Routledge International Handbook of Clinical Suicide Research John R. Cutcliffe, José Santos, Paul S.

Links, Juveria Zaheer, Henry G. Harder, Frank Campbell, Rod McCormick, Kari Harder, Yvonne Bergmans, Rahel Eynan, 2013-10-15 Suicide remains one of the most pressing public health concerns across the world. Expensive in terms of the human cost and associated suffering, the economic costs, the social costs, and the spiritual costs, it affects millions of people every year. This important reference work collects together a wide range of research around suicide and suicide prevention in order to guide future research and provide guidance for professionals about the best way to respond meaningfully to suicidal patients. Responding to the need for multi-disciplinary and international research to deepen our understanding of suicide, it demonstrates where our knowledge is firmly evidence-based and where new areas for research are emerging, as well as highlighting where we know little. Divided into six parts, each with its own editorial introduction and commentary, it explores research with and about survivors of suicide and indigenous populations. The remaining sections look at suicide-focused research in psychiatric nursing, psychiatry, psychology, and social work, and allied health. It is of interest to all advanced students, practitioners, and scholars interested in suicide and its impact and prevention.

Re-Search Methods in Social Work Kimberly A. Calderwood, Dr. Marina Morgenshtern, Dr. Kathleen E. Absolon (Minogiizhigokwe), 2024-04-30. Written from a critical theory, decolonizing, and transformative lens, Re-Search Methods in Social Work: Linking Ways of Knowing to Knowledge Creation brings together in one space an introduction to four worldviews that inform what we call knowledge gathering, knowledge construction, knowledge co-creation, or re-search, depending on the worldview. This text presents a broad range of methods that are commonly used to inform social work practice across Turtle Island/Kanata, Canada, including the steps from inception to knowledge mobilization that are typically followed to acquire knowledge across Indigenous, post-positivist, interpretivist, and transformative worldviews. This engaging text features reader-friendly language, integrated authorship that spans the four worldviews, discussions of various challenges, strengths, and limitations in bringing together multiple ways of knowing and associated methods, chapter learning outcomes, and discussion questions. With a focus on anti-oppressive practice, social justice, social action, collaboration, and inclusion, Re-Search Methods in Social Work is essential for college and university social work courses and for social work practitioner researchers across Turtle Island/Kanata, Canada, who are interested in opening their mind to a more holistic and respectful way of engaging in dialogue about and advancing knowledge that leads to social change.

Practising Social Work Research Rick Csiernik, Rachel Birnbaum, 2024-06-03. Research skills are as critical to social work practitioners as skills in individual and group counselling, policy analysis, and community development. Adopting strategies similar to those used in direct practice courses, this book integrates research with social work practice and, in so doing, promotes an understanding and appreciation of the research process. The third edition of Practising Social Work Research comprises twenty-seven case studies that illustrate different research approaches including quantitative qualitative single subject and mixed methods The third edition also adopts a greater equity diversity and inclusivity focus than the previous editions Through the use of applied real life examples the authors demonstrate the processes of conceptualization operationalization sampling data collection and processing and implementation Designed to help the student and practitioner become more comfortable with research procedures Practising Social Work Research capitalizes on the strengths that social work students bring to assessment and problem solving Restoring the Balance Gail Guthrie Valaskakis,2009 Written by fifteen Aboriginal scholars activists and community leaders Restoring the Balance combines life histories and biographical accounts with historical and critical analyses grounded in traditional thought and approaches It is a powerful and important book Decolonising Criminology Harry Blagg,Thalia Anthony,2019-11-23 This book undertakes an exploratory exercise in decolonizing criminology through engaging postcolonial and postdisciplinary perspectives and methodologies Through its historical and political analysis and place based case studies it challenges criminological inquiry by installing colonial structures of power at the centre of the contemporary criminological debate This work unseats the Western nation state as the singular point of departure for comparative criminological and socio legal research Decolonising Criminology argues that postcolonial and postdisciplinary critique can open up new pathways for criminological investigation It builds on recent debates in criminology from outside of the Anglosphere The authors deploy a number of heuristic devices perspectives and theories generally ignored by criminologists of the Global North and engage perspectives concerned with articulating new decolonised epistemologies of the Global South This book disputes the view that colonisation is a thing of the past and provides lessons for the Global North
