Trebilcock, 2010-10-02 Immigration policy is a subject of intense political and public debate In this second edition of the widely recognized and authoritative work The Making of the Mosaic Ninette Kelley and Michael Trebilcock have thoroughly revised and updated their examination of the ideas interests institutions and rhetoric that have shaped Canada s immigration history Beginning their study in the pre Confederation period the authors interpret major episodes in the evolution of Canadian immigration policy including the massive deportations of the First World War and Depression eras as well as the Japanese Canadian internment camps during World War Two New chapters provide perspective on immigration in a post 9 11 world where security concerns and a demand for temporary foreign workers play a defining role in immigration policy reform A comprehensive and important work The Making of the Mosaic clarifies the attitudes underlying each phase and juncture of immigration history providing vital perspective on the central issues of immigration policy that continue to confront us today      Re-Imagining Ukrainian-Canadians Rhonda L. Hinder, Jim Mochoruk, 2011-02-26 Ukrainian immigrants to Canada have often been portrayed in history as sturdy pioneer farmers cultivating the virgin land of the Canadian west The essays in this collection challenge this stereotype by examining the varied experiences of Ukrainian Canadians in their day to day roles as writers intellectuals national organizers working class wage earners and inhabitants of cities and towns Throughout the contributors remain dedicated to promoting the study of ethnic hyphenated histories as major currents in mainstream Canadian history Topics explored include Ukrainian Canadian radicalism the consequences of the Cold War for Ukrainians both at home and abroad the creation and maintenance of ethnic memories and community discord embodied by pro Nazis Communists and criminals Re Imagining Ukrainian Canadians uses new sources and non traditional methods of analysis to answer unstudied and often controversial questions within the field Collectively the essays challenge the older essentialist definition of what it means to be Ukrainian Canadian      Transnational Identities and Practices in Canada Vic Satzewich, Lloyd Wong, 2011-11-01 With contributions from some of Canada s leading historians political scientists geographers anthropologists and sociologists this collection examines the transnational practices and identities of immigrant and ethnic communities in Canada It looks at why members of these groups maintain ties with their homelands whether real or imagined and how those connections shape individual identities and community organizations How does transnationalism establish or transform geographical social and ideological borders Do homeland ties affect what it means to be Canadian Do they reflect Canada's commitment to multiculturalism Through analysis of the complex forces driving transnationalism this comprehensive study focuses attention on an important and arguably growing dimension of Canadian social life This is the first collection in Canada to provide a comprehensive and interdisciplinary examination of transnationalism It will appeal to scholars and students interested in issues of immigration multiculturalism ethnicity and settlement

Perogies and Politics Rhonda L. Hinther, 2018-01-01 In Perogies and Politics Rhonda Hinther explores the twentieth century history of the Ukrainian left in Canada from the standpoint of the women men and children who formed and fostered it For twentieth century leftist Ukrainians culture and politics were inextricably linked The interaction of Ukrainian socio cultural identity with Marxist Leninism resulted in one of the most dynamic national working class movements Canada has ever known The Ukrainian left's success lay in its ability to meet the needs of and speak in meaningful respectful and empowering ways to its supporters experiences and interests as individuals and as members of a distinct immigrant working class community This offered to Ukrainians a radical social cultural and political alternative to the fledgling Ukrainian churches and right wing Ukrainian nationalist movements Hinther's colourful and in depth work reveals how left wing Ukrainians were affected by changing social economic and political forces and how they in turn responded to and challenged these forces

The Viking Immigrants L.K. Bertram, 2020-03-13 From 1870 until 1914 almost one quarter of the population of Iceland migrated to North America The Viking Immigrants examines how the distinctive culture that emerged in Icelandic North American communities from food and fashion to ghost stories and Viking parades sheds light on a century and a half of change and adaptation Through an analysis of the history of everyday forms of expression L K Bertram reveals the larger forces that shaped the evolution of an immigrant community This exploration of the Icelandic North American community draws on rare and fascinating sources of community life including oral histories recipes photographs and memoirs By using a multi sensory approach to the immigrant experience The Viking Immigrants uses often overlooked cultural practices such as clothing production the preservation of recipes and the telling of ghost stories to understand tension and transformation in an immigrant community

