Patriarchy And Class African Women In The Home And Workforce:

Patriarchy And Class Sharon B Stichter, Jane Parpart, 2019-07-11 This book argues for the applicability of a materialist mode of production analysis to the situation of women in Africa. It briefly reviews some of the intellectual background and current theoretical dilemmas of marxism feminism. The Rise of Africa's Middle Class Henning Melber, 2016-12-15 Across Africa a burgeoning middle class has become the poster child for the Africa rising narrative. Ambitious, aspirational and increasingly affluent, this group is said to embody the values and hopes of the new Africa, with international bodies ranging from the United Nations Development Programme to the World Bank regarding them as important agents of both economic development and democratic change. This narrative, however, obscures the complex and often ambiguous role that this group actually plays in African societies. Bringing together economists, political scientists, anthropologists and development experts and spanning a variety of case studies from across the continent, this collection provides a much needed corrective to the received wisdom within development circles and provides a fresh perspective on social transformations in contemporary Africa. African Womanhood in Colonial Kenya, 1900-50 Tabitha M. Kanogo, 2005 Within a broad analysis of colonial opportunities for physical, social and educational mobility, Kanogo shows how African and British male authorities tried, with uncertain opinions and from different perspectives, to control female initiatives and how, to very varying degrees, women managed to achieve increasing measures of control over their own lives. Women's Roles in Sub-Saharan Africa Toyin Falola, Nana Akua Amponsah, 2012-01-06 This exhaustive exploration of the sociocultural, political and economic roles of African women through history demonstrates how African women have shaped and continue to shape their societies. Women play essential, critical roles in every society. African women south of the Sahara are certainly no different. Women's Roles in Sub-Saharan Africa adds significantly to our understanding of the ways in which women contribute to the fabric of human civilization. This book provides an in-depth exploration of African women's roles in society from precolonial periods to the contemporary era. Topical sections describe the roles that women play in family, courtship and marriage, religion, work, literature and arts, and government. Each of the six chapters has been structured to elucidate women's roles and functions in society as partners, as active participants, as defenders of their status and occupations, and as agents of change. Authors Nana Akua Amponsah and Toyin Falola present a thought-provoking work that looks at the complicated victimhood/powerful female paradigm in women and gender studies in Africa and challenges ideological interest in African historiography that privileges male representation. Women Wielding the Hoe Deborah Bryceson, 2020-08-29 How effective is western aid agency intervention in Africa? What can African women do to manage the AIDS crisis? Can western feminist theory be applied to the rural African context? These vital issues and many others are considered in this topical book by eminent scholars and development consultants. The book aims to increase awareness of the importance of women agricultural producers to African material development and to expose the western biases that have traditionally pervaded the study of rural African women The authors critical analyses of conventional research methodology and key women and development debates over the last three decades will stimulate new research perspectives Students and scholars of development development workers and policymakers will all find this book fascinating reading Gender, Law and Justice in a Global Market Ann Stewart, 2011-08-25 Theories of gender justice in the twenty first century must engage with global economic and social processes Using concepts from economic analysis associated with global commodity chains and feminist ethics of care Ann Stewart considers the way in which gender contracts relating to work and care contribute to gender inequalities worldwide She explores how economies in the global north stimulate desires and create deficits in care and belonging which are met through transnational movements and traces the way in which transnational economic processes discourses of rights and care create relationships between global south and north African women produce fruit and flowers for European consumption body workers migrate to meet deficits in affect through provision of care and sex British Asian families seek belonging through transnational marriages African Women Catherine Coquery-vidrovitch, Beth Raps, 2018-10-08 Over the last century the social and economic roles played by African women have evolved dramatically Long confined to home and field overlooked by their menfolk and missionaries alike African women worked thought dreamed and struggled They migrated to the cities invented new jobs and activated the so called informal economy to become Africa s economic and social focal point As a result despite their lack of education and relatively low status women are now Africa s best hope for the future This sweeping and innovative book is the first to reconstruct the full history of women in sub Saharan Africa Tracing the lot of African women from the eve of the colonial period to the present Catherine Coquery Vidrovitch explores the stages and forms of women s collective roles as well as their individual emancipation through revolts urban migrations economic impacts social claims political strength and creativity Comparing case studies drawn from throughout the region she sheds light on issues ranging from gender to economy politics society and culture Utilizing an impressive array of sources she highlights broad general patterns without overlooking crucial local variations With its breadth of coverage and clear analysis of complex questions this book is destined to become a standard text for scholars and students alike African Feminism Gwendolyn Mikell, 2010-08-03 African feminism this landmark volume demonstrates differs radically from the Western forms of feminism with which we have become familiar since the 1960s African feminists are not by and large concerned with issues such as female control over reproduction or variation and choice within human sexuality nor with debates about essentialism the female body or the discourse of patriarchy The feminism that is slowly emerging in Africa is distinctly heterosexual pronatal and concerned with bread butter and power issues Contributors present case studies of ten African states demonstrating that as they fight for access to land for the right to own property for control of food distribution for living wages and safe working conditions for health care and for election reform African women are creating a powerful and specifically African feminism Ibss: Anthropology: 1988 British Library of Political and

