

Nature

By Maya Anthony

★ Native American Poem

Whispers of the wind, secrets unfold,
Tales of ancient times, stories retold.
Mountains bear witness, rivers concur,
Nature's own historian, memories stir.

Feathers that dance, upon breezy flight,
Carry forth tales, through the moonlit night.
Trees bow in respect, to the wind's soft moan,
Echoes of ancestors, in every tone.

Sacred and ancient, this ethereal sound,
Travels the plains, where spirits are found.
Whispers of ages, to us they bring,
Songs that nature and ancestors sing.

Reconnection Betty Jean Craige, 2010-11-01 An openly polemical work Reconnection seeks a way of returning the humanities to their place at the center of human life For the past three hundred years to study the humanities has implied an isolation from politics science and society Literary studies in particular have often fallen prey to this isolation by viewing novels plays and poems as impassive verbal icons as texts to be explicated without reference to political context or social significance Seeking a way of ending this self imposed exile of the humanities from the turmoil of social issues and concerns Betty Jean Craige looks to the contextual nondisciplinary thought that began to take hold in academia during the 1960s a development that echoed the rising political awareness brought to the universities by the Vietnam War the civil rights movement and women's liberation Recently this emergent openness in the university has come under attack by conservative critics who have sought to roll back the movement for nontraditional inquiry in academia and to reassert the dominance of hierarchical canonical thought By tracing the ideological history of literary studies Craige shows that this reactionary goal of reimposing canonical thought is in time doomed to failure the age of the discipline is over In its place Craige calls for the creation of a holistic system of learning that will emphasize interdisciplinary and nondisciplinary research reconnecting literary studies with history and philosophy with science and politics restoring literature itself to a central place in our intellectual discourse and social debate
