The Psychosocial Interior of the Family Gerald Handel, Gail G. Whitchurch, 1994 This long awaited fourth edition has the same goal as the preceding editions to understand families in terms of the kinds of interaction through which family life is constructed The changes in the family as an institution have influenced these processes just as they have influenced the ways we understand and write about them But even in these postmodern circumstances an underlying premise of the volume is that two partners establish a family because they have selected each other as distinctively meaningful to one another They will affirm modify elaborate or retreat from various aspects of the relationship through interaction over time and in changing circumstances This volume contains the best available interdisciplinary work on the social psychology of the family More than half of the selections are new to this edition which incorporates a variety of theoretical and research perspectives that provide the reader with a range of authoritative and up to date sources on the family and interpersonal relations The newer forms of family organization that have emerged in the more recent literature specifically single parent families stepfamilies and families of gay and lesbian domestic partners are included Authors have been drawn from a variety of disciplines including sociology communication family studies human development psychology anthropology and social work

Research in Education, 1968-07
Resources in Education, 1989 Culturally Diverse Parent-Child and Family Relationships Nancy Boyd Webb, 2001-07-10 In an increasingly diverse social environment misunderstandings often arise between practitioners in the helping professions and clients from different racial and ethnic backgrounds This book investigates the culturally specific beliefs and child rearing practices of five major racial ethnic groups African Americans Latinos Native Americans Asian Americans and European Americans Analyses of case vignettes illustrate the book's dual focus on the practitioners own views in addition to those of their culturally diverse clients Guidelines offer suggestions for effective engagement and work with culturally diverse families

Racial and Cultural Minorities George Eaton Simpson, J. Milton Yinger, 2013-06-29 We need scarcely note that the topic of this book is the stuff of headlines Around the world political economic educational military religious and social relations of every variety have a racial or ethnic component One cannot begin to understand the history or contemporary situation of the United States the Soviet Union China Zimbabwe South Africa Great Britain Lebanon Mexico Canada indeed almost any land without careful attention to the influence of cultural and racial divisions Preparation of this new edition has brought a strong sense of déjà vu with regard both to the persistence of old patterns of discrimination even if in new guises and also to the persistence of limited and constraining explanations We have also found however rich new empirical studies new theoretical perspectives and greatly expanded activity and analyses from members of minority groups Although this edition is an extensive revision with reference both to the data used and the theoretical approaches examined we have not shifted from our basically analytical perspective We strongly support efforts to reduce discrimination and prejudice but these can be successful only if we try to understand where we are and what forces are creating the existing situation We hope to reduce the tendency to use declarations and condemnations of other persons actions as substitutes for an investigation of their causes and consequences
