Nature Hunt:

Civilizing Nature Bernhard Gissibl, Sabine Höhler, Patrick Kupper, 2012-11-01 National parks are one of the most important and successful institutions in global environmentalism. Since their first designation in the United States in the 1860s and 1870s, they have become a global phenomenon. The development of these ecological and political systems cannot be understood as a simple reaction to mounting environmental problems, nor can it be explained by the spread of environmental sensibilities. Shifting the focus from the usual emphasis on national parks in the United States, this volume adopts an historical and transnational perspective on the global geography of protected areas and its changes over time. It focuses especially on the actors, networks, mechanisms, arenas, and institutions responsible for the global spread of the national park and the associated utilization and mobilization of asymmetrical relationships of power and knowledge, contributing to scholarly discussions of globalization and the emergence of global environmental institutions and governance.

Nature Sparks Aerial Cross, 2011-10-11 Nature has monumental power on children's growth and development. Recent studies show that as children spend less time in nature, they miss out on the profound benefits that outdoor play and learning experiences provide. Nature Sparks is filled with inspiration and instruction to help educators and caregivers of children ages three to eight reclaim and strengthen connections to the outdoors. This resource supplies ideas to create a nature-oriented classroom and curriculum. It incorporates Howard Gardner's theory of multiple intelligences to encourage children's individual talents as they experience the natural world and includes more than fifty sensory-integrated activities, crafts, and instructional strategies.

Nature Sir Norman Lockyer, 1917 Nature Conservation in Southern Africa, 2018-11-26 Nature conservation in southern Africa has always been characterised by an interplay between capital-specific understandings of morality and forms of militarism that are all dependent upon the shared subservience and marginalization of animals and certain groups of people in society. Although the subjectivity of people has been rendered visible in earlier publications on histories of conservation in southern Africa, the subjectivity of animals is hardly ever seriously considered or explicitly dealt with. In this edited volume, the subjectivity and sentience of animals is explicitly included. The contributors argue that the shared human and animal marginalisation and agency in nature conservation in southern Africa and beyond could and should be further explored under the label of sentient conservation. Contributors are Malcolm Draper, Vupenyu Dzingirai, Jan Bart, Gewald Michael Glover, Paul Hebinck, Tariro Kamuti, Lindiwe Mangwanya, Albert Manhamo, Dhoya Snijders, Marja Spierenburg, Sandra Swart, Harry Wels. The Nature of Church Camp Christopher W. Anderson, 2023-12-18 The Nature of Church Camp: An Environmental History of Outdoor Ministry 1945-1980 by Christopher W. Anderson explores the mid-twentieth-century history of religious camps and retreat centers to provide new insights into the history of environmentalism in the United States. Ecumenical Protestantism and the ecology movement both changed the calculus of American morality after World War II. Through archival material, case study visits, and oral histories, Anderson finds that these institutions often reacted to ecological critiques with temperate but gradual reforms However camps and outdoor ministries by virtue of their natural settings and sizable acreage soon provided a new way to explore the history of spirituality and ecology moving away from the conference campus and using nostalgia for the frontier instead to make arguments about the meaning of the American nation and the value of democracy This new way of thinking was reflected throughout the camps and enthusiastically endorsed decentralized small group camping By examining the conduct of church camps and conferences before during and after the ecological era Anderson shows how environmental stewardship became the dominant paradigm for Protestant environmentalism why that is a flawed and fractious model and why it has stalled
