Ever newer tools indeed govern procedural activities and although unprecedented investigative measures allow for increasingly accurate fact finding new risks also arise including those vis-à-vis third parties whose procedural rights risk to be inevitably infringed
