Residential Care For The Elderly:

Residential Care for the Elderly Sharon Baggett, 1989-09-25 Although residential care and assisted living for older adults has expanded rapidly in recent decades it has done so in a policy environment beset by confusion and conflicting purposes Sharon A Baggett traces many of the current problems to insufficient knowledge of the population these policies are designed to serve In her examination of the frequently neglected interface between policy and people she provides a comprehensive review of current federal and state policies a detailed case study of a state residential care program and an analysis of the needs and characteristics of persons in assisted living facilities Baggett s policy overview covers such areas as the confusion between housing and care supply and demand factors in the economics of residential care conditions contributing to the increase in numbers of assisted living facilities and current policies that define and limit the choice of residential alternatives A case study of Oregon s residential care program shows how that state has adapted federal initiatives to local goals and philosophies of long term care Funding mechanisms regulations and the role of state agencies in developing and monitoring compliance are discussed Following a comprehensive profile of facility residents the question of using functional assessment measures to determine individual needs is explored Linking the larger policy issues with an in depth analysis of residents served and actual services provided this book will be helpful to policy planners and developers administrators and case managers as well as students and academics concerned with housing and assisted living services for the elderly Assisted Living Sheryl Zimmerman, Philip D. Sloane, J. Kevin Eckert, 2001-11-30 This text examines the evolving field of residential care and focuses on national issues of regulation reimbursement and staffing The book describes assisted living facilities those living in them their needs and how services vary Geriatric Residential Care Robert D. Hill, Brian L. Thorn, John Bowling, Anthony Morrison, 2013-06-17 This book s main goal is to examine the concept of residential care from a psychological perspective The chapter authors espouse a psychological approach to long term residential care and an effort is made throughout the text to present a model of care that encompasses the whole individual Since psychologists are being increasingly asked to provide consultation to long term residential care facilities the need for psychologically based care models has become apparent This text offers assistance in developing and maintaining residential care environments that maximize quality of life and personal well being in the presence of declining physical and emotional resources that are associated with the vicissitudes of living into advanced aging Geriatric Residential Care is divided into four parts Part I addresses psychological and social issues facing the frail elderly who are candidates for or are living in residential care settings Part II addresses issues in the assessment of individuals in residential care Part III highlights the design and execution of intervention strategies in residential care Part IV addresses how organizational aspects of residential care contexts can optimize the quality and meaningfulness of care Code of Practice for Residential Care Homes (elderly Persons).
