Paul Among the Jews and Gentiles Krister Stendahl, 1983 Paul Among Jews and Gentiles: [sections 1 and 2] From: Paul Among Jews and Gentiles, and Other Essays (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1976) Pp.1-23 Krister Stendahl, 1976 Paul and Matthew Among Jews and Gentiles Ronald Charles, 2020-12-10 Terence L Donaldson's scholarship in the field of New Testament studies is vital as he has pressed scholars to pay closer attention to the complex relations between early Christ followers who were mostly non Jews and the Jewish matrix from which the narrative of the Christian proclamation comes from This volume allows prominent New Testament scholars to engage Donaldson's contributions both to sharpen some of his conclusions and to honour him for his work These essays are located at the intersections of three bodies of literature Matthew Paul and Second Temple Jewish Literature and themes and questions that have been central to Donaldson's work Christian Judaism and the Parting of the Ways Gentiles in Judaism and early Christianity Anti Judaism in early Christianity With contributions ranging from remapping Paul within Jewish ideologies and Paul among friends and enemies to socio cultural readings of Matthew and construction of Christian Identity through stereotypes of the Scribes and Pharisees this book provides a multi scholar tribute to Donaldson's accomplishments Jews, Gentiles, and the Opponents of Paul B. J. Oropeza, 2012-02-24 B J Oropeza offers the most thorough examination in recent times on the subject of apostasy in the New Testament The study examines each book of the New Testament with a fourfold approach that identifies the emerging Christian community in danger the nature of apostasy that threatens the congregations and the consequences of defection Oropeza then compares the various perspectives of the communities in Christ in order to determine the ways in which they perceived apostasy and whether defectors could be restored In this second volume of a three volume set titled Apostasy in the New Testament Communities Oropeza focuses on the Christ communities of the undisputed and disputed Pauline Letters

Paul's Eschatological Anthropology Sarah Harding, 2016-02-01 In this study Sarah Harding examines Paul's anthropology from the perspective of eschatology concluding that the apostle's view of humans is a function of his belief that the cosmos evolves through distinct aeons in progress toward its telos Although scholars have frequently assumed that Paul's anthropological utterances are arbitrary inconsistent or dependent upon parallel views extant in the first century world Harding shows that these assumptions only arise when Paul's anthropology is considered apart from its eschatological context That context includes the temporal distinction of the old aeon the new aeon and the significant overlap of aeons in which those in Christ dwell as well as a spatial dimension that comprises the cosmos and the powers that dominate it especially sin and the Holy Spirit These eschatological dimensions determine the value Paul attaches to any particular anthropological aspect Harding examines the cosmological power dominant in each aeon and the structures through which in Paul's view these influence human beings examining texts in which Paul discusses nous kardia and s ma in each aeon A Theology of Paul and His Letters Douglas J. Jesus of Nazareth: Lord and Christ Joel B. Green, Max Turner, 1999-01-20 The problem of the historical Jesus remains one of the most important themes in New Testament scholarship Closely related to this problem is the question How far can the impact made by the earthly Jesus and his own self understanding sustain the weight of the Christological construction put upon them by the early church In the past two decades some scholars have taken an increasingly gloomy attitude toward the possibility of knowing anything of substance about Jesus from the Gospels or at the opposite extreme have sometimes made outlandish claims about him Others like the contributors to this volume have begun moving the discussion into fresh areas of creative responsible inquiry

