Nature Culture:

Genetic Nature/Culture Prof. Alan H. Goodman, Prof. Deborah Heath, M. Susan Lindee, 2003-11-06 The so called science wars pit science against culture and nowhere is the struggle more contentious or more fraught with paradox than in the burgeoning realm of genetics A constructive response and a welcome intervention this volume brings together biological and cultural anthropologists to conduct an interdisciplinary dialogue that provokes and instructs even as it bridges the science culture divide Individual essays address issues raised by the science politics and history of race evolution and identity genetically modified organisms and genetic diseases gene work and ethics and the boundary between humans and animals The result is an entree to the complicated nexus of questions prompted by the power and importance of genetics and genetic thinking and the dynamic connections linking culture biology nature and technoscience The volume offers critical perspectives on science and culture with contributions that span disciplinary divisions and arguments grounded in both biological perspectives and cultural analysis An invaluable resource and a provocative introduction to new research and thinking on the uses and study of genetics Genetic Nature Culture is a model of fruitful dialogue presenting the quandaries faced by scholars on both sides of the two cultures debate

Methodological Challenges in Nature-Culture and Environmental History Research Jocelyn Thorpe, Stephanie Rutherford, L. Anders Sandberg, 2016-11-10 This book examines the challenges and possibilities of conducting cultural environmental history research today Disciplinary commitments certainly influence the questions scholars ask and the ways they seek out answers but some methodological challenges go beyond the boundaries of any one discipline The book examines how to account for the fact that humans are not the only actors in history yet dominate archival records how to attend to the non visual senses when traditional sources offer only a two dimensional non sensory version of the past how to decolonize research in and beyond the archives and how effectively to use sources and means of communication made available in the digital age This book will be a valuable resource for those interested in environmental history and politics sustainable development and historical geography

Cultures of Habitat Gary Paul Nabhan, 1997 Twenty four essays explore the deep and complex connections between nature and people Concentrating on cultures of habitat human communities with long histories of interacting with one particular kind of terrain and its wildlife the author considers such topics as the correlation between upheavals in human communities and the incidence of endangered species the perils of

Albarella,2013-04-17 Despite the fact that the human life of the past cannot be understood without taking into account its ecological relationships environmental studies are often marginalised in archaeology This is the first book that by discussing the meaning and purpose we give to the expression environmental archaeology investigates the reasons for such a problem This is achieved through the use of theoretical considerations and the aid of a number of case studies which by taking us from Anglo Saxon England to pre Columbian Venezuela and from Classical Greece to late Antique Egypt emphasise the potential of an integrated approach The book is written by archaeologists with different backgrounds and is addressed to all researchers who care about the past relationship between people and the rest of Nature Despite the complexity of some of the issues tackled the book is written in an accessible manner and should be of interest to all students who want to understand the essence of archaeology beyond the boundary of the individual sub disciplines Subordination of Woman Mrs. M. A. Kelkar,1995 Many debates in feminism centre round the issue of subordination of woman Anthropologists and sociologists have tried to trace the origin of subordinate position of woman by giving various explanatory theories The author examines the reductionist and constructionist theories and using a hermeneutic device of the Beejakshetra model explores the images of feminity to be found in the Mahabharata and in the rules of conduct in the Manusmriti She shows how these models of feminity have shaped the life experiences and self interpretation of woman down to present day The last part attempts formulation of a feminist ethic of friendship and raises the discussion beyond protest and recrimination Colors of Nature Alison H. Understanding Contemporary American Literary Theory Michael Paul Spikes, 2003 In this revised edition of Understanding Contemporary American Literary Theory Michael P Spikes adds Stanley Fish and Susan Bordo to the critics whose careers key texts and central assumptions he discusses in introducing readers to developments in American literary theory during the past thirty five years Underscoring the largely heterogeneous mix of strategies and suppositions that these critics along with Paul de Man Henry Louis Gates Jr Edward W Said and Stephen Greenblatt represent Spikes offers concise analyses of their principal claims and illustrates how their works reflect a range of critical perspectives from deconstruction African American studies and reader response theory to political criticism the new historicism and feminism

Inhuman Conditions Pheng Cheah, 2006 Through an examination of debates about cosmopolitanism and human rights Inhuman Conditions questions key ideas about what it means to be human that underwrite our understanding of globalisation

The State of Speech Joy Connolly, 2009-01-10 Rhetorical theory the core of Roman education taught rules of public speaking that are still influential today But Roman rhetoric has long been regarded as having little important to say about political ideas The State of Speech presents a forceful challenge to this view The first book to read Roman rhetorical writing as a mode of political thought it focuses on Rome's greatest practitioner and theorist of public speech Cicero Through new readings of his dialogues and treatises Joy Connolly shows how Cicero's treatment of the Greek rhetorical tradition's central questions is shaped by his ideal of the republic and the citizen Rhetoric Connolly argues sheds new light on Cicero's deepest political preoccupations the formation of individual and communal identity the communicative role of the body and the unmanly aspects of politics especially civility and compromise Transcending traditional lines between rhetorical and political theory The State of Speech is a major contribution to the current debate over the role of public speech in Roman politics Instead of a conventional top down model of power it sketches a dynamic model of authority and consent enacted through oratorical performance and examines how oratory modeled an ethics of citizenship for the masses as well as the elite It explains how imperial Roman rhetoricians reshaped Cicero's ideal republican citizen to meet the new political conditions of autocracy and defends Ciceronian thought as a resource for contemporary democracy
