Near a Thousand Tables Felipe Fernández-Armesto, 2002 Every ingredient of our past and present can be read off our plates our identity our place in society and the place of our society in the world In Near a Thousand Tables Oxford historian Felipe Fernandez Armesto author of Civilizations tells the fascinating story of food as cultural as well as culinary history ecology as well as gastronomy Because cuisine is a perhaps the defining characteristic of a culture Near a Thousand Tables is a sampler of civilizations even more it is an exploration in historical ecology and even of the history of science Above all perhaps because food is universally appealing this is always even at its most instructive unashamedly a book about the pleasures of eating pleasures that have been immortalized by everyone from Homer to M F K Fisher

Interpreting Food at Museums and Historic Sites Michelle Moon, 2015-11-19 Food is such a friendly topic that it's often thought of as a hook for engaging visitors a familiar way into other topics or a sensory element to round out a living history interpretation But it's more than just a hook it's a topic all its own with its own history and its own uncertain future deserving of a central place in historic interpretation With audiences more interested in food than ever before and new research in food studies bringing interdisciplinary approaches to this complicated but compelling subject museums and historic sites have an opportunity to draw new audiences and infuse new meaning into their food presentations You'll find a comprehensive thematic framework of key concepts that will help you contextualize food history interpretations A concise evaluative review of the historiography of food interpretation Case studies featuring the expression of these themes in the real world of museum interpretation and Best practices for interpreting food Interpreting Food at Museums and Historic Sites offers a framework for understanding the big ideas in food history suggesting best practices for linking objects exhibits and demonstrations with the larger story of change in food production and consumption over the past two centuries a story in which your visitors can see themselves and explore their own relationships to food This book can help you develop food
