Researching Palliative Care:

Researching Palliative Care David Field, 2001 There are many texts available on research methods but few that are related directly to palliative treatment This book fills the gap in the literature and provides a useful resource for students engaged in such activity

Participatory Research in Palliative Care J. M. Hockley, Jo Hockley, Katherine Froggatt, Katharina Heimerl, 2013 Participatory Research in Palliative Care discusses participatory research methods within the discipline of palliative care Providing an overview of the action research methods it uses exemplars from studies within palliative care as well as discusses the prominent issues currently faced in this methodology from a global perspective

Research methods in palliative care Julia M Addington-Hall, Eduardo Bruera, Irene J Higginson, Sheila Payne, 2007-06-07 Palliative and end of life care are concerned with the physical social psychological and spiritual care of people with advanced disease It currently has a poorly developed research base but the need to improve this is increasingly recognised One of the reasons for the lack of research and the variable quality of the research that is undertaken is the difficulty of conducting research with very ill and bereaved people Standard and well established research methods may need to be adapted to work in this context This means that existing research methods textbooks may be of limited use to palliative care practitioners seeking to do research for the first time or to more experienced researchers wanting to apply their knowledge in palliative care settings This research methods textbook is the first to be written specifically for palliative care It has been edited by four experienced palliative care academics with acknowledged expertise and international reputations in this field It encompasses methods used in both clinical and health services research in palliative care with sections on clinical epidemiological survey and qualitative research as well as a section covering skills needed in any research project Each chapter provides readers with an up to date overview of the research method in question an understanding of its applicability to palliative care and of the particular challenges of using it in this setting It is essential reading for all palliative care researchers

Researching Death, Dying and Bereavement Erica Borgstrom, Julie Ellis, Kate Woodthorpe, 2018-10-22 This book examines research on death dying and bereavement and how our approaches perceptions and expectations shapes what we can know about the end of life The contributions include personal and professional reflections and practical suggestions for conducting research in this field The volume stems from the resurgence of the international and interdisciplinary study of death in the last 20 years Within this empirical research is often viewed as sensitive but little has been written about the experience of conducting research in this area There has thus been little reflection on the opportunities and challenges faced in undertaking research as the field of death studies grows including the accommodation and recognition of cultural differences This volume seeks to in part address this gap The chapters in this book were originally published in the Mortality journal and the Death Studies journal

Research Methods in Palliative, Supportive, and End-of-Life Care , 2025-05-26 Palliative and end of life care are concerned with the physical social psychological and spiritual care of people with advanced disease and serious illness They affect people in all societies all countries and are growing fields post Covid Changing demographics and treatments mean that people are living longer with serious illness and multiple conditions often needing symptom control and complex care and support Research in these areas present a particular challenge both because of the ethical and practical difficulties inherent in working with very ill patients and their families and because of the range of research questions considered to be within the domain of palliative care Building on the first edition this book provides an introduction to research methods in the fields of palliative supportive and end of life care and complex patients Edited by six experienced palliative care academics with acknowledged expertise and international reputations in this field this book is both authoritative and accessible It encompasses methods used in both clinical and health services research covering methodological theory design measures and practice and case examples across the entire scope of research The book has been fully updated and includes the latest developments such as use of big data and forming research collaborations This will be an essential methodological book for clinicians academics researchers and educators and especially those undertaking a MSc PhD or early career researchers in palliative care and related fields

Behavioral Intervention Research in Hospice and Palliative Care George Demiris, Debra Parker Oliver, Karla T. Washington, 2018-10-12 Behavioral Intervention Research in Hospice and Palliative Care Building an Evidence Base sets forth research considerations and guidelines to build evidence based interventions to improve end of life care It is an in depth introduction to implementation research and showcases how a clinical need is identified to inform an intervention The book extensively examines the various phases of intervention research including design implementation evaluation dissemination and translation The book focuses on methodological ethical and practical issues The science behind the quality of hospice and palliative care lags behind that of traditional medical practice despite the continuous growth of palliative care interdisciplinary teams Researching developing and testing strategies is essential to advancing the effectiveness and value of this care Informs readers how to conduct intervention research toward identifying best care Advises readers on design implementation and evaluation of research Provides step by step templates to develop an intervention study Includes mock protocols from successful intervention trials Synthesizes lessons learned by established intervention researchers in hospice
