African American Psychology Faye Z. Belgrave, Kevin W. Allison, 2006 This core textbook provides students with comprehensive coverage of African American psychology as a field. Each chapter integrates African and American influences on the psychology of African Americans, thereby illustrating how contemporary values, beliefs, and behaviors are derived from African culture translated by the cultural socialization experiences of African Americans in the US. The literature and research are referenced and discussed from the perspective of African culture, mostly West African, during the period of enslavement and at other critical periods in this country, e.g., early 20th century civil rights era and through the present. Chapters provide a review of the research literature with a focus on applications for contemporary living.

Handbook of Adult Resilience John W. Reich, Alex J. Zautra, John Stuart Hall, 2012-04-02 What enables people to bounce back from stressful experiences? How do certain individuals maintain a sense of purpose and direction over the long term even in the face of adversity? This is the first book to move beyond childhood and adolescence to explore resilience across the lifespan. Coverage ranges from genetic and physiological factors through personal, family, organizational, and community processes. Contributors examine how resilience contributes to health and well-being across the adult life cycle, why and what happens when resilience processes fail, ethnic and cultural dimensions of resilience, and ways to enhance adult resilience, including reviews of exemplary programs.

Raising Resilient Black Kids Erlanger A. Turner, 2024-10-01 Black children who've experienced systemic racism are more likely to experience stress, anger, anxiety, and depression, all of which can negatively impact their school life, home, and community. In this much-needed resource, race and mental health expert Erlanger Turner offers parents evidence-based cognitive behavioral therapy (CBT) skills to help their kids cope with race-based stress and promote resilience and healing.

Art Therapy Practices for Resilient Youth Marygrace Berberian, Benjamin Davis, 2019-11-28 Art Therapy Practices for Resilient Youth highlights the paradigm shift to treating children and adolescents as at promise rather than at risk. By utilizing a strength-based model that moves in opposition to pathology, this volume presents a client-allied modality wherein youth are given the opportunity to express emotions that can be difficult to convey using words. Working internationally with diverse groups of young people grappling with various forms of trauma, 30 contributing therapists share their processes informed by current understandings of neurobiology, attachment theory, and developmental psychology. In addition to guiding principles and real-world examples, also included are practical directives, strategies, and applications. Together, this compilation highlights the promise of healing through the creative arts in the face of oppression.