Transnational Death Samira Saramo, Eerika Koskinen-Koivisto, Hanna Snellman, 2019-09-24 With so much of the global population living on the move away from their homelands and in diasporic communities death and mourning practices are inevitably impacted Transnational Death brings together eleven cutting edge articles from the emerging field of transnational death studies By highlighting European Asian North American and Middle Eastern perspectives the collection provides timely and fresh analysis and reflection on people's changing experiences with death in the context of migration over time First beginning with a thematic assessment of the field of transnational death studies readers then have the opportunity to delve into case studies that examine experiences with death and mourning at a distance from the viewpoints of Family Community and Commemoration The chapters highlight complicated issues confronting migrants their families and communities including negotiations of burial preferences and challenges of corpse repatriation the financial costs of providing end of life care travel at times of death and arranging culturally appropriate funerals and religious services as well as the emotional and sociocultural weight of mourning and commemoration from afar Overall Transnational Death provides new insights on identity and belonging community reciprocity transnational communication and spaces of mourning and commemoration Jewish Roots, Canadian Soil Rebecca Margolis, 2011 How Montreal's Yiddish community ensured its lasting cultural importance and influence WorldCat

Harvesting Labour Edward Dunsworth, 2022-09-15 In recent decades an increasing share of Canada's agricultural workforce has been made up of temporary foreign workers from the Global South These labourers work difficult and dangerous jobs with limited legal protections and are effectively barred from permanent settlement in Canada In Harvesting Labour Edward Dunsworth examines the history of farm work in one of Canada's underrecognized but most important crop sectors Ontario tobacco Dunsworth takes aim at the idea that temporary foreign worker programs emerged in response to labour shortages or the unwillingness of Canadians to work in agriculture To the contrary Ontario's tobacco sector was extremely popular with workers for much of the twentieth century with high wages attracting a diverse workforce and enabling thousands to establish themselves as small farm owners By the end of the century however the sector had become something entirely different a handful of mega farms relying on foreign guest workers to produce their crops Taking readers from the leafy fields of Ontario's tobacco belt to rural Jamaica Barbados and North Carolina and on to the halls of government Dunsworth demonstrates how the ultimate transformation of tobacco and Canadian agriculture writ large was fundamentally a function of the capitalist restructuring of farming Harvesting Labour brings together the fields of labour migration and business history to reinterpret the historical origins of contemporary Canadian agriculture and its workforce

Lunch-Bucket Lives Craig Heron, 2015-06-03 Lunch Bucket Lives takes the reader on a bumpy ride through the history of Hamilton's working people from the 1890s to the 1930s It ambles along city streets peers through kitchen doors and factory windows marches up the steps of churches and fraternal halls slips into saloons and dance halls pauses to hear political speeches and above all listens for the stories of men women youths and children from families where people relied mainly on wages to survive Heron takes wage earning as a central element in working class life but also looks beyond the workplace into the households and neighbourhoods settlement patterns and housing marriage child care domestic labour public health schooling charity and social work popular culture gender identities ethnicity and ethnic conflict and politics in various forms presenting a comprehensive view of working class life in the first half of the twentieth century This book has been published with the help of a grant from the Federation for the Humanities and Social Sciences through the Awards to Scholarly Publications Program using funds provided by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada

The Many Rooms of this House Roberto Perin, 2017-05-08 Places of worship are the true building blocks of communities where people of various genders age and class interact with each other on a regular basis These places are also rallying points for immigrants helping them make the transition to a new and often hostile environment The Many Rooms of this House is a story about the rise and decline of religion in Toronto over the past 160 years Unlike other studies that concentrate on specific denominations or ecclesiastical politics Roberto Perin's ecumenical approach focuses on the physical places of worship and the local clergy and congregants that gather there Perin's timely and nuanced analysis reveals how the growing wealth of the city stimulated congregations to compete with one another over the size style materials and decoration of their places of worship However the rise of individualism has negatively affected these same congregations leading to multiple church closings communal breakdown and redevelopments Perin's fascinating work is a lens to understanding how this once overwhelmingly Protestant city became a symbol of diversity An Exceptional Law Dennis G. Molinaro, 2017-01-01 An Exceptional Law showcases how the emergency law used to repress labour activism during the First World War became normalized with the creation of Section 98 of the Criminal Code following the Winnipeg General Strike

Guarding the Gates David Goutor, 2011-11-01 From the 1870s until the Great Depression immigration was often the question of the hour in Canada Politicians the media and an array of interest groups viewed it as essential to nation building developing the economy and shaping Canada's social and cultural character One of the groups most determined to influence public debate and government policy on the issue was organized labour and unionists were often relentless critics of immigrant recruitment Guarding the Gates is the first detailed study of Canadian labour leaders approach to immigration a key battleground in struggles between different political factions within the labour movement This book provides new insights into labour immigration social and political history