Economic Science,1992 This bibliography lists the most important works in anthropology published in 1988 Keeping House in Lusaka Karen Tranberg Hansen,1997 In April 1993 as part of the March on Washington for Lesbian Gay and Bi Equal Rights and Liberation hundreds of couples participated in the Wedding a symbolic commitment ceremony held in front of the Internal Revenue Service building Part protest and part affirmation of devotion the event was a reminder that marriage rights have become a major issue among lesbians and gay men who cannot marry legally and can only claim domestic partner rights in a few locations in the United States Yet despite official lack of recognition same sex wedding ceremonies have been increasing in frequency over the past decade Ellen Lewin who has consecrated her own lesbian relationship with a commitment ceremony decided to explore the myriad ways in which lesbians and gay men create meaningful ceremonies for themselves She offers the first comprehensive account of lesbian and gay weddings in modern America A series of richly detailed profiles the result of extensive interviews and participation in the planning and realization of many of these commitment rituals is woven together to show how new traditions and ultimately new families are emerging within contemporary America Just as the book is a moving portrait of same sex couples today it is also a significant political document on a new arena in the struggle for lesbian and gay rights In a larger sense Lewin s work is about the politics surrounding same sex marriages and the ramifications for central dimensions of American culture such as kinship community morality and love Lewin explores the ceremonies themselves which range from traditional church weddings to Wicca rituals in the countryside with portraits of the planning the joys and the anxieties that led up to the weddings She introduces Bob and Mark a leather fetishist couple who sanctified their love by legally changing their last names and exchanging vows in tuxedos leather bow ties and knee high police boots In an equally absorbing profile Lewin describes Khadija from a working class black family deeply suspicious of whites and especially Jews and Shulamith raised in a Zionist household She tells of how the two women struggled to reconcile their widely disparate upbringings and how they ultimately combined elements of African and Jewish traditions in their wedding These among many other stories make Recognizing Ourselves a vivid tapestry of lesbian and gay life in post Stonewall United States Postcolonial African Writers Siga Fatima Jagne,Pushpa Naidu Parekh,2012-11-12 This reference book surveys the richness of postcolonial African literature The volume begins with an introductory essay on postcolonial criticism and African writing then presents alphabetically arranged profiles of some 60 writers including Chinua Achebe Nadine Gordimer Bessie Head Doris Lessing Tsitsi Dangarembga Tahbar Ben Jelloun among others Each entry includes a brief biography a discussion of major works and themes that appear in the author s writings an overview of the critical response to the author s work and a bibliography of primary and secondary sources These profiles are written by expert contributors and reflect many different perspectives The volume concludes with a selected general bibliography of the most important critical works on postcolonial African literature Courtyards, Markets, City Streets Kathleen Sheldon,2018-03-08 Although women have long been active residents in African cities explorations of their contributions have been marginal This volume brings women into the center of the urban landscape using case studies to illustrate their contributions to family community work and political life The book begins with a rich introduction that discusses how women s work in trade and agriculture has been the foundation of African urbanization The contributors then focus on patterns of migration and urbanization with an emphasis on the personal and social issues that influence the decision to migrate from rural areas women s employment in varied activities from selling crafts to managing small businesses the sometimes unavoidable practice of prostitution when options are limited the emergence of complex new family formations deriving from access to courts and the continued strength of polygyny and women s participation in community and political activities The volume includes material from all regions of sub Saharan Africa and brings together scholars from all the social sciences

Honour in African History John Iliffe,2005 This is the first published account of the role played by ideas of honour in African history from the fourteenth century to the present day It argues that appreciation of these ideas is essential to an understanding of past and present African behaviour Before European conquest many African men cultivated heroic honour others admired the civic virtues of the patriarchal householder and women honoured one another for industry endurance and devotion to their families These values both conflicted and blended with Islamic and Christian teachings Colonial conquest fragmented heroic cultures but inherited ideas of honour found new expression in regimental loyalty respectability professionalism working class masculinity the changing gender relationships of the colonial order and the nationalist movements which overthrew that order Today the same inherited notions obstruct democracy inspire resistance to tyranny and motivate the defence of dignity in the face of AIDS

developed over traditional marriage customs Couples eloped wives deserted husbands fathers forced daughters into marriage and desperate men abducted women as wives Existing historiography focuses on women who either fled their rural homes to escape a new dual patriarchy African men backed by colonial officials or surrendered themselves to this new power Girl Cases Marriage and Colonialism in Gusiiland Kenya 1890 1970 takes a new approach to the study of Gusii marriage customs and shows that Gusii women stayed in their homes to fight over the nature of marriage Gusii women and their lovers remained committed to traditional bridewealth marriage but they raised deeper questions over the relations between men and women During this time of social upheaval thousands of marriage disputes flowed into local African courts By examining court transcripts Girl Cases sheds light on the dialogue that developed surrounding the nature of marriage Should parental rights to arrange a marriage outweigh women's rights to choose their husbands. Could violence by abductors create a legitimate union? Men and women debated these and other issues in the courtroom, and Brett L. Shadle's analysis of the transcripts provides a valuable addition to African social history. The Twentieth Century Judith Margaret Brown, 1999

This text looks at the growth of vibrant, often new national identities, movements, and new nation states that reshape the political map of the late 20th century world. African Sexualities Sylvia Tamale, 2011-06-23

A groundbreaking book, accessible but scholarly, by African activists. It uses research, life stories, and artistic expression, including essays, case studies, poetry, news clips, songs, fiction, memoirs, letters, interviews, short film scripts, and photographs, to examine dominant and deviant sexualities and investigate the intersections between sex, power, masculinities, and femininities. It also opens a space, particularly for young people, to think about African sexualities in different ways.
