and the Centro die Ricerca Matematica Ennio De Giorgi Pisa Phenomenology of Natural Science L. Hardy, Lester Embree, 2012-12-06 Contemporary philosophy seems a great swirling almost chaos Every situation must seem so at the time probably because philosophy itself resists structuration and because personal and political factors within as well as without the discipline must fade in order for the genuinely philosophical merits of performances to be assessed Nevertheless some remarks can still be made to situate the present volume For example at least half of philosophy on planet Earth is today pursued in North America which is not to say that this portion is any less internally incoherent than the whole of which it thus becomes the largest part and the present volume is North American Incidentally the recognition of culturally geographic traditions and tendencies nowise implies that striving for cross cultural if not trans cultural philosophical validity has failed or ceased Rather it merely recognizes a significant aspect relevant from the historical point of view Epistemology Aesthetics Ethics etc Analytic Philosophy Marxism Existentialism etc Figure 1 There are two main ways in which philosophical developments are classified One is in terms of tendencies movements and schools of thought and the other is in terms of traditional sub disciplines When there is little contention among schools the predominant way is in terms of sub disciplines such as aesthetics ethics politics etc Today this mode of classification can be seen to intersect with that in terms of movements and tendencies both of which are represented in the above chart The Universe as Communion Alexei Nesteruk, 2011-11-03 In this book a new and distinctive approach to the science religion debate emerges from a synthesis of the Eastern Orthodox Christian tradition with phenomenological thought Developing ideas of Greek Patristics the author treats faith with its sense of the Divine presence and knowledge of the universe as two modes of communion which constitute the human condition The modern opposition between science and theology which is historically paralleled with the Church's split between East and West and monasticism and Christianity in the world is treated as the split between two intentionalities of the overall human subjectivity The human person as a centre of their reconciliation becomes the major theme of the dialogue between science and theology It is argued that the reconciliation of science and theology is not simply an academic exercise it requires an existential change a change of mind metanoia which cannot be effected without ecclesial involvement Then the person who effectuates the mediation between science and theology is raised to the level of cosmic priesthood while the mediation acquires the features of a cosmic Eucharist in which all divisions and tensions in creation and humanity are removed It is through this existential change accompanied by phenomenological analysis that scientific theories can be subjected to a certain vision through which the hidden ultimate goal telos of scientific research as the explication of the human condition shows its kinship to the saving telos advocated by Christian faith The opposition between theology and science is thus being para eucharistically overcome Continental Philosophy of Science Gary Gutting, 2008-04-15 Continental Philosophy of Science provides an expert guide to the major twentieth century French and German philosophical thinking on science A comprehensive introduction by the editor provides a unified interpretative survey of continental work on philosophy of science Interpretative essays are complemented by key primary source selections Includes previously untranslated texts by Bergson Bachelard and Canguilhem and new translations of texts by Hegel and Cassirer Contributors include Terry Pinkard Jean Gayon Richard Tieszen Michael Friedman Joseph Rouse Mary Tiles Hans Jerg Rheinberger Linda Alcoff Todd May Axel Honneth and Penelope Deutscher Chaos, Complexity, Curriculum and Culture William E. Doll, M. Jayne Fleener, John St. Julien, 2005 Although the fields of chaos and complexity are important in a number of disciplines they have not yet been influential in education This book remedies this dilemma by gathering essays by authors from around the world who have studied and applied chaos and complexity theories to their teaching Rich in its material recursive in its interweaving of themes conversational in its relationships and rigorous in its analysis the book is essential reading for undergraduates graduate students and professionals who deal with these important topics Religion Robert Cummings Neville, 2015-01-08 Complete 3 volume set available for special price Philosophical Theology Set Volumes 1 2 and 3 The concluding volume in a trilogy advancing a systematic philosophical theology this book presents a plausible sacred worldview for religious participation Religion is the third and final volume in Robert Cummings Neville's systematic development of a new philosophical theology Unfolding through his earlier volumes Ultimates and Existence and now in Religion philosophical theology considers first order questions generally treated by religious traditions through philosophical methods while reflecting Neville's long engagement with philosophy theology and Eastern and Western religious traditions In this capstone to the trilogy Neville provides a theory of religion and presents a sacred worldview to guide religious participation His philosophical theory of value enlightens religion's approaches to ethics spirituality and religious institutional living and collaboration With a detailed examination of plausibility conditions for sacred worldviews the book concludes with an exploration of religionless religion for which institutions of religion are of penultimate value Through the development of philosophical theology Neville has built a unique multidisciplinary comparative nonconfessional theological system one that addresses concerns and provides tools for scientific and humanistic scholars of religion postmodern thinkers intellectuals from both secular and religious backgrounds and those interested in the global state of religion today