The Divine-Human Relationship in Romans 1-8 in the Light of Interdependence Theory Yoonjong Kim, 2020-11-12 Yoonjong Kim analyses the divine human relationship in Paul's theology focusing on Paul's portrayal of the relationship in Romans 1-8 Kim stresses that previous studies of this relationship have not paid sufficient attention to the fact that it is not static but rather exhibits progression and development towards a goal To address the significance of the human agent's role in the relationship Kim employs a social psychological theory interdependence theory offering a consistent analytic framework for diagnosing the interactions in a dyadic relationship in terms of the dependency created by each partner's expectations of outcomes Kim explores several key stages of the divine human relationship and the direction in which the relationship develops throughout Romans 1 8 in order to highlight the significance of the human partners in the course of the development He focuses in particular on betrayal 1 18 3 20 restoration 3 21 26 5 1 11 the oppressive relationship with Sin 5 12 8 11 and the investment for the future 8 12 39 and concludes that although the foundation of the relationship rests on God's initiative the divine outworking guides the relationship so that it facilitates mutual participation of the human partners in the restoration and development of the relationship toward the ultimate goal Re-membering the New Covenant at Corinth Emmanuel Nathan, 2020-03-27 Did Paul instigate Christianity's separation from Judaism if one considers the stark polemical contrasts of new and old covenant in 2 Cor 3 Emmanuel Nathan argues that Paul reconfigured traditions and memories shaping the identity of his community at Corinth back cover Justin Martyr and the Jews Rokeah, 2020-01-29 Justin Martyr a second century Gentile Christian apologist was active in the Christian Jewish propaganda war to convert each other and the pagans He radicalized the ideas of St Paul on the divine Election Abraham the Pentateuch and the Gentiles Justin's background sources and thought and his place in the inter religious propaganda war are discussed as are the irreconcilable views of Jesus and Paul on the Pentateuch and the Gentiles Justin Martyr and the Jews considers the place of Paul and Justin's teachings in today's Christian Jewish dialogue about the roots of early Christian Antisemitism showing that the presuppositions of Paul and Justin must be abandoned if Christians and Jews today are to reach true understanding As part of the search for such understanding recent scholarly literature has been concerned with pre and post Holocaust inter religious relations as well as with the roots of Christian Antisemitism Some scholars have endeavoured to show that Pauline teachings were misunderstood and thereby exonerate Paul from the responsibility for Christian persecutions of Jews through the ages These scholars have also attempted to make Paul a bridge between Christians and Jews in their modern dialogue The present writer argues that this interpretation of Pauline teaching followed and even radicalized by Justin is unfounded That We May Be Mutually Encouraged Kathy Ehrensperger, 2004-04-15 There has been a revolutionary shift of thinking in Pauline Studies fundamentally changing the image of Paul Postmodern literary criticism of Paul's epistles and sociorhetorical criticism of his letters has created a New Perspective approach to Pauline studies At the same time feminist criticism of the Pauline corpus has been growing Unfortunately there has been hardly any interaction and exchange of research results between these different strands of scholarship The result of this is that in Pauline studies scholars are hardly aware of feminist perspectives Similarly feminist interpretations of Paul not fully conversant with the most recent strands of Pauline research are often based on traditional images of Paul Ehrensperger's analysis of feminist commentaries on Paul thus contains a rather negative depiction of theological thinking However both strands of research feminist and those of the New Perspective provide fresh and illuminating insights that emphasize similar aspects from different perspectives Ehrensperger advocates a closer interaction between these two schools of Pauline studies She analyzes Romans 14 15 exploring the results of recent research in both Pauline schools Pauline studies from the New Perspective emphasize the Jewish context and texture of Paul's thinking. She sets these in dialogue with feminist theology which focuses on issues of identity, diversity and relationality. Her study results in a perspective on Paul which views him as a significant dialogue partner in the search for a theology beyond anti-Semitism and misogyny, beyond force and domination. Kathy Ehrensperger studied theology at the Universities of Basel and Berne and was a pastor for sixteen years in Switzerland. She is currently a Lecturer in New Testament Studies at the University of Wales Lampeter. Torah in the Ethics of Paul Martin Meiser, 2012-07-19. This volume presents European perspectives on the pivotal role of the Torah in the Ethics of Paul.

Perspectives of Jesus in the Writings of Paul Gerry Schoberg, 2014-02-27. The critical question of the relationship between Jesus and Paul has been well established in New Testament studies for over 150 years and it needs to be addressed with all the tools of historical criticism that scholarship has developed. So states Gerry Schoberg at the beginning of this new and important work that does just that. By coupling comparative instances in the gospels and the works attributed to Paul, Schoberg invites the reader to enquire more profoundly than in past studies as to the nature of the relationship between Jesus and the most dramatic of Christian converts. At the heart of this study is not only the question of whether the New Testament truly gives a unified vision of the Christian movement but also how the early followers of Jesus felt able to draw such insightful conclusions about him. Answering such questions through the study of Jesus and Paul offers an insight as to how one is to make theological sense of the many details experienced from day to day and thereby live a life in Christ.

Purpose and Cause in Pauline Exegesis Wendy Dabourne, 1999-01-21. Three factors prompt this re-examination of the underlying questions that shape mainstream exegesis of Paul's letters. Hermeneutical studies have destabilized assumptions about the nature of meaning in texts; the letters are usually characterized as pastoral but explicated as expressions of Paul's thought; and the impact of E. P. Sanders' work on Paul has sharpened exegetical problems in Romans 1:16-4:25. The outcome is a two-step method of exegesis that considers a letter first in the light of the author's purpose in creating it and second as evidence for the patterns of thought from which it sprang. The passage appears as pastoral preaching helping the Romans to deal with the implications of the fact that the God of Israel is now accepting believing Gentiles on the same basis as believing Jews. Justification by grace through faith emerges as the theological understanding of God's action in Christ that grounds pastoral speech.

All Citizens of Christ: A Cosmopolitan Reading of Unity and Diversity in Paul's Letters Jeehei Park, 2022-10-10. In this work Jeehei Park proposes Greek and Roman cosmopolitanism as a constructive category through which to navigate a reading of human diversity and communal unity in Paul's letters. Park takes a thorough look at the cosmopolitan ideas of Diogenes of Sinope, Philo, Plutarch, Epictetus and Marcus Aurelius to establish Paul as an interlocutor who critically participated in the discourse of cosmopolitanism. Park characterizes Paul's understanding of unity with the distinctive phrase heterogeneous unity in which human differences are respected and embraced rather than being universalized or homogenized. This book offers a novel analysis of Paul's rhetoric about citizenship in Philippians and its adoption of Greek and Roman cosmopolitanism as an interpretive contour Heralds and Community Bo Young Kang,2016-08-30 This book is part of the ongoing debate about Paul s understanding of the relationship between his own mission and the church s While this study endorses some previous scholarship on Paul s silence about the church s proactive evangelism in his letters it argues that explanations for such silence cannot be adequately made from exegetical conclusions on related texts alone Rather this study suggests that constructing a plausible conception of mission as understood by Paul influenced by the impact of the Jesus tradition and Jewish restoration eschatology is essential for explaining Paul s thinking Dr Kang proposes that Paul s silence regarding congregational evangelism is due to his unique two pronged conception of mission one being the event of eschatological heralds the other being the event of eschatological community A

Uncovering the Theme of Revelation in Romans 1:16-3:26 Marcus A. Mininger,2017-09-19 Past study of Rom 1 16 3 26 focuses on individual salvation or on social relations and also produces a host of interpretative quandaries Marcus A Mininger develops a new approach which includes but goes beyond these foci by unearthing the theme of revelation that runs throughout Paul's argument largely unnoticed. More than a proof of sin or of social equality, Paul provides a survey of numerous visible revelations in which otherwise invisible realities like God's wrath, the power of sin, and God's righteousness are seen through the observable effects they produce in different people. Read this way, the rationale of Paul's argument becomes quite clear, including for problem texts like Rom 2 and 3:1-8, as Paul proves that the gospel, not the law, overcomes sin's power and that God's righteousness always exists in contrast to the human condition in this age. From publisher's description.
