Pavane For Another Time:

The Art of Grahame King Sasha Grishin, Libby Bright, Caroline Field, 2005 Grahame King's life as an artist began with his mastery of the new art of colour reproduction as a photolithographic colour etcher in Melbourne in the 1930s. At the same time, study at the National Gallery Art School with George Bell assisted his development as a painter. After war service and travels abroad, King returned to Melbourne with his wife, the sculptor Inge King. The two held a number of joint exhibitions of paintings and sculptures in Australia throughout the 1950s and then from c 1962 Grahame King turned his attention increasingly towards the art of lithography, becoming a master in this field of printmaking. He has also devoted himself to promoting the art of lithography and printmaking generally through the Print Council of Australia. He is often called Australia's patron saint of printmaking. The book examines his seven decades working as an artist in Melbourne and is lavishly illustrated with colour reproductions throughout. Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English Eugene Benson, L.W. Conolly, 2004-11-30 Documents the history and development of Post colonial literatures in English together with English and American literature and includes original research relating to the literatures of some 50 countries and territories. In more than 1 600 entries written by more than 600 internationally recognized scholars, it explores the effect of the colonial and post colonial experience on literatures in English worldwide.

The Slow Evolution of Foster Care in Australia Nell Musgrove, Deidre Michell, 2018-08-10 This book draws on archival, oral history and public policy sources to tell a history of foster care in Australia from the nineteenth century to the present day. It is primarily a social history which places the voices of people directly touched by foster care at the centre of the story but also within the wider social and political debates which have shaped foster care across more than a century. The book confronts foster care's difficult past: death and abuse of foster children, family separation and a general public apathy towards these issues but it also acknowledges the resilience of people who have survived a childhood in foster care and the challenges faced by those who have worked hard to provide good foster homes and to make child welfare systems better. These are themes which the book examines from an Australian perspective but which often resonate with foster care globally.

The Boy Adeodatus Bernard Smith, 2004 This is the story of an illegitimate son and the mother who decided to keep him. It is the story too of a foster mother who loved children and of her extended family. This extraordinary autobiography recreates the atmosphere of a Sydney suburb around World War I and subtly explores the changing times.

Murujuga José Antonio González Zarandona, 2020-01-17 A fascinating case study of the archaeological site at Murujuga, Australia. Located in the Dampier Archipelago of Western Australia, Murujuga is the single largest archaeological site in the world. It contains an estimated one million petroglyphs or rock art motifs produced by the Indigenous Australians who have historically inhabited the archipelago. To date, there has been no comprehensive survey of the site's petroglyphs or those who created them. Since the 1960s, regional mining interests have caused significant damage to this site, destroying an estimated 5 to 25 percent of the petroglyphs in Murujuga. Today, Murujuga holds the unenviable status of being one of the most endangered archaeological sites in the world Jos Antonio Gonz lez Zarandona provides a full postcolonial analysis of Murujuga as well as a geographic and archaeological overview of the site its ethnohistory and its considerable significance to Indigenous groups before examining the colonial mistreatment of Murujuga from the seventeenth century to the present Drawing on a range of postcolonial perspectives Zarandona reads the assaults on the rock art of Murujuga as instances of what he terms landscape iconoclasm the destruction of art and landscapes central to group identity in pursuit of ideological political and economic dominance Viewed through the lens of landscape iconoclasm the destruction of Murujuga can be understood as not only the result of economic pressures but also as a means of reinforcing through neglect abandonment fragmentation and even certain practices of heritage preservation the colonial legacy in Western Australia Murujuga provides a case study through which to examine and begin to reject archaeology s global entanglement with colonial intervention and the politics of heritage preservation "Australian Art and Artists in London, 1950?965 " Simon Pierse,2017-07-05 Subtle and wide ranging in its account this study explores the impact of Australian art in Britain in the two decades following the end of World War II and preceding the Swinging Sixties In a transitional period of decolonization in Britain Australian painting was briefly seized upon as a dynamic and reinvigorating force in contemporary art and a group of Australian artists settled in London where they held centre stage with group and solo exhibitions in the capital s most prestigious galleries The book traces the key influences of Sir Kenneth Clark Bernard Smith and Bryan Robertson in their various and varying roles as patrons ideologues and entrepreneurs for Australian art as well as the self definition and interaction of the artists themselves Simon Pierse interweaves multiple issues of the period into a cohesive historical narrative including the mechanics of the British art world the limited and frustrating cultural scene of 1950s Australia and the conservative influence of Australian government bodies Publishing for the first time archival material letters and photographs previously unavailable to scholars either in Britain or Australia this book demonstrates how the work of expatriate Australian artists living in London constructed a distinct vision of Australian identity for a foreign market

The Formalesque Bernard Smith,2007 In this well illustrated book Professor Bernard Smith who is often referred to as the father of art history in Australia condenses the arguments presented in an earlier publication Modernisms History 1998 into a very accessible and helpful text will prove useful for students and arts interested readers He begins by listing and carefully explaining those terms which frequently occur in arts literature dealing with the modern period and then goes on to show that modernism has become an historical period with its art forms both institutionalised and globalised Now an historical entity art historys basic tools can be employed to explain and describe it They include an investigation of the periods style use of form and attitudes to meaning In his defence of art historys traditions and methodologies he argues that the period that encompasses modernism in the arts might now be known as The Formalesque The Last Tour Ann Curthoys,2025-07-16 Paul Robeson was once the most famous African American in the world Not only was he a renowned

Despite a European training and an early career working with Peter Behrens a migration from Vienna to the Australian state of Queensland positioned the architect Karl Langer 1903-1969 at the very edge of both European and Australian modernism Confronted by tropical heat and glare the economics of affordable housing fiercely proud and regional architectural practices and a suspicion of the foreign Langer moulded the European language of international modernism to the unique climatic and social conditions of tropical Australia This book will tell Langer's story through a series of edited essays focused on key themes and projects Published as part of the Bloomsbury Studies in Modern Architecture series which brings to light the work of significant yet overlooked modernist architects it is both an examination of an architect's work and international legacy and also a case study in the trans global dissemination of design ideas Studying the architect's built and proposed work both regional and metropolitan the scale and reach of Langer's practice will be considered for the first time showing how given his continued influence on the contemporary culture of tropical design Langer has been unjustly ignored by the historiography of both Australian and Modernist architecture to date Making Art History in Europe After 1945 Noemi
