Abstract—The regional government has an important duty because it will determine the sustainability of the area. The problems can disrupt the stability of the region, such as natural disasters, poverty, social conflict, environmental damage, reduced value of local wisdom, intolerance, conflicts between tribes and religions, weakening of social roles, and other social problems. The purpose of this study is to determine the role of local political leadership in managing diversity based on Pancasila in Kudus Regency, especially in Colo Village and Karangrejo Village. This study also aims to find out the dynamics of local politics in managing diversity in Kudus Regency. The method of this study is a qualitative research method. The research subjects are the Head of Colo village, religious leaders in Kudus Regency, Political Observer, NGOs, and Kudus Regency community. The research method used the methods of observation, documentation and interviews with academics, members of community organizations, as well as the village officials in Kudus Regency. The results showed that firstly, the role of local political leadership in Kudus Regency in maintaining diversity was influenced by the historical factors with the presence of Sunan Kudus and Sunan Muria. The leadership of Sunan Kudus and Sunan Muria still attached to the present especially in relations of tolerance among religious people, especially Islam and Hinduism. Second, this are economic factors with the existence of trade activities carried out by Javanese people with Chinese people. Third, the industrial factors with the majority of employees are obedient women who are prone to conflict. In addition, the fourth factor is the existence of influential clerical figures in political activities, and the five roles of the local community leaders with the existence of a community of belief groups that number up to nine types.

Keywords: Leadership, diversity, Pancasila, Local Politics.

1. INTRODUCTION

Regional autonomy uses the broadest principle of the authority to manage and to regulate all government affairs outside of the central government affairs that have been stipulated by law. The regional government is one of the cornerstones of the important governance system changes in the history of the political development [1]. The principle of regional autonomy basically remains the same, namely to carry out regional autonomy that is oriented towards improving people's welfare. Then, it always pays attention to the interests and aspirations that grow in the community to accelerate development and prosperity. The purpose of regional autonomy can be achieved if the components of the autonomous region can work well in accordance with the mandate of the 1945 Constitution and also the Law. One of the important components in realizing the objectives of regional autonomy is the role of the leader [2]. In order to realize the idea of a welfare state, the responsible leadership is required. The exemplary center of this leadership nature is the spirit of state administrators.

The role of the leader will determine the sustainability of the region. Since the principle of regional autonomy was put in place, it actually gave rise to small kings in the area which led to criminal acts of corruption. This results in fading public trust in the leader. Efforts are required from the regional heads and state administrators to restore public trust to their leaders. To restore people's trust in politics is required more than just a good leader, but a leader with characteristics that show the strength of character, greatness, and vision idea [3]. Unfortunately, there are still a few regional leaders who have the strength of character, especially the spirit to make changes even though the governance is more complex.

Indonesia has a lot of natural and cultural wealth. Natural and cultural wealth has a positive impact on development. Cultural wealth can be seen as a symbol of diversity in Indonesia. While the negative impact is that differences can become of conflict if the community does not have an awareness of mutual respect. Moreover, technological advancements cause social problems that disrupt the stability of the country and also the region. Social welfare problems are natural disasters, poverty, social conflict, low awareness of environmental preservation, weakening roles and functions of social institutions and other social problems[4]. In this case, there are still many regional heads who have not been able to overcome these problems.

Potential conflicts severely threaten in several regions in Indonesia. One potential threat that threatens is inter-tribal conflict and religious anarchisms. According to Jati, the loss of local wisdom makes the religious

Patterns Of Local Political Leadership:

The Oxford Handbook of Political Leadership R. A. W. Rhodes, Paul 't Hart, 2014-05-29 Political leadership has made a comeback It was studied intensively not only by political scientists but also by political sociologists and psychologists Sovietologists political anthropologists and by scholars in comparative and development studies from the 1940s to the 1970s Thereafter the field lost its way with the rise of structuralism neo institutionalism and rational choice approaches to the study of politics government and governance Recently however students of politics have returned to studying the role of individual leaders and the exercise of leadership to explain political outcomes The list of topics is nigh endless elections conflict management public policy government popularity development governance networks and regional integration In the media age leaders are presented and stage managed spun DDLas the solution to almost every social problem Through the mass media and the Internet citizens and professional observers follow the rise impact and fall of senior political officeholders at closer quarters than ever before This Handbook encapsulates the resurgence by asking where are we today It orders the multidisciplinary field by identifying the distinct and distinctive contributions of the disciplines It meets the urgent need to take stock It brings together scholars from around the world encouraging a comparative perspective to provide a comprehensive coverage of all the major disciplines methods and regions It showcases both the normative and empirical traditions in political leadership studies and juxtaposes behavioural institutional and interpretive approaches It covers formal office based as well as informal emergent political leadership and in both democratic and undemocratic polities Patterns of Caribbean Development Jay Mandle, 2010-11-26 First published in 1982 this study attempts to put contemporary Caribbean development into historical perspective By first constructing a Marxist framework for the study of development Jay Mandle assesses the reasons why the region emerged underdeveloped and evaluates post world war two efforts to overcome the legacy of poverty through a strategy of industrialization through invitation Identifying the reasons why a Marxist framework yielded results which were unsatisfactory the author then explores the requirements which must be met for a more reliable study of the Caribbean s economic development Case studies of Cuba Jamaica Guyana Trinidad and Tobago examine the extent to which these requirements have been met Rural Leadership in a Welfare Society B. M. Verma, 1994 Study in the context of Agra Division which consists of five districts namely Agra Aligarh Etah Mainpuri and Mathura in Uttar Pradesh Changing Pattern Of Tribal Politics In Tribal Areas Of Himachal Pradesh: A Study Of Electoral Politics At Grass Root Level In District Of Kinnaur Dr. Dev Kumar Negi , 2023-07-27 Emerging Trends In Tribal Politics In District of Kinnaur A Study of Elections of Panchayati Raj Institutions Pre Amendment Era and Post Amendment Era Climate Adaptation Governance in Cities and Regions Jörg Knieling, 2016-05-11 Global climate change creates new challenges in particular for cities and regions As centres of human activity they are especially vulnerable to climate change impacts Adapting to a changing climate requires dealing with multiple uncertainties and complexity in order to allow proactive action Therefore cities and regions around the globe face the challenge of exploring flexible and innovative forms of governance which have to address specific local or regional vulnerabilities and build capacity to accommodate future change This raises questions about the roles of stakeholders the involvement of citizens the composition and use of formal and informal instruments as well as the implementation of different forms of organization and regulation at the local and regional level This book provides case studies from cities and regions all around the world It analyses climate change adaptation from a perspective of organizing administering and implementing local and regional adaptation strategies and measures It looks into actors actor constellations institutions and networks of climate adaptation And it provides the reader with knowledge about good practices and experiences to be transferred for solving adaptation challenges in cities and regions around the globe

The Pattern of Imperialism Tony Smith, 1981-10-30 The principal ambition of this book is to provide an avowedly eclectic although largely political explanation of American and British imperialism as comprehensive and ultimately as unified as that offered by Marxist interpretations Geopolitical considerations are assumed to be basic but not exclusive concerns of foreign policy elites in Britain and the United States and the ability of people in Latin America Africa and Asia to coordinate their activities that is to act politically is assumed to be the central but not sole feature determining the character of their response to Western imperialism The book provides profiles of various southern political regimes and categorises their different reactions to the impact of imperialism in the nineteenth century and to the impetus for decolonisation after 1945 The author concludes by considering the dilemma of American policy toward the Third World in the early 1980s when traditional modes of conduct can no longer prescribe a clear plan of action

The Oxford Handbook of Political Institutions R. A. W. Rhodes, Sarah A. Binder, Bert A. Rockman, 2008-06-13 The study of political institutions is among the founding pillars of political science With the rise of the new institutionalism the study of institutions has returned to its place in the sun This volume provides a comprehensive survey of where we are in the study of political institutions covering both the traditional concerns of political science with constitutions federalism and bureaucracy and more recent interest in theory and the constructed nature of institutions The Oxford Handbook of Political Institutions draws together a galaxy of distinguished contributors drawn from leading universities across the world Authoritative reviews of the literature and assessments of future research directions will help to set the research agenda for the next decade

Black Political Mobilization, Leadership, Power and Mass Behavior Minion K. C. Morrison, 1987-01-01 Black Political Mobilization accounts for the political success of black Americans in the South Minion Morrison returns to Mississippi the center of much of the political activism of the 1960s to analyze the remarkable improvement in black electoral participation in the years following passage of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 Mississippi's substantial black population has experienced marked electoral success despite a history of strict racial exclusion The dramatic and widespread nature of mobilization there makes it one of the most illustrative case studies for exploring this period of political change in America Mississippi represents a broader phenomenon of political change that sustains a new leadership class in the Southern region Three rural Mississippi towns serve as the focal point for the study They each have a population of under 2 000 have overwhelming Afro American voting majorities are poor and largely agricultural have been affected by the civil rights movement of the 60s and have elected a black mayor since 1973 The towns are prime examples of the character and process of minority electoral politics and mobilization in the rural South A new class of black leaders is nurtured and installed in office in an environment where a newly and highly mobilized constituency takes advantage of its majority status in the electorate This book combines good theory with lively interviews and rich case histories to highlight an essentially new variety of participatory democracy in American politics and government

Federalism Doomed? Andreas Heinemann-Grüder, 2002 Eleven articles presented by Heinemann Gruder political science Humboldt U Germany aim to explore the question of whether the use of federalist conceptions is appropriate in analyzing processes of integration and disintegration in Europe The focus is on an institutionalist perspective on difficulties faced by specific forms of government and diverse national traditions when combined with federalism Conceptual and comparative frameworks are provided lessons from the collapse of the Eastern European federations are examined and possible directions for European federalism are discussed Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR
